BALDWIN PICKS EDEN AS BRITISH FOREIGN CHIEF

Army Shaken Up as War Fear Grows.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin announced tonight that 38 year old Capt. Anthony Eden, Great Britain's best dressed statesman and Premier Mussolini's arch enemy, will succeed Sir Samuel Hoare as foreign secretary.

Eden's appointment, backed by last Thursday's parliamentary repudiation of the British-French peace plan, means a resumption of a rigid policy against the Italian war in Africa and against Mussolini.

Europe sees his appointment as heralding the fall of the Italian dictator before long, according to reports from continental capitals.

Italy Sees Spread of War.

Italy, according to Rome dispatches, looks on Eden's appointment with dismay and as a step toward the spreading of the war beyond Ethiopia.

And if war is to come Britain showed she is going to get ready for it by announcing a reorganization of the army as well as steps to appease a now hostile Egypt.

The question of arranging consultations between British naval and military experts and experts of other powers ready to provide armed support in the event Mussolini breaks loose, will be a matter for Eden's early consideration. The details of the armed support which the little entente [Rumania, Czechoslovakia, and Jugo-Slavia] and the Balkan entente [Turkey, Greece, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania] are prepared to give will be worked out in the next few days.

Expect New Sanctions.

The four-day cabinet crisis, which began with the resignation of Hoare last Wednesday, ended with Eden's selection, which was the alternative of appointing Sir Austen Chamberlain. Chamberlain was sounded out for three days, but declined to take the post.

With Eden's appointment seeming to assure support of the league of nations as the keystone of British foreign policy, it is expected that further applications of sanctions and more twisting of Mussolini's tail will be brought before the league early in the new year with the idea of further isolating and besieging Italy.

A Matter of Policy.

The question of filling the foreign office post was not one of personality but of policy. Eden's choice means he was considered more likely than Chamberlain to push collective sanctions. At the same time it was aimed to impress continental powers with the idea that the application of sanctions will continue to be Britain's policy.

The new foreign secretary has the full support of the left wing Conservatives. They dictated the policy of the government last Thursday in the house of commons and forced the repudiation of the peace plan which Hoare and Premier Laval of France concocted in Paris.

Eden's appointment will not have the effect of synchronizing the policies of Britain and France. An unbridgeable gap seems to be yawning particularly between the direction Eden will give to his foreign policy and that which Laval gives to France's foreign policy.

Eden's Old Post Abolished.

Baldwin, in appointing his new foreign secretary, announced the abolishment of the post of minister for league affairs which Eden had held since last June when the cabinet was reconstructed. This decision was said to be for the purpose of ending dualism within the foreign office.

Rumors of further shakeups at the foreign office appear to have been mere babble. It was announced Sir Robert Vansittart, permanent undersecretary who went to Paris with Hoare, will remain at his post.

Earl Stanhope and Viscount Cranborne will remain as Eden's undersecretaries and from now on Cranborne will do Eden's trick of commuting between London and Geneva. Baldwin has decided his foreign minister must stay at home from now on except on real important occasions. The inference is that British foreign ministers are susceptible to continental wiles, to wit, Hoare's beguilement in Paris.

SAIL SECRETLY FOR ENGLAND TO SAVE BABY JON

Will Live Abroad; Keep Citizenship.

BY LAUREN D. LYMAN.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has given up residence in the United States and is on his way to establish his home in England. With him are his wife and 3 year old son, Jon.

Threats of kidnaping and even of death to the little lad, recurring repeatedly since his birth, caused the father and mother to make the decision. These threats have increased both in number and virulence recently.

Although they do not plan to give up their American citizenship, they are prepared to live abroad permanently, if that should be necessary. Where they will live in England when they get there not even their closest friends know, and it is probable that neither the colonel nor his wife knows. They have many friends there and expect to visit at first until they can find a place that suits them.

Regard for Law and Order.

They chose England as the place of refuge for a number of reasons, the most important because of their belief that the English have greater regard for law and order in their own land than the people of any other nation in the world.

The colonel twice has visited England, the first time just after his historic flight to Paris in 1927, and the second time in 1933, when with Mrs. Lindbergh he flew to England from the United States by way of Greenland and Iceland. The consideration with which they were treated by every one then, even during the excitement that immediately followed their arrival, impressed them, and they hope that there they can find the tranquility and security which have been denied them in their own land. They want especially to provide for Jon a normal childhood, free from fears and with opportunities to grow and develop naturally. So far that has been denied him here.

They wish also to do some things themselves. Mrs. Lindbergh has her own studies and writing, which she enjoys. The colonel would like time to do research and reading himself.

Will Not Quit Air Lines.

So far as could be learned today Col. Lindbergh does not expect to sever connections completely with either Pan-American Airways or Transcontinental and Western Air. He is a technical adviser to both companies.

A year ago, at his own request, his salary from Transcontinental and Western Air was stopped. With the development of new planes for them he felt that there was no pressing need for his active service. Now with the Clipper ships of Pan-America spanning the Pacific on regular schedules and with the same great flying boats built under his eye ready to start test work on the Atlantic it is understood that he feels free to terminate his active work with this company also.

A week ago the colonel obtained his passports secretly in Washington. American and British officials cooperated in keeping secret the port from which the Lindberghs sailed.

The Lindberghs and their son are the only passengers on the ship. This was possible because of light Atlantic trafic. Neither the name of the liner nor the ports of embarkation and arrival were disclosed.

TAKES WORLD BY STORM

Probably no man of Lindbergh's age has so taken the world by storm. From the moment he left Roosevelt field that damp, dreary morning in May, 1927, until he landed at Le Bourget, near Paris, his plane was followed by the prayers of those who wished success to him.

But it was the effect of his flight on aviation which has made Lindbergh happiest. In one spectacular exploit he had shown that the airplane had suddenly extended its radius of useful action to an almost unbelievable extent.

Lindbergh campaigned for aviation. He made flights through Central America. He had long had in mind to visit the tropics by air and decided to fly to Havana while the Pan-Amer-

COAST GUARD BOATS STAND BY STEAMER AGROUND IN STORM

Cape May, N. J., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Four coast guard craft came alongside the grounded United Fruit liner Iriona early today, ready to start rescue of ten passengers and 50 crewmen if the 3,000 ton ship failed to refloat from Brandywine shoals on which it went aground last night in a blinding snowstorm which swept along the coast. The shoals are about 12 miles from the Delaware breakwater.

SEVEN BILLION BUDGET WILL BE GIVEN CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will send to the printers before the end of the week a budget showing total government expenditures for the next fiscal year close to 7 billions. The budget will be submitted to congress at the session which opens Jan. 3.

The projected total includes interest, statutory debt retirements and AAA payments to farmers. Revised estimates for the current year, which ends June 30, will place equivalent gross expenditures at around $7,750,000,000. The original estimate for the current year when the President first gave it last January contemplated $8,500,000,000 of expenditures.

Administration conferees during the last week, it was indicated today, have agreed on budgetary items which, even with an increase in revenues due to expected continuation of economic recovery, may run up a new gross deficit at the end of the next fiscal year amounting to $1,500,000,000. The deficit for the present year is estimated at around $3,200,000,000. It was $3,575,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1935 which ended last June 30, and $3,989,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1934.

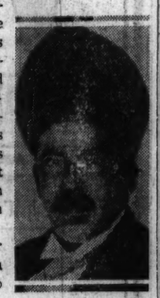
'Rah!' Cry Students; 'Prof' Saves Exam Papers in Fire

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A two-alarm fire started in the house of Prof. Glover M. Allen, Harvard zoölogist, last night. After his invalid wife, Mrs. Sarah Allen, had been made comfortable at the home of a neighbor, Prof. Allen dashed back into the burning house to save a set of examination papers. "Hurrah" said some of his students. Others were not so enthusiastic.

10,000 Sheep to Feed Poor of World Croesus

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

HYDERABAD, India, Dec. 22.—Croesus of the world's money kings—his wealth surpassing even the fabulous fortunes of the Rockefellers, Fords, and Andrew Mellon—the nizam of Hyderabad expects to celebrate his silver jubilee next month. The nizam began his rule in 1911.



NIZAM OF HYDERABAD.

As premier prince of India and according to the ancient tradition of his house the nizam must feed the poor on festive occasions. So he has ordered that a thousand oxen and 10,000 sheep be slaughtered and roasted for the jubilee.

The nizam has fifty marble palaces and on state occasions rides in a coach of solid gold. But for private use he prefers a shabby, rattling vehicle of 1927 vintage.

"He lives in almost spartan simplicity," said Sir Akbar Hydari, minister of finance. "Money has no meaning for him, although he knows how to manage it well."

Gems Worth $2,000,000,000.

The nizam, who rules over 14,000,000 subjects, has an income estimated variously from $2,500,000 to $50,000,000 a year and in his underground vaults, in "midas dungeons" deep below his palace, he reputedly has $250,000,000 in gold bars stowed away—and an additional $2,000,000,000 worth of precious stones, mostly diamonds and rubies.

By comparison, the fortune of John D. Rockefeller Jr. has been estimated from income tax returns at anywhere from $250,000,000 to $600,000,000, while other estimates have placed the combined fortunes of Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, at $1,000,000,000—less than half the value of the nizam's jewels alone.

Tales of the nizam's "thriftiness" are widespread in India. He is said to dislike parties because of the expense and scribbles invitations to dinner on slips of paper torn from the backs of old envelopes.

No suit of clothes or pair of shoes, according to legend, are finally discarded by the nizam until they have been inspected by him and personally pronounced beyond repair.

Takes Inventory of Wealth.

Yet for all these stories, the nizam is noted for his philanthropy and during the great war he was the largest single donor to the British war fund with a gift of $100,000,000.

His treasure vaults, to which he carries the only key strung around his neck, have but one entrance—a secret door in his own bedroom. Actually, he has no idea how much he owns. A special staf, appointed to take an inventory of his possessions, has been working for many months to find out.

Deep in the mountain forests of Hyderabad he is reputed to have a secret reserve of even greater proportions than the stock "on hand"—hidden in a cave whose location is known only to himself and a hereditary keeper.

Now 50, he is an early riser. Easily accessible, he sees any one, beggar or prince, seeking an audience. His harem reportedly numbers 150, including 35 senior begums [queens].

$5,000,000 CHRISTMAS BONUS FOR EMPLOYES OF GENERAL MOTORS

Detroit, Dec. 22.—(AP)—A Christmas present of $5,000,000 for employés in the domestic divisions and subsidiaries of General Motors corporation was announced today by Alfred P. Sloan, General Motors president. It will be distributed to approximately 200,000 employés.

Each employe of the corporation who was in the service on July 1, 1935, will receive $25, Sloan said, from an "appreciation fund" of $5,000,000. Employés eligible to participate in the corporation's bonus fund are excluded from the $25 gift distribution. Checks will go to the workers Tuesday.

Sloan said in his announcement that "better business conditions... both overseas as well as domestically, have resulted in a better year for all of us in General Motors, from all accounts, than has been the case for several years past."

Senator Schall Dies of Trafic Injury at 58

Despite the handicap of blindness the 58 year old Minnesotan had served almost two decades in the house and senate, with the last three years spotlighted by his unswerving and vigorous condemnation of policies of the Roosevelt administration.

An automobile struck Schall down last Thursday as a secretary led him across a heavily traveled highway not far from his home in nearby Maryland. His sturdy physique was unable to battle off the shock of a fractured skull, internal injuries and a broken leg.

Trained Dog to Guide Him.

The senator usually traveled with a police dog as his guide. He had had two police dogs. One of them died a few years ago. He secured another dog recently and started to train him.

Schall's death leaves two vacancies in the senate. The assassination of Huey P. Long of Louisiana brought the other. A third vacancy caused by the senate sequence of tragedies in the last half year—the death of Bronson Cutting of New Mexico in an airplane crash—has since been filled by appointment.

Strangely, Schall's last official act was to attend the funeral of Senator Long late last summer.

The Minnesotan's funeral will be held at Minneapolis at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, with burial in the Lakewood cemetery there. The Rev. Charles Fox Davis of Minneapolis will conduct the service. The body will leave here Tuesday.

Naming Committee.

A committee to formally represent congress at the funeral was being named by Vice President Garner and Speaker Byrns. Two colleagues from Schall's state, Senator Shipstead, a Farmer-Laborite, and Representative Knutson, a Republican, will be on the committee.

Mingled with the general expression of regret over the death of the senator was at least one comment on the trafic menace. Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho] asked, "How long will this reckless destruction of life go on in the streets and highways of the United States?"

The accident to Schall coincided with the opening here of a nation-wide meeting of trafic experts seeking means of cutting the automobile death toll.

CAR RAMS GATE OF DRAWBRIDGE; RECOVER BODIES

Hopewell, Va., Dec. 23 [Monday].—(AP)—Fourteen persons plunged to their deaths in the icy waters of the Appomattox river yesterday when a Greyhound bus dropped through an open drawbridge. All of the bodies have been recovered.

Six of the victims had been identified shortly after midnight as:

L. G. Alford, 38, the driver, Five Points, N. C.; J. B. Belch, Hopewell, Va.; Mrs. J. M. Bailey, Clarendon, Va.; Mrs. J. W. Massey, Hopewell, Va.; Mrs. Ruby Matthews, Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Anne Williams Duncan, Pittsboro, N. C.

As efforts at identification of the other eight bodies continued in two Hopewell funeral homes a bus line official voiced the belief the driver was dead when the machine crashed through a safety gate and plummeted from the open span.

Agrees to an Autopsy.

D. D. McAfee of Raleigh, district superintendent of the company, said Alford's widow had given her consent to an autopsy of her husband's body.

The autopsy will be performed at 11 a. m. today by Drs. J. M. Bailey and A. L. Herring at Richmond.

Commonwealth's Attorney John Goodman said he would start an investigation of the accident at the same hour. "I can't believe that boy was alive when that bus went over," McAfee said.

Driver's Record Excellent.

Alford had an excellent record in his six years with the company, McAfee said, and five years previous experience with another concern. The driver left Raleigh Saturday night for a round trip run after a two day rest, the Greyhound official said.

Bodies of twelve of the victims remained entombed in the bus submerged in about 30 feet of water for more than twelve hours after the coach dropped through to the accompaniment of the screams of passengers. The dead, eight as yet unidentified, were nine white women, three white men, and two colored women.

Miss Gertrude and Miss Elizabeth Fisher of McKenney, Va.; Mrs. J. M. Gregory of Pittsboro, N. C., and Miss or Mrs. Andrews of Pittsboro, N. C.

Find Driver at His Seat.

The crypt on wheels was brought to the surface more than twelve hours after it plunged into the ice coated water.

The body of one woman was extricated from the wreck by a diver before the bus was raised. It was 11 p. m. last night before the last of the 12 bodies was removed.

Hundreds of men worked all day yesterday in sub-freezing temperatures and a snowstorm that virtually became a blizzard by night. They were hampered by the freezing of ropes as they were pulled through the water and by the depth of the river channel and the tides moving along it.

Bus Lifted to River Barge.

Klaas Everts of Norfolk, deep sea diver, attached the cables to the bus which was lifted by a huge crane to a barge. The work was directed by Capt. Irving Leetz of Hopewell.

The bus was not seriously damaged. The bodies, brought out one at a time on the deck of the barge, were laid in wicker caskets and then taken to funeral homes.

One couple, seated side by side in a front seat, had been eating walnuts and each held a walnut tightly in their hands, the young man having his arm around the girl who wore a wedding ring.

A wristwatch on the arm of one man was stopped at 8:55 a. m. which witnesses said was the hour of the plunge.

Salvation Army lassies and Red

Cross nurses endured the icy blasts of the blizzard to distribute steaming hot coffee and fruit to the tired workers on the ice coated bridge and barge.

Most of the windows were broken before the bus was pulled from the water. Workers broke the remainder to reach the victims' bodies.

Cause of the accident was not determined. A long straightaway approach on a fill leads to the draw span, the road rising slightly to the approach. The bridge, just down a hill from the city of Hopewell, was open to permit a tug and barge to go up the river.

Eyewitness Tells of Plunge.

Lacy McNair, bridge tender, said his attention was attracted when the bus smashed through the guard rail lowered about twenty feet in front of the open span. As he turned at the sound, he said, he saw the bus plunge over, balancing momentarily, while the screaming passengers were thrown forward.

"I jerked my head around to see what was happening," he said. "Just as I turned, I saw the bus start its plunge.

"It was a terrible sight. Women and children were screaming and I could see them all falling forward as the bus rolled over."

Larkin Glazebrook, state motor vehicle division investigator, expressed the belief that the brakes on the bus were frozen and that the driver was unable to stop.

The distance from the beginning of the bridge's approach at the bank of the river to the draw span is approximately 200 yards.

Highway Department Plans Quiz.

Virginia highway officials said the drawbridge was equipped with electrically controled safety gates.

State Highway Commissioner Henry Shirley said the mechanism was so arranged that the gates must be down across the highway before the draw could be opened.

He announced that he intended to order a department investigation of the tragedy by his division engineer, F. E. Akers, at Hopewell.

The bridge was said to have been built "about 1928" and was so constructed as to allow clearance for navigation along a channel twenty feet in depth. The bridge is located about a mile north of Hopewell.

Two CCC Workers Killed.

Salem, Mo., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Two CCC camp members were killed and five were seriously injured today when an army truck overturned ten miles east of here. The truck driver missed a highway curve in a fog. Raymond A. Todd, 27, and Jack A. Eslinger, 21, both of Springfield, Mo., were killed.

N. Y. TAXI DRIVERS CONSIDER STRIKE DURING YULETIDE

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Union taxi drivers are weighing advisability of a Christmas week strike to win three concessions.

Benedict J. Camaizzaro, president of the taxi chauffeurs' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate which claims to embrace 75 per cent of the city's 25,000 drivers, said these demands would be made tomorrow of Mayor La Guardia:

Elimination of blacklisting of strikers.

Polling of drivers upon their unionization wishes.

TWO MISS DEATH BUS; TAXICAB PASSENGER REWARDS HIS DRIVER

Richmond, Va., Dec. 22.—(AP)—By missing their bus two men today missed death in the drowning of passengers and driver of the Greyhound bus in the Appomattox river near Hopewell.

William Bourne, a copy reader for the Times-Dispatch, missed the bus by five minutes because he overslept.

The name of the other man who escaped was not learned. L. R. Patterson, taxicab driver, said he picked him up on a street corner this morning, but arrived at the terminal too late to catch the bus.

The cab driver then drove his passenger to a railway station. There the man learned of the fate of the bus passengers, and, rushing out to the cab stand gave Patterson a dollar.

2 CHILDREN SAVED IN BLAZING HOME BY A POLICEMAN

Policeman Henry Bobene was slightly burned last night when he rescued two children from a blazing two story frame dwelling at 2042 Touhey avenue. Passing by in a squad car he saw flames coming out of the window. While his partner, William Murphy, went to turn in a fire alarm Bobene ran upstairs and carried Donald Veit, 6 years old, and his brother, Allan, 9 years old, through the flames, which singed his arms, to safety downstairs.

The boys' mother, Mrs. Anna Veit, and another son, Walter, 12 years old, were able to escape unassisted after Bobene awakened them. Frank Schuster and family, living on the first floor, fled in their night clothing. Firemen saved the building.

ETHIOPIANS JEER AT POOR AIM OF ITALIAN FLYERS

BY HAROLD DENNY.

WITH THE ETHIOPIAN ARMY ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT, JIGJIGA, Ethiopia, Dec. 22.—One interesting lesson taught by the Italo-Ethiopian war is that the terror value of modern equipment such as tanks and airplanes is soon lost even on the most savage and ignorant troops.

As far as airplanes are concerned, the lesson has been taught before. The British learned it in their attacks on the Mad Mullah of Somaliland in 1920. The dervishes took to cover to avoid them. United States marines had similar experience in Nicaragua when the Sandinistas quickly learned to hide under banana fronds when planes approached.

But the air tactics used by the Italians in Ethiopia, at least on this front, show that they banked heavily on terrifying the native bush warriors. The Italians' reward for enormous expenditures of costly bombs and gasoline, which they must buy abroad, is that the Ethiopians, from highest to lowest are literally laughing at them.

Wound Chicken in Raid.

Dedjabmatch Nasibu, governor of Harrar province and commander in chief of the armies in the south, was conferring with members of his staf when word came of another bombing at Daggah Bur, which Italian planes have been visiting almost daily. Thirteen planes had dropped between 200 and 250 bombs on this village of mud-walled, straw-thatched tukuls, and the total result was the wounding of one chicken.

As soon as the bombs had stopped falling the natives rushed back to their shacks. In their various raids on Daggah Bur the Italians had used a total of 800 bombs to get six casualties, most of whom were civilians.

At the war council Nasibu threw back his head and laughed at this report.

"The more they bomb us the better we like it," he said. "We are not afraid of them; they do us no military damage and no property damage and they are wasting money, of which we know Italy has little. Anybody should know, though the Italians apparently do not, that airplanes are effective against troops only when they are massed, as they often were in the world war. Our troops are not massed.

"Often a plane will throw a bomb at a single Ethiopian soldier on the road and, of course, not hit him. Even if every bomb thrown scored a hit, at that rate the Italians would have to drop 2,000,000 bombs to destroy us. And I know of an actual instance where one plane dropped 23 bombs at one man in an unsuccessful effort to hit him."

Capture Four Tanks.

Wehib Pasha, Turkish general in the Gallipoli campaign and now technical adviser on the southern front, broke into the conversation.

"I think the Italians are simply advertising their airplanes to induce people to buy them," he remarked. "They can fly higher than any planes I ever saw. They have been flying so high that they can't hit anything since our Ethiopian riflemen brought down two of them on the Shibeli river."

Tanks, too, were awe-inspiring at first to the barefooted Ethiopians, but the Italians contrived, by extraordinary ineptness, to lose four of them at Anale when they were defeated in one of the few engagements of any consequence on the southern front.

A force of Ethiopians heard the Italian tanks, followed by the Somali troops who have carried the brunt of the fighting for the Italians on this front, and dispersed to the thick bushes lining the approach to the river ford.

The first tank arrived. Its driver and gunner got out for a look around. The Ethiopians fired on them and killed them. The second and third tank crews also got out to investigate and were killed. The driver of the fourth managed to get away, though wounded, and his tank was found later with him dead inside.

both in Ethiopia and Egypt, will be the first to claim the attention of Eden. He is expected to take an early opportunity to come to terms with Egypt where conditions are ugly because of demands for complete independence. It is said he plans to ease the British hold over the Egyptian army in order to soothe the Egyptians.

Britain to Reorganize Army.

The British war office's plans for reorganization of cavalry and infantry units of the army are designed to meet modern fighting conditions. The changes are to give greater speed and striking power.

The reorganization will revolutionize the cavalry. Eight regiments will be converted from horses to mechanized units. In the infantry two battalions of foot guards and thirteen regiments of the line will become machine gun battalions.

The reorganization of the cavalry will leave six cavalry regiments at home and six in India. Any further step toward mechanization will, it is said, depend on the attitude of India, where conditions, as regards the employment of cavalry, are somewhat different.

Mechanize Brigade in Egypt.

The war office also announced that a cavalry brigade in Egypt will be converted into a mechanized unit. It will consist of one armored car regiment, one motor cavalry regiment and one cavalry light tank regiment. Such fighting units are more easily adaptable to sand, it was pointed out.

It is understood that military reinforcements have been rushed to Egypt's frontier largely because of reports that Mussolini has sent the Trento division to Bengasi in the adjacent Italian colony of Libya.

GIRL, 4, SLASHED BY MOTHER, DIES AFTER 2 WEEKS

Slashed on the throat and wrists by her mother on Dec. 6, Sally May Lindor, 4 years old, died yesterday in the home of her father, Henry Lindor, a janitor, at 7102 North Damen avenue. The mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lindor, 27 years old, former inmate of the Elgin State Hospital for the Insane, was held in bonds of $3,000 on a charge of assault to kill, but was committed to the Kankakee Hospital for the Insane by Judge Denis J. Normoyle last Thursday after she recovered in the Bridewell hospital from a self-inflicted wound.

Dr. Paul Smith, coroner's physician, said after an autopsy last night that the knife wounds contributed to the child's death. At the County hospital, where the child was first taken, physicians found her suffering from hydrocephalus, an enlargement of the head caused by an accumulation of fluid in the brain cavity. She was discharged from the hospital on Dec. 15 apparently recovering from her wounds.

After wounding her child in the home of a friend with whom the baby was placed when Mrs. Lindor was committed to the asylum in 1933, the mother rushed into the street and stabbed herself. She told Dr. R. F. Weisbrenner, 4024 North Harding avenue, who treated her, that she wanted to kill her child because her case was hopeless.

FIND ITALY HARD HIT BY WAR AND 'ECONOMIC SIEGE'

Observers Claim Public Fears Catastrophe.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Italy has begun to feel the strain and pressure of the economic sanctions applied against her by fifty-two nations more or less energetically for the last five weeks.

However, it is difficult to estimate, according to observers who have been in Italy, whether the sanctions are directly responsible for the increasing pinch of the discomfort and hardships of the Italian people, or whether the hardships are due merely to the normal wear and tear of supporting a costly war in East Africa.

The natural drain on the country's resources by the African war and other policies already has had much the same effect as sanctions, observers say.

Find Sanctions "Remorseless."

British officials maintain that sanctions are being effectively applied. The league of nations machinery for exerting economic pressure on Italy is working well and the member states "for the most part" are doing their share, it was announced last week in the house of commons. On the other hand, it is said that sanctions are slow and remorseless, and that their real effects will be cumulative and come later.

Observers here who have been in Italy during the last three weeks declared that even when the sanctions are withdrawn, Italy will continue to suffer from their effects in suspended trade and lost markets and a lowered standard of living.

With a slackened pace and much discomfort, life goes on in Italy with everything more restricted than ever under Sig. Guarnieri, new economic dictator. He controls just what is exported and fixes the prices of everything. Cafés are reported to be full and everybody is engaging in an orgy of spending all their ready cash, which they believe will soon become worthless.

Fascists Buy Up Land.

Food prices, though, are strictly controled and are still high, according to reports reaching here. Coal costs $30 a ton and gasoline is sold at $1.35 a gallon. Eggs are 85 cents a dozen. Butter is 75 cents a pound. Veal is 70 cents a pound. Bus and street car and railroad service has been curtailed. The streets are darkened at night. Everything is closed at 10:30 o'clock. People sit in cafés and talk about nothing but sanctions and their effects, according to the reports.

But again the point is brought up by experienced observers as to whether sanctions are actually responsible for all this or whether they serve Premier Mussolini as a mere excuse for exacting more sacrifices from the Italians.

See Catastrophe Ahead.

Whether from one cause or another, however, financial leaders in Italy view the situation as catastrophic and watch with misgiving the future welfare of the country.

In making an appraisal of the effect of sanctions on Italy, their fourfold nature is taken into consideration.

The first one concerns the export of arms, ammunition, and implements of war to Italy. Admittedly this has had no effect whatever so far because Mussolini has stored up all he will need for a long time to come.

Second comes the financial boycott which has a decided moral effect. However, it is largely a regulation covering a situation that already existed, for Italy's credit was so bad anyway she could not get a loan, according to banking circles. For cash payment this penalty is not effective, since it does not apply to gold.

Economic Boycott Hurts.

Third is the ban on Italian goods. So far as can be judged at the moment this has been an effective weapon. Since Italian trade had dwindled to a mere fraction of what it once was even before the application of sanctions, it is difficult to estimate the extent of the injury.

Besides, there have been many lurid reports of smuggling across the frontier and of goods being run through customs posts across the border into France and Switzerland and then reshipped. Great Britain tried to forestall this by asking the countries to certify the place of origin of all goods coming into England, but the Germans protested. A certain amount of connivance at the arrival of Italian goods doubtless goes on in the shipping ports of the Mediterranean also.

The fourth sanction is the embargo on certain goods to Italy. It is apparently not especially effective since the proposal is to extend it further to oil, iron, and coal. Mussolini evidently stocked up before the embargo was applied Nov. 18.

Moral Effect Harmful.

The upshot appears to be that, while there are many loopholes in the carrying out of sanctions, their moral effect is harmful to Italy generally. The penalties will make it difficult for the nation to return to normal conditions for many years.

There is no doubt about the stoppage of the movement of goods and travel between Italy and other countries. A traveler who left Italy recently via Turin and Modane told this correspondent he was alone in the restaurant car all the way and saw no freight cars on the railways anywhere between Turin and the French border.

Presumably this applies to other frontier lines. This observer said the Italians generally were not for the moment miserable, but were becoming increasingly uneasy over the prospect of sanctions being continued.

Unemployment, he said, was growing because imports of everything except what the government needs to conduct the war has been precluded. Consequently industries are crimped. The price of gasoline also makes the operation of taxicabs impossible and many chauffeurs are out of jobs.

Gold Stock Dwindling.

A food supply is assured because Italy is three-fourths agricultural, but the financial situation makes it seem certain that Mussolini cannot carry on his campaign over the next rainy season, the informant said.

The reason given was that the Bank of Italy's gold reserves, which were around 8 billion lire this time last year [the nominal value of the lira is 8.07 cents] have dwindled to less than 2 billion lira.

Gold contributions exacted through donated wedding rings have helped some, but will not enable Il Duce to get enough gold to buy what he needs to wage war indefinitly.

But they all seem 100 per cent behind Mussolini. The people argue that even if he is wrong the national honor is at stake and everyone must support him, the informant concluded.

SEE BALKAN WAR IF ITALY MOVES ON BRITISH FLEET

London's Note to Rumania Exposes Plan.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 22.—A clash between the British and Italian fleets would not be localized in the Mediterranean, but would lead to a new Balkan war with grave risks of the conflict spreading to the whole of Europe as in 1914, THE TRIBUNE was told by an authoritative source today.

While the British foreign office has announced that questionnaires were sent to Spain, Portugal, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, Greece, and Jugo-Slavia regarding the support which would be given the British fleet in case of an Italian attack, the nature of a questionnaire addressed at the same time to Rumania has not yet been officially revealed. Here is the gist of it:

The [British] foreign office has information leading it to believe that in the case Italy attacks the British fleet, every possible means of pressure will be used to persuade Bulgaria to attack simultaneously one or both of Great Britain's east Mediterranean allies—Greece and Turkey. In that case the Rumanian government is asked if the Rumanian army will immediately attack Bulgaria.

Gets King's Approval.

This questionnaire was handed the Rumanian foreign minister, Nicholas Titulescu. Titulescu submitted the proposition to King Carol of Rumania and, having received his approval, immediately sent an affirmative answer to the British government.

While it is not known exactly what military understanding exists between the Italians and the Bulgarians and Hungary, the mere fact that Hungary's hated enemy, Rumania, is engaged on the other front would create a strong temptation for the Hungarians to attack her. This would automatically bring an attack from the Czech army on Hungary and entrance into the war of Czechoslovakia might easily bring the Poles down on them in view of the strained relations already existing between the two countries. Poland, being tied up with Germany and Czechoslovakia with Russia, the fat would be in the fire then.

Germans Reassure Italy.

In France there are increasing apprehensions over the line Germany will take in case of a Mediterranean conflict. Sinister importance is attached to reports from Italy that freight cars loaded with German coal arriving in Italy frequently bear placards written in Italian reading: "Italians, hold out until spring at any cost." Next spring is when, according to military experts, the German army will be ready to take the field in case of need.

In Paris and Geneva circles there was a tendency to deplore the diplomatic tactics employed by the British in sending these questionnaires. It is known here that the British were not satisfied with the general promises of support which they have received from all the government's queries. They are now trying to pin down the powers in question to state precisely how many ships, planes, and men they can put instantaneously at the disposition of the British.

Some surprise was expressed at the fact that these negotiations started even before the now discredited Paris peace plan and after having been kept secret for nearly two weeks are now revealed. One theory is that the foreign office was secretly hoping for a refusal and is trying now to embarrass the governments concerned by revealing to the various peoples what they are being let in for. The other is that a really serious effort to intimidate Italy is under way and the appointment of Capt. Anthony Eden as foreign secretary seems to fit in with this.

BLAST SINKS FISHING SHIP AT SEA; CREW OF 11 HAULED TO SAFETY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Wrecked by a terrific explosion far off the coast of lower California, the San Diego tuna clipper Vasco de Gama sank today shortly after her crew of eleven was rescued by the British tanker El Mirlo.

The United States coast guard base at San Pedro was advised by wireless that the crew members were transferred to the United Fruit liner Antigua off Cape San Lucas, and that the Antigua was steaming full speed for Los Angeles harbor.

Three of the crew, the wireless said, were burned in the explosion and were in critical condition.

JURY CONVENES TODAY TO PROBE TODD MYSTERY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Life secrets of Thelma Todd interested authorities today as a grand jury prepared to open its investigation tomorrow in an effort to solve the blonde movie actress' death.

Intimate friends of the pretty actress, whose expensively gowned body was found last Monday in her automobile, have been summoned to testify.

They include:

Roland West, film director-producer, who lived in a connecting apartment over a café which he and Miss Todd operated.

Mrs. Wallace Ford, wife of an actor.

Raises Danger of Clash with Soviet.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, Dec. 23 (Monday).—The Japanese government has been discussing with Chinese leaders "the general principle of Chinese-Japanese co-operation to prevent a spread of communist influence" in North China, a foreign office spokesman disclosed today. He said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, virtual dictator of China, has already "accepted in principle" the general thesis of such co-operation.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, Dec. 22.—Statements by Japanese military authorities disclosed tonight that Japan's army in Manchukuo, with or without the consent of the Tokio government, has embarked on a definite campaign of military pressure on outer Mongolia.

The situation was regarded as fraught with danger of a conflict between the great imperialisms of Japan and soviet Russia, because the Japanese army protects Manchukuo and dictates its actions, while the soviet union dominates outer Mongolia.

The new military campaign, it was learned, has been carried out under the pretext of delimiting the "ambiguous" boundary between Manchukuo and Mongolia.

Attack Claims Notice.

A recent border clash at the frontier post of Balun-Bersun, in which several Mongolian soldiers were killed by Japanese and Manchukuoan invaders, was regarded as merely the first incident to attract outside notice.

[Moscow dispatches early Sunday quoted reports from Khabarovsk, reaching the Russian capital through official soviet channels, as stating the Japanese army in Manchukuo was considering a plan to invade outer Mongolia.]

Articles in the nationalist press, notably the newspaper Miyako, indicated that a strong militarist-imperialist faction in Japan envisions extension of the campaign to include Sinkiang province, as well as outer Mongolia.

Into such an effort the militarists, it appeared, would drag China, invoking the latter's long ineffective sovereignty over those vast outlying provinces as an excuse for the use of Japanese military power—ostensibly on China's behalf and in an alliance with China—to oust soviet penetration.

As for the raid at Balun-Bersun, Manchukuo claims it is necessary to delimit the frontier unilaterally because the Mongolians have stubbornly rejected Manchukuoan proposals, making coöperative boundary delimitation impossible.

Whether the present boundary campaign has the specific sanction of the Tokio high command appears doubtful. However, the Japanese army in Manchukuo frequently has formulated its own imperial policy and this appeared to be another such instance.

BORN IN A STABLE ON CHRISTMAS DAY; 90 NEXT WEDNESDAY

Findlay, O., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Christmas has an unusually deep significance to Mrs. Mary Peterman. She was born in a stable, like the Christ Child, on his birthday, and received the name of Jesus' mother. Mrs. Peterman will celebrate her 90th birthday Wednesday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel S. Mains, went from Ohio to the then wilds of Indiana, now Huntington county, 90 years ago. They could not find a house immediately, and kind neighbors offered them a stable. They accepted, and it was in the stable that their child, Mary, was born on Christmas, 1845.

CHICAGOAN IN SMALL SAILBOAT REACHES HAWAII

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Dec. 22.—After more than a year of sailing through southern waters on a cruise to "escape the depression" Ralph W. Zimmerman, 337 Sheridan road, Winnetka, an architect, today brought his ketch, the Zarark, safely into harbor from Christmas Island.

With Zimmerman on his 58 foot sailboat were his son William, Larned Bowman, a sailor, and Larry Enos, who joined them at Tahiti. They will spend the holidays here.

The party set out Nov. 18, 1934, from Chicago after bringing their boat from New England down the Lakes-to-Gulf waterway. They went down the Mississippi river, through the Gulf of Mexico, touching at coast towns, then Cuba, returning to New Orleans, where Mrs. Zimmerman and her 18 year old daughter left to return to Chicago. The rest of the party continued on the journey which took them through the Panama canal to the Pacific ocean.

JAP NAVAL CHIEF AT LAUNCHING OF PLANE CARRIER

KURE, Japan, Dec. 23.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Admiral of the Fleet Prince Hiroyasu Fushimi, chief of the naval general staf, presided today over the launching of a vessel considered the last word in aircraft carrier construction.

The warship which slid down the ways in the great naval base here in the presence of the prince and Admiral Maineo Osumi was the Soryu [green dragon], a 10,050 ton carrier capable of a speed of 30 knots and driven by 60,000 horse power machinery.

The vessel carries a dozen 12.7 centimeter guns. She is the first of two such ships to be built under the program scheduled for completion in 1937. Her size indicated that the Japanese, like the Americans and British, have concluded that smaller carriers are more efficient than the larger types built ten years ago.

The Japanese navy has four aircraft carriers in commission, the 14 year old Hosho, 7,470 tons; the huge Kaga and Adagi, 26,900 tons each, and the comparatively new Ryujo [flying dragon], 7,100 tons. When the Soryu and her yet to be launched sister are completed the Hosho will be scrapped to bring Japan's tonnage in this category within the Washington treaty limits of 81,000 tons.

Texan Kills Wife, Defender and Takes Own Life

Livingston, Tex., Dec. 22.—(AP)—A triple killing was added today as the fifth of series of tragedies here within recent months. Late last night Albert Manade entered a beer stand 11 miles south of here and killed his wife, Mrs. Albert Manade, with whom he had quarreled previously. The proprietor, Ed Wiggins, sought to intervene and was slain by Manade, who then killed himself.

CONVICTS PRIZE CALENDAR ABOVE ALL OTHER GIFTS

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Of the fifteen gifts which Santa Claus brings each Sing Sing prison inmate each year, the one most appreciated by the vast majority is a calendar, Warden Lawes said today. The gifts, as usual, will be distributed this year to the 2,400 prisoners on Christmas eve.

"The prisoners delight in crossing out each day on the calendar because they realize, in most cases, that it brings them one day nearer freedom," said Warden Lawes.

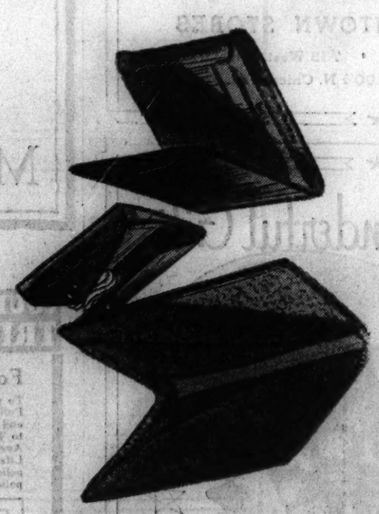
If you're privileged to be practical about what you give, this special pajama event plays right into your hands. Coming at this time, it's an event to be reckoned with—an unlooked-for opportunity to provide him, at a considerable saving to you, with pajamas that have been given extravagant consideration as to fit and workmanship and topped off with a quality of sateen that has a decided edge on good looks. In plaids, stripes, all-over effects, and trimmed with piping.



Leather
POCKET PIECES THAT BOAST NEW IDEAS IN CONSTRUCTION
$1.50 to $15

The Bill Fold is of one piece of leather without a stitch to mar its good looks. Bill folds are available in many different leathers and styles.

The Key Container is equipped with a new loop—it keeps your keys safe, yet, by sliding the automatic latch, loop and key are released instantly. No hooks to spread and tangle.

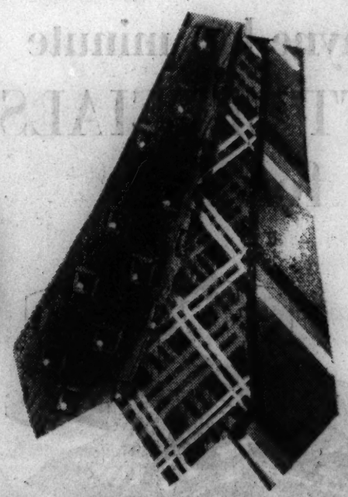
Jewelry
FOR WEAR WITH HIS DINNER COAT OR "TAILS"
$5 Set

It's giving things like this that make Christmas worth while for a man. It is more than likely that the night life jewelry he's using now has been with him long enough to be rated as an heirloom, and dress jewelry changes. At any rate, if ever there was a right time to give a man jewelry for wear with his evening clothes, this is it. The occasions that require his being immaculately done up in black and white are bound to be more frequent in the next few weeks than all the rest of the year.

Trim
AND COMFORTABLE SLIPPERS WITH HAND-TURNED SOLES
$2.95 pair

That matter of the hand-turned soles is something to bear in mind—there are a lot of slippers, considerably more expensive than these, that depend on that part of their make-up alone for their success. It distinguishes the poorly made slipper from those that have benefited by the hands of good craftsmen. As to the uppers of these slippers, they are soft kid leather and leather lined. Around the collar there is an underlay of silver kid—not enough to worry about, but it adds a well dressed look. In black, brown, blue, red, green, and wine.



Men Expect Ties
THE DOLLAR SHOP HAS THOUSANDS HE'LL WEAR
$1

For all we know you may be a novice or a gifter with a reputation at stake. Whatever your standing, it really doesn't matter, the chances of your making anything but the right selection are pretty slim. The Dollar Shop won't let you down—its ties are those that show by their very discriminating choice of interesting checks, stripes, and small all-over patterns as well as individual colors—their aspiration of being the most sought-after man's present that will dangle from your Christmas tree.

INJURED WOMAN HOLDS SECRET OF FATAL SMASHUP

Police Wait at Bedside to Question Her.

Police sought last night to question Mrs. Lucy Maschio when she momentarily regained consciousness in St. Mary's hospital to learn the details of the mysterious automobile accident which caused the death of Dr. Isadore Newman, 31 years old, 3623 Flournoy street, a dentist, and serious injury to Mrs. Maschio and Clements Cartelli, 31 years old, 2558 West Walton place.

Mrs. Maschio, of 1642 West Ohio street, remained conscious only long enough to tell her questioners that she was struck by Dr. Newman's car after it collided with the car of Frank Nasca, 28 years old, 2208 North Merrimac avenue, and jumped the curb at Grand and Damen avenues. She said she and Cartelli, whom she did not know, were walking on the sidewalk several feet apart.

Other Driver Released.

An inquest into the death of Dr. Newman was set for 9:30 a. m. today at 3654 Roosevelt road. Nasca was released by the police upon the recommendation of Deputy Coroner E. J. English. Both Mrs. Maschio and Cartelli suffered fractured skulls and internal injuries.

William Little, 53 years old, 3123 Fulton street, was injured fatally early yesterday in front of 128 South Homan avenue. His pushcart was hit by an auto driven by Lawrence Ahearn, 25 years old, 2625 Ogden avenue, who was held for reckless driving.

Frederick Smith, 72 years old, 568 Madison street, died last night in the Mother Cabrini hospital from injuries suffered Nov. 30 when he was struck at Monroe and Des Plaines streets by a Railway Express company truck driven by Emil Schwandt, 50 years old, 2342 Walton street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 992 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, the coroner's office reported. In the same period 773 were killed and 17,309 injured in the city of Chicago.

Woman Hurt in Skid Crash.

Mrs. Julia Hague, 42 years old, 6034 North Fairfield avenue, suffered a possible fracture of the pelvis yesterday when an automobile driven by her husband skidded and overturned at Maplewood and Lincoln avenues.

Roy Saunders, 22 years old, 4219 North Sawyer avenue, Kenneth, 23 years old, and Carl Johnson, 20 years old, brothers, were injured when their car overturned in front of 1630 Lawrence avenue as they attempted to avoid striking a cab. The taxicab driver did not stop.

MOTHER OF SIX WINS $10,000 IN NOVEL CONTEST

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—A middle aged woman, wife of an engineer and mother of six children, has won a $10,000 prize with her first novel.

The author is Margaret Flint, of Bay St. Louis, Miss. The prize was offered by a monthly magazine. Other winners of the prize have been Mateel Howe Farnham with "Rebellion," Martha Ostenso with "Wild Geese," and L. M. Alexander with "Candy."

Miss Flint is the wife of Lester Warner Jacobs, manager of the New Orleans-Pontchartrain toll bridge. Although she lives in the south, she is a New Englander by birth, and her prize winning "The Old Ashburn Place" is a New England novel of the soil. It was chosen from a field of 2,632 manuscripts.

Four years' spare time was required for the writing, time taken from cooking, cleaning and chaperoning her daughters, the author explains. Her interests center about her home, cards and such like have no place in her life. But she does go out to Parent-Teacher meetings, she admits.

U. S. HUNTS GANG IN MELROSE PARK POSTAL ROBBERY

The $10,000 vault robbery at the new Melrose Park postoffice, discovered Saturday morning, was regarded yesterday by Melrose Park police as a national rather than a local problem. The gang, they asserted, is one of specialists which has been preying on new federal postoffices throughout the country.

Newly erected postoffices have been marked as "easy" by yeggs, said Chief Arthur Leesberg of the suburb. He had been advised, he added, that there has been an epidemic of postoffice robberies.

The Melrose Park cracksmen had little difficulty in breaking through the concrete because it offered so little resistance, the police chief remarked. He said the concrete is not as solid as it should be, and it appeared that the criminals had blueprints of the building to show them the easiest points of entry.

Chief Leesberg added that his information is that at least a half dozen suburban postoffices in Illinois have been burglarized recently. Since there are no clews on which the Melrose Park police can work, postal inspectors have taken jurisdiction and their inquiry may include the construction work on the buildings, said the chief.

River of Hot Lava Burns 3 Mile Stretch in Hawaii

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Red hot lava from the volcano Mauna Loa inflicted today its first damage since the current eruption started Nov. 21. A mile wide river of molten rock felled a stone wall and burned trees, bushes and sheep paddocks in a level area three miles long between Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea. Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, volcanologist, described the activity as the most spectacular in twenty years.

DEMANDS STATE INVESTIGATION IN LIGGETT KILLING

Law and Order League Is Pressing for Action.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Insisting on an "open faced" investigation into the murder of Walter Liggett and the circumstances behind it, the Minnesota Law and Order league today was preparing to demand immediate action by the state legislature.

Tomorrow Isadore [Kid Cann] Blumenfeld will be arraigned in District court here on a charge of first degree murder. He was indicted Friday by a Hennepin county grand jury after two eye-witnesses named him as the gunman who poured five machine gun bullets into Liggett's back Dec. 9. Cann, according to his attorney, Thomas McMeekin, will plead not guilty.

Want Broad Crime Inquiry.

The Law and Order league will ask the legislature to adopt a resolution ordering a broad crime inquiry in Minneapolis. This resolution, introduced last week with the statement that the murder of Liggett was "a challenge of the underworld to the government," was first discarded as being outside the province of the special session meeting to enact relief and security legislation.

It was resurrected, however, following the appeal of Minneapolis business men and is now in the hands of the rules committee. In addition to ordering the investigation it would provide a $100,000 expense fund.

The league, an organization of business and civic leaders, has been active in the Liggett case from the start.

Partly as a consequence the investigation so far has been handled by two assistant attorney generals, Frederic A. Pike and Roy C. Frank, and Assistant County Attorney Peter S. Neilson, all operating under the supervision of Attorney General Harry H. Peterson.

The league's demand will follow one made last Thursday by Mrs. Edith Liggett, widow of the slain publisher, in a letter to legislator members.

Wants Alliance Exposed.

"Nothing has been done," she wrote, "to unmask the higher up sinister forces who stopped my husband's fight against them by taking his life. Nothing has been done to end the alliance of politics, rackets and crime which flourishes brazenly here with the knowledge and cooperation of public officials.

"I ask you to see that the politico-racket-criminal alliance in Minneapolis and Minnesota is exposed, broken up, and its members imprisoned or banished."

Apparently reluctance of Minneapolis police to carry out even the routine investigation entailed by any murder has drawn critical comment.

Thus it was not until more than a week following Liggett's death that the automobile admittedly driven by Kid Cann the day of the shooting was impounded for minute inspection. Days also elapsed before a visit was paid to his home to search for weapons, although fifteen minutes after the murder the police had been told by Mrs. Liggett that the man who killed her husband before her eyes was Kid Cann.

SENATOR SCHALL DEAD OF TRAFIC INJURIES AT 58

Served in Washington for 2 Decades.

last session by administration leaders to deprive Senator Schall of the privilege of having his addresses read by the clerk, a privilege extended to the Minnesotan because of his blindness.

On several occasions Senators Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] and Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Aark.], Democratic leaders, denounced Schall for his "insults" to the President and threatened to invoke a censorship on him. The blind senator always fought off these attacks stoutly and the administration leaders never came to the point of barring his speeches from a reading by the clerk.

Stirs Up Censor Issue.

In one controversy he stirred up—over charges of censorship—he engaged the President himself in debate. Newspapers were confronted with censorship in the "demand" of Mr. Roosevelt for a federal communications commission, he asserted on March 1, 1934. This, he alleged, was an attempt to do what Gen. Johnson failed to accomplish, "to force censorship into the newspaper code."

The following March he followed his charge with an assertion the administration was planning to censor news reel films and three months later he claimed that the press already was censored at the capital and that the news services "feared to send out the facts." Then he charged, in a radio talk on August 23, that the "brain trust" was drafting a proposal for the creation of a government press service to supplant private services. In a telegram to the senator the next day, the President asked for the basis of the assertion.

A reply came that night. The following day, the President sent another message, acknowledging receipt of "a vituperative two-page letter which gives no facts and does not answer my simple request." The President concluded, "the incident is closed."

How Schall Lost Sight.

The senator lost his eyesight in 1908. He was a young lawyer at the time, trying a case in Fargo, N. D. A new electric cigar lighter exploded in his face as he was lighting a cigar and his eyes were seared.

Despite that handicap, he was an active man. He was a skilful horseman and recently learned to put his mount over hurdles. He laid out the grounds for his estate near Berwyn, Md., and helped install the plumbing with his own hands.

Senator Schall was born June 4, 1878 at Reed City, Mich., the son of David and Mary Ellen Schall. He graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1902 and received his law degree in 1904 from the St. Paul college of law.

Sticks to Law Career.

Schall had been practicing law for four years when he lost his sight and continued to practice. He was elected to the house of representatives in 1915 and reelected for five successive terms until he ran for the senate in 1924 and was elected. He was re-elected in 1930.

The senator had already started his campaign for reelection next year with a vigorous attack on Gov. Floyd Olson who had announced his candidacy for the senate in opposition to Schall. The recent murder of Walter W. Liggett, Minnesota editor, had served as Schall's theme for his accusations of corruption in politics in Minnesota.

OLSON TO NAME MINN. SENATOR BEFORE JAN. 3

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson tonight said he would appoint a successor to United States Senator Thomas D. Schall before the opening of the 1936 session of congress Jan. 3, and that he will make no move to take the post himself.

"I will never go to the senate," Gov. Olson said, "unless it is with the approval of the people of Minnesota. I will not resign my present position with a view to being appointed senator by my successor."

Who his appointee may be Gov. Olson did not say.

$68,974,161 SPENT BY UNCLE SAM ON WPA MATERIAL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Materials bought for the WPA program have cost the government $68,974,161 to date, it was revealed today by a treasury procurement official who remarked, "We've just started buying."

Materials for the WPA part of the work relief program alone will require the expenditure of more than $400,000,000 by the federal and local governments during the next few months, official sources estimated.

Officials expressed the hope that purchases of textiles to a total of $15,000,000 would put some of the distressed textile mills of the country back into sound financial condition.

SEIZE CAPONE AID AND 28 OTHERS IN TAVERN RAID

Squads Find Liquor and Gambling at 3 A. M.

Three o'clock in the morning became the zero hour yesterday for Sergt. Frank O'Sullivan and his squad from Commissioner Allman's office, who found the Par-Mar club tavern, 2410 West Chicago avenue, open at that time—one hour after the legal closing hour. They arrested "Tough Tony" Capezio, a former Capone gangster and public enemy who, they were told, was the real owner of the tavern, and twenty-eight others, many of whom had police records.

Thirty couples were dancing to the music of a small orchestra in the basement of the building which was formerly a novelty beer garden with glass walls and roof. The walls have since been encased in plaster and wood.

Dice Game Upstairs.

Upstairs a red hot dice game was in progress and among both crowds Sergeants Thomas Lyons, Frank Cervenka, and Francis Mather waited for the arrival of Sergt. O'Sullivan, observing, meanwhile, the open sale of drinks.

Among the prisoners were Edward Ryan, ostensible owner, and Harry Belcastro, who gave fictitious addresses. Ryan was found to have been arrested for robbery in Detroit in 1931 and Sergt. O'Sullivan said he would try to find out how Ryan could have obtained a license. Belcastro had served a short sentence in the House of Correction and had been arrested for robbery and larceny.

Charges Against Owners.

A recommendation will be made that the liquor and cigaret licenses issued for the place be revoked. The owners will be charged with selling liquor after hours, not having an amusement license, and operating a gambling house, Sergt. O'Sullivan said.

At 5 o'clock in the morning Sergt. O'Sullivan and his squad found a dice game in operation in the rear of a billiard parlor at 3769 Broadway and three arrests were made.

AMNESIA VICTIM

The Hudson avenue police were trying yesterday to identify a well dressed woman, 35 years old, apparently the victim of amnesia, who was brought to the station by a cab driver when she appeared to be lost. She said that her name is Isabelle Sutoris and her home in Hollywood, Cal. She told the police that she was on her way to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, but could not remember their address. She was wearing several diamond rings and had $155 in a handbag.

REPORT REVEALS ILLINOIS INCOME OVER 5 MILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—One person in the United States had an income of more than $5,000,000 in 1933 and this individual lived in the state of Illinois, according to a report released today by the bureau of internal revenue. Incomes in the higher brackets were lumped together in order to conceal the identity of the taxpayer.

The number of returns for individuals for 1933 was 3,723,558. Of these 1,747,740 were taxable and 1,975,818 nontaxable. The aggregate net income as shown on these returns was $11,008,637,754, with taxable returns amounting to $7,372,660,352 and a tax liability of $374,120,469.

As compared with the returns for the previous year the total number for 1933 was cut by 153,872, or 4 per cent. The drop in 1933 net income over 1932 was $647,119,000.

Illinois was third among the states in income taxes paid by individuals, pouring $28,596,559 into the federal coffers during 1933. New York stood at the top of the list with individual taxes aggregating $137,414,061 and Pennsylvania second with $32,872,779. North Dakota trailed all other states, paying in only $115,100.

Returns for corporations also declined in 1933. There were 504,080 returns filed as against 508,636 for 1932. The returns with net income showed an aggregate net income of $2,985,971,525, income tax of $416,092,510, excess profits tax of $6,975,624, which was imposed by the national industrial recovery act, or a total tax of $423,068,134.

Illinois was third among the states in total taxes paid on corporation incomes, with an aggregate of $31,301,000. New York and Pennsylvania led with taxes paid of $118,321,000 and $32,120,000, respectively. Wyoming brought up the rear of the states with $81,000 paid.

LOOP WATCHMAN TIED 6 HRS. WHILE 3 ROBBERS WORK

Edward Erickson, 50 years old, 3607 Lake Park avenue, watchman for the building at 71-73 East Lake street, stepped into the alley behind the building at 7 p. m. last night and was seized by two masked gunmen, who took him to the basement and tied his hands and feet.

One of the men stood guard while the other let two more robbers inside. Then the three men knocked the combination from a basement safe belonging to Mann's Rainbow Seafood tavern, which occupies one of the stores in the building. What the safe contained was undetermined. They also hauled out a quantity of bonded liquor. On the first floor they tried unsuccessfully to open another safe and then went to the fourth floor and took 75 large cartons of cigarets, valued at $3,750, belonging to the Interstate company.

Finally at 1 a. m. the robbers completed their pillage. They returned to the basement, shoved a $20 bill into Erickson's hand, said "Merry Christmas," and disappeared.

UNION SERVICE IN TVA VILLAGE SUNDAY CUSTOM

Norris, Tenn., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Quakers, Catholics, Methodists, Baptists, and Presbyterians joined in a simple, fervent three hour religious service in the Tennessee Valley authority's model town of Norris today—the town that has been called "Godless."

Such has been their custom each Sunday since the TVA established the town two years ago for its employes and workers engaged on the $34,000,000 Norris dam near by.

The little village, nestled among wooded hills, recently was a target for criticism by Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, who charged that the "TVA has copied communism by refusing to permit denominational churches to be built at Norris."

Bundled in overcoats and wraps more than 100 men, women and children walked or rode through a heavy snowstorm today to the red brick schoolhouse, near the center of town, for their Sunday worship. It is their community church.

First there was Sunday school with classes held in the various schoolrooms. N. A. Hicks, 32, of Asheville, N. C., one of the town's two barbers, is superintendent.

This interdenominational form of worship, G. L. Jensen, TVA personnel representative, said, is favored by 98 per cent of the town's 1,700 inhabitants.

LINDBERGH QUITS U. S. TO SAVE SON FROM KIDNAPERS

Sails Secretly; to Live in England.

ican congress was in session there. To the astonishment of official Washington, President Calles of Mexico, hearing of this, sent a personal invitation to Col. Lindbergh to make Mexico City an airport of call on his way to Cuba. The invitation was promptly accepted.

Honored by Congress.

On Dec. 10 Col. Lindbergh appeared in the house of representatives, and amid the roar of the vote of acclamation he heard that body signify its wish that the congressional medal of honor be bestowed on him. The senate soon afterward ratified the action.

On Dec. 28, 1927, Lindbergh landed in Guatemala City after a flight of 675 miles. On Dec. 30 he dropped down on Belize, British Honduras, 250 miles farther on. On Jan. 1, 1928, he was welcomed in San Salvador.

When he left there the same engine and the same plane had carried him 400 hours and 55 minutes of flying time—more than 40,000 miles.

After Col. Lindbergh left South America he flew over the Antilles, stopping at Haiti and Santo Domingo, to Havana.

Gets New Plane.

Lindbergh gave up his famous Spirit of St. Louis in which he made the Atlantic crossing and it was placed in the Smithsonian institute at Washington. He acquired a new plane built by the same company.

In May, 1928, Lindbergh became associated as technical adviser with the Transcontinental Air Transport. Shortly afterwards Col. Lindbergh joined Pan-American Airways as chairman of the technical committee.

In the spring of 1928 Lindbergh varied his program of flights across the country on surveys for an air line with quick trips by air to Mexico City and an occasional trip over the fast-growing Pan-American Airways system, which was following the trail he blazed in the Caribbean and West Indies. In May, 1928, he was married to Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador, Dwight W. Morrow.

WANTED TO BE ALONE

Lindbergh's place in history always will be linked with great triumph and the bitterest of tragedy.

From a private citizen, and an exceedingly independent one, he became a world figure in the space of two days. Except as his prominence could serve aviation, the flyer himself hated the panoply of fame. He has held steadfastly to the belief that he was still a private citizen, with the rights of a private citizen, and one of those rights which he held most important was that of being left alone.

Sought Seclusion in Home.

Especially after his marriage to Miss Morrow, he sought the obscurity of the normal private citizen, and when their first born came into the world on June 22, 1930, Lindbergh started the building of a home in the sparsely inhabited hills above Hopewell, N. J.

When Lindbergh planned a trail-blazing flight to the orient in 1931 Mrs. Lindbergh flew with him. Taking leave of their year old son, who was left in the care of a nurse at North Haven, Me., they flew on July 30 to Ottawa and thence by way of Hudson Bay posts to Point Barrow, Alaska. From this farthest north of American territory they winged their way to Nome and thence to the Siberian coast, then hopped to Japan, landing there on Aug. 26.

Later they crossed to China, arriving when Yangtze river floods were spreading death over wide areas.

On Oct. 5 Mrs. Lindbergh's father died, and the flying couple hurried back to the United States.

The shadow of this death had scarcely had time to lessen when a great tragedy overwhelmed the Lindberghs. On the evening of March 1, 1932, their first born, Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., born June 22, 1930, on Mrs. Lindbergh's 24th birthday, was kidnaped from his nursery in the Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J. A ransom note, left in the room; a ladder leaning against the building, tracks in the muddy ground below, gave clews which brought into play federal and state police agencies, private detectives, and even emissaries of the underworld at sea and ashore. But weeks of intensive search were fruitless.

On May 12, the baby's body was found in a thicket in the Sourland mountain region, less than five miles from the home. Meanwhile he had been mulcted of $50,000 ransom money, paid to pretended agents of the kidnapers. The money was in marked bills and some of it turned up in circulation later. Also Mrs. Evelyn McLean, wealthy Washington friend of the parents, paid $104,000 to Gaston B. Means who posed as a contact man for agents of the kidnapers.

The second Lindbergh son, Jon Morrow Lindbergh, was born on Aug. 16, 1932.

Richard Bruno Hauptmann, a Bronx carpenter, was tried and convicted last spring for the kidnaping and murder. The trial, held at Flemington, N. J., lasted several months. Hauptmann steadily has maintained his innocence, and only a few weeks ago Gov. Hoffman of New Jersey startled the country by admitting that new evidence in the case was being investigated.

Hauptmann's death has been fixed for the week of Jan. 13.

Unless the New Jersey board of pardons grants him a reprieve, he has no hope as the United States Supreme court has refused to hear his plea.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh have flown 31,081 miles and visited 31 countries and colonies together.

Oscar Hewitt Doing Well After Undergoing Knife

FINDS AVERAGE FILIPINO RATES AS UNCIVILIZED

Lives in Hovel and Obeys Political Bosses.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 20.—[By mail.]—The monkeys have no tails in Zamboanga, so the old navy song goes, but it is a scientific fact that some of the men and women do at Baguio. These circumstances, unrelated as they may be, seem significant at first glance and the suggestion is not lost when a visitor travels through the island provinces. Civilization has made no great progress in the Philippines.

Charmingly courteous and hospitable to an embarrassing degree, many Filipinos are by western standards incompetent and helpless. Any Filipino of pure Malay stock improves his line by marriage with a Chinese or Japanese, and one of the most successful business men in Manila, a pillar of society who had a box at President Manuel Quezon's inaugural ball, is an American Negro as black as the proverbial ace of spades. Virtually all the political, social, business and industrial leaders in the islands are Chinese, Japanese, or Spanish mestizos [half breeds].

Easily Stirred by Politicos.

Independencia to the average Filipino is about as clear as the nebular hypothesis but is, nevertheless, desirable because he is an emotional man, easily stirred up by the politicos. He applauds and shouts mabuhay [long life] when the politicos go into panegyrics over independencia, but when it is all over he goes home to his rice paddy and sleeps on a mat in a bamboo hut. He is concerned about such things as drouths and floods and typhoons, but being as tractable as his carrabao, if he is rich enough to own one, he will yell for independencia when he is told to do so.

Within 30 miles of Manila, in the impoverished barrios where the natives live in wretched hovels and put the village idiots in bamboo cages, there are men and women who have never heard of Manuel Quezon, much less Franklin D. Roosevelt. Such conditions may be found all the way from the northern summer resort of Baguio, where the dog-eating Igorrotes may be found with three inch tails, to the southern island of Mindanao, where the red fezzed Moros obey the sultan of Sulu and defy any Filipino to come in and rule them.

Dish of Fish Eyes.

Outside of Manila, where the members of the American congressional junket passed virtually all their time while here for the inauguration of the new commonwealth government, American occupation of the Philippines has left little impress upon the native culture.

The Filipinos receive a visitor with reverential hospitality and insist that he dine with them—on some elaborate dish, the basis of which is fish eyes. They stare in awe at Americans, a habit that gained for them the appellation of "goo goos" from the American soldiers, and strive to emulate Americans. Their idea of emulation, however, is limited more or less to clothes, and it is expressed in foppish getups of outlandish colors.

Education makes them soft and lazy. House boys and chauffeurs holding degrees from the University of the Philippines are common. Being "educated" they refuse to go back to their native barrios, where real labor may be required of them, and choose to work at menial tasks for 15 or 20 pesos a month and a place to sleep.

The Malay mind is not susceptible to western civilization. The natives can memorize what the book says but they can't put this knowledge into practice or arrive at any ideas of their own. A clerk in a store may speak good English and purport to understand you perfectly when you order a certain brand of cigarets, but he will bring some other brand.

Filipino political leaders vehemently deny that the Igorrotes around Baguio still eat dogs, saying this practice was abandoned when Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood closed the public dog market. There is no public dog market there today, but you can still see the natives bringing the dogs into town, where they are purchased clandestinely, fattened, and eaten.

The political situation in the chartered city of Manila may be cited as illustrating the capacity of the Filipinos to govern themselves. The aldermen are elected not by wards but by the total vote of the city, 14,000 votes usually being sufficient for a seat in the council.

There are 7,000 calesa drivers in the city who, with their friends, control enough votes to dominate the council. The city authorities wanted to build the Jones bridge on the Pasit river high enough for the masted oil tankers to go under it, but the calesa drivers protested that their tiny ponies could not climb the approaches. The bridge was built low and the oil companies must use trucks.

The drivers of these calesas, small two wheeled buggylike contraptions operated as taxis, are a tough lot, many of them former convicts. They beat their diminutive native horses unmercifully and frequently rob their customers. The city authorities would like to put them off the streets in favor of automobile taxis, but they don't dare pass such an ordinance.

BATTLE AGAINST LONG MACHINE ON IN LOUISIANA

"Home Rule" Candidate Fights Old Regime.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Louisiana is enlivening the joyous yuletide with a furious cheek to cheek, jowl to jowl battle against the remnants of the Huey P. Long machine in the Democratic primaries Jan. 21, in which the New Deal has an interest.

CLEVELAND DEAR.

A home rule government, headed by Cleveland Dear of Alexandria, a member of congress, who is running for governor, is striving to accomplish what it terms "political regeneration of Louisiana" and "restoration of popular government."

The dictatorship died with the assassination of Senator Long. From the "yes men" who surrounded Long none has emerged so far even as a second string boss of the machine, and the scepter was buried with the Kingfish.

Machine Careens Along.

The machine, however, without a real driver, is careening along under the momentum left by Long and the laws he jammed through the legislature to tighten his powers before his slaying.

The odds at present are that the machine may put its ticket through next month—it has the election machinery all tied up and under its control. Today Candidate Dear emitted a blast that the delay of the state machine in announcing that home rule candidates will be given equal representation at the polls is convincing evidence "that the machine intends to try to steal the election."

Opposing Dear for the governorship is Richard W. Leche, former secretary to Gov. O. K. Allen, now judge on the Court of Appeals. The machine, as part of its campaign, is saying that Long was assassinated through a political plot on the part of some of the home rulers. For fury the struggle is reminiscent of the days of the dead state dictator.

Committee May Watch Voting.

Reports here are that a congressional subcommittee may be on the ground primary day to keep an eye on affairs in view of possible contests later similar to the one against Long a few years back, when it was brought out that the late Kingfish had a ballot box from one outlying precinct brought into New Orleans to let the machine make the count, and its tally showed more votes cast than there was adult population.

The death of Long, most bitter Democratic foe of the New Deal, leaves it patent to the politicians that President Roosevelt should have no trouble in having the Louisiana delegation to the national convention. The attacks of Long have left an impression, according to barbers, bartenders, shopkeepers, and filling station attendants.

But it appears that nothing is quite so dead as a departed dictator with has no successors. And if the machine wins in January, the general belief is it will not seek to stick thorns in Roosevelt at the convention.

Five Get Farley Aid.

Five of Louisiana's eight congressmen refused to travel with Long—Mr. Dear, John N. Sandlin, J. Y. Sanders Jr., Riley Wilson, and Numa Montet—and they are being recognized by the federal government and Postmaster General Farley in such patronage as is left for distribution. No big federal jobs are open, but about 40,000 men, more than half of them colored, are said to be working on WPA projects, and for some reason local politicians naïvely regard this as "patronage" and "jobs for the faithful." Few of the colored men, of course, vote down here.

All told, Roosevelt seems to have less criticism in this state than in Georgia, Alabama, and Florida. But, at that, there is plenty of it.

Business Appears Good.

In New Orleans, among larger business men, much anti-New Deal sentiment is expressed, but among smaller merchants the talk is in the other direction. Business appears to be good in New Orleans, as in Atlanta, Birmingham, Montgomery, Jacksonville, and Pensacola, compared with one and two years ago. The easy money is flowing into the stores, while buyers complain of the higher prices.

Louisiana has paid 10 million dollars in processing and related taxes, and dragged down nearly 18 million dollars in AAA rental and benefit payments up to Sept. 30. So it is getting more than it puts in, which seems to temper criticism.

The one remark the observer hears among larger business is—"if only the New Deal would now let business alone, things would jump."

The "share the wealth, every man a king" clubs of the late Kingfish appear to be blowing up despite the blandishments of the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, Candidate Dear and the home rulers are treating the subject with ridicule and the town is beginning to laugh.

The Townsendites, who apperently saw their $200 a month pipe dream could not compete with the late Kingfish's bigger and better promises, have not opened up in Louisiana to any extent, and the state machine still is peddling the "share the wealth" stuff.

"Gov. [Olly] Oscar Allen says the state cannot pay old age pensions such as are being paid by 37 other states," said Mr. Dear.

"These candidates of the state machine, who are going about the state promising to give the people $5,000, a home, an automobile, a radio, and a mule are the same men who say Louisiana cannot pay an old age pension of $30 a month. What brazen effrontery by the machine!"

Allen on Machine Ticket.

Gov. Allen is running on the machine ticket for the Huey Long vacancy in the senate. Against him is Frank Looney, home ruler of Shreveport. For the long term in the senate the home rulers are running Representative John N. Sandlin against the machine candidate, Allen J. Ellender, speaker of the house. Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey, is the machine candidate for lieutenant governor against Clement W. Moss, a state senator.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, who got into an imbroglio with Huey Long, is backing the home rule movement and is working to build up the Roosevelt Democratic organization. The home rulers are charging that the machine ticket has an alliance with the night life.

"An attempt is being made," said Candidate Dear today, "to make Bob Maestri the ruler of our state. I am convinced the people will not vote for candidates selected and controled by this boss of the professional gamblers of New Orleans, St. Bernard, and Jefferson parishes."

But as to the result Jan. 21 ordinary men on the street shake the head and remark that the control of election machinery by the state machine is worth 50,000 votes or more at the kickoff.

It pays to say—

Only then will you be sure of getting the original perfectly blended Scotch—the height of good taste in whisky. And since it costs no more than the ordinary kind —it pays to say "Black & White"

BEER in CAP SEALED CANS

In town after town, wherever beer in this new-type can goes on sale, the story is the same. Everybody loves it . . . says the beer tastes much better.

You'll say so too. And no wonder. For beer in a Cap Sealed Can retains every bit of flavor that the brewer puts into it. None of the original goodness is lost.

There are three reasons for this: The Cap Sealed Can has a special lining that is to metal what beer barrel lining is to wood. The can permits faster pasteurization. And it protects the beer from harmful effects of flavor-robbing light—permanently.

The Cap Sealed Can opens like a bottle . . . has a shape that simplifies pouring . . . makes it easy to drink right from the can. And the beer never touches the outside of the can in opening or pouring.

You have no deposit to pay, no empties to return with Cap Sealed Cans. They cool in a jiffy, take up little icebox space and hold 12 fluid ounces, same as a bottle.

If you haven't tried beer in this improved can, you're missing something. Why not have a few cans sent home today?

G. O. P. CONTEST FOR NOMINATION IS WARMING UP

Borah Is Drawing Fire of East's Conservatives.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—With the Borah candidacy drawing the fire of eastern conservatives and Gov. Alf Landon's candidacy gaining great headway in the east, the contest over the Republican nomination for President is warming up.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho tossed his sombrero into the ring in a statement announcing that he would enter the presidential primaries in all states in which such action would further the interests of Republican liberals. He has already consented to enter the Wisconsin primary.

The immediate effect was to elicit multitudinous assurances of support of the senator from all parts of the country but more particularly the west. Mr. Borah has been snowed under in the last few days with letters and telegrams from leaders of the liberal element of the party urging him to assume the leadership in the delegate contests in numerous states.

New York Backers Busy.

In New York state the organization of the Borah forces is already under way under the leadership of Congressman Hamilton Fish and W. Kingsland Macy, who was ousted by the Old Guard from the chairmanship of the Republican state committee last year. In Massachusetts Robert Washburn, an old friend of the senator, announced that a Borah ticket would be entered in the primary.

Eastern conservatives, however, did not conceal their antagonism to the senator who is warring on the eastern leadership of the party and who espouses monetary theories deemed unsound in eastern financial centers. Melvin C. Eaton, chairman of the Republican state committee of New York, took his stand firmly for an uninstructed delegation and indicated that he is opposed to Borah.

The anti-Borah Republicans in the east were quick to seize upon his support of the Roosevelt silver policy as the basis of opposition to the candidacy of Senator Borah. The collapse of the silver market in the last ten days as a result of the withdrawal of the American government from the market has directed attention anew to the question of the soundness and the enormous cost of the Roosevelt policy of purchasing a sufficient amount of silver to constitute one-fourth of the monetary stock of the country.

Borah for Silver Purchase.

Senator Borah was an influential advocate of the silver purchase scheme and its fate presumably will react upon his candidacy, whether favorably or unfavorably. As a member of the senate silver bloc he was active in pressing upon the administration the demands to "do something for silver" to which the President eventually capitulated. He declined today to answer the attack upon him on the score of his support of the silver purchase policy.

As a matter of fact, silver is not the only phase of monetary policy upon which the Idaho senator parts company with the conservatives. Mr. Borah, for example, holds that a fixed gold standard is never going to be restored because the British, in his opinion, are opposed to it and intend to remain on a managed currency basis.

What Americans must learn, he contends, is to manage their currency as the British do. Once the country is committed definitely to a managed currency the metallic base becomes inconsequential, as the senator views it, and it will make no difference whether he or anybody else ever stood for the purchase or free coinage of silver.

Landon Sound Money Man.

Because of eastern opposition to Senator Borah's monetary theories no little significance attaches to the evidence in this region of increased interest in the candidacy of Gov. Landon of Kansas. Landon is an orthodox sound money man and has condemned in no uncertain terms the Roosevelt tinkering with the currency. He favors the restoration of a fixed gold standard. As a sound money man he has commended himself strongly to the eastern conservatives, as was abundantly indicated by the views of eastern leaders attending the meeting of the Republican national committee last week.

Frank Knox of Illinois is also opposed to the silver purchase scheme and other Roosevelt monetary tinkering and for this and other reasons has won considerable support in the east, particularly in New England in which he owns an influential newspaper. But as between Knox and Landon many of the eastern leaders made no bones of preferring the latter on the score of political strategy alone.

Turn to Gov. Landon.

They are proceeding on the theory that strategy calls for the nomination of a western Republican to combat Mr. Roosevelt in the farm region in which he is strongest and in Gov. Landon they think they perceive a sound money candidate who presumably would be able to carry Kansas and other states in the corn and wheat belt without which the President could scarcely expect to be reelected.

Outside of former Postmaster General Walter Brown, who is national committeeman for Ohio, and Mark Requa, national committeeman for California, there were no leaders of consequence at the meeting last week who favor the renomination of Mr. Hoover. And the Ohio state committee has declared against Mr. Hoover, an unprecedented proceeding.

Rumblings in Maryland.

In Maryland there were rumblings which were not encouraging to the Borah candidacy—if the Idaho senator makes an active bid for the nomination. The Maryland delegation, unless the preferential primary upsets the plan, will go to the convention instructed for Gov. Harry W. Nice. But prominent Republicans in the state say that after voting for the "favorite son" candidate, Gov. Nice, the Maryland delegation will swing to Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas. Maryland's preferential presidential primary takes place May 4.

Members of congress from the west, however, who have arrived in advance of the opening of the session, Jan. 3, were inclined strongly to give support to the Borah boom. They did not take much stock in the criticisms of the Idaho senator because he had supported silver legislation. They insisted that if the Republican national convention wrote a platform declaring for sound money as it is expected to do, and Senator Borah were nominated, there would be nothing for any one to fear. Borah would follow the platform, they predicted.

Senator Johnson of California, who has just returned to Washington from the west, was unwilling to comment on political matters, or candidacies. In 1932 he supported President Roosevelt.

HAMMOND MAN'S SWEDISH BIBLE IS 317 YEARS OLD

Gustav H. Swanson, 5933 Park place, Hammond, disclosed yesterday he had in his possession a 317 year old Bible which was printed by Olaff Gioffson in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1618. The Bible, printed in the Swedish language, weighs nearly ten pounds.

The Bible contains both the Old and New Testaments and has in it several maps of old European countries, as well as pictures depicting Bible stories. Mr. Swanson said he could read, with some difficulty, the old Swedish language of this Bible.

He told of obtaining the book from an old boyhood friend, Albin Anderson, in whose family the volume had been for many years, when he visited his birthplace, Halland, Sweden, in 1910.

YES, IT'S SORT OF ELDERLY

...A tastier, different type of whiskey—with a flavor that wins the friendship of all who try it. There are other whiskies aged as long. But there is no other whiskey like HIRAM WALKER'S "Canadian Club." It is a special, different type—neither rye nor Scotch nor bourbon—a gentle, light-bodied, very smooth-flavored whiskey that delights the taste, no matter which your favorite type now is. That is why "Canadian Club" Straight Whiskey, bottled in bond in Canada at the age of 6 years, is such a sure-to-please Christmas gift.

HERE'S A HIGHBALL WHISKEY IF EVER THERE WAS ONE

Forget its low price and put HIRAM WALKER'S Twin Seal Straight Whiskey to the highball test. It is a whiskey that doesn't have to hide behind cocktail flavorings. That, of course, makes it all the better for any sort of drink. Twin Seal is a low-priced gift that passes the high-priced whiskey test.

READER, WE LEAVE IT TO YOU

And we'll tell you only this . . .

The flavor of a whiskey—its bouquet, its "feel" and its aftertaste—these are the essential factors that tell whiskey quality. And so, in offering you HIRAM WALKER'S De Luxe Straight Bourbon Whiskey, Bottled in Bond under Canadian Government Supervision, we simply invite you to judge it against the very best whiskey you ever tasted. Please judge this 6-year-old whiskey critically, skeptically, uninfluenced by words or claims. It is taste—not claims—that tells whiskey quality.

THE CHOICE OF THE CHOOSEY

Smart shoppers who look around them before buying invariably cast a desiring eye upon Hiram Walker's Royal Oak, for here is a satisfying straight whiskey that comes in under the wire of anybody's budget. Yet it tastes like a gift in the grand style. One of the three or four most popular straight whiskies on the American market.

IT's a grand old holiday drink if it's made right—and to make sure of that, do this:

For each glassful, mix the yolk of one egg with 1 jigger of HIRAM WALKER'S Rye or Bourbon Whiskey. Beat the whites of the eggs until partly stiff and add to the mixture. Add sugar and milk to taste. Stir well and, after pouring, sprinkle a dash of nutmeg on top.

WE SAY THIS GIN IS ALWAYS THE SAME!

And now we'll tell you why . . .

Our gin is made by distilling juniper berries, sweet orange peel, coriander seed and other flavors with grain spirits. For the first time in the history of gin distilling, the way has been found to control these flavorings. It is a HIRAM WALKER secret. That is why, when you stick to a good recipe and HIRAM WALKER'S Distilled London Dry Gin, your cocktails are smooth and good always, instead of just once in a while.

O. E. CARLSTROM IN G. O. P. RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Third to Announce; Small Forces Pleased.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Oscar E. Carlstrom, former attorney general of Illinois, announced his candidacy yesterday for the Republican nomination for governor. His declaration was looked upon as direct encouragement to Len Small since it comes in the face of increasing activity on the part of the former governor, whose old adherents admit he is praying for a multiplicity of candidates who will split up the anti-Small vote and let him win the nomination by a minority vote.

OSCAR E. CARLSTROM.

Other aspirants have been holding off in the belief this sort of development might be avoided by some kind of political miracle which would keep most of the anti-Small forces united.

Case of Sheep Through a Fence.

With Carlstrom having made the break, some of those of admittedly secondary strength will be expected to follow suit, building up a big field exactly to Small's liking.

That Small is at least slightly pleased with the outlook as it now appears was established by a brief interview with Werner W. Schroeder, a Chicago attorney, who is considered as sharing the former governor's confidence as much as any relative.

In his college days, Schroeder was a protégé of Small's. He acted as Small's legal adviser at Springfield, was one of his attorneys in the criminal prosecution at Waukegan, and was his chief counsel in the civil proceedings which forced Small to surrender $650,000 to the state.

"It looks very much," said Shroeder when he was asked about the situation, "as if Gov. Small would announce his candidacy about the middle of January."

Lining Up Organization Here.

In reply to other questions, Schroeder admitted he had been interviewing Chicago Republican ward committeemen and others for the purpose of lining them up with Small. It is known that in instances in which ward committeemen have been cold, advances have been made to others who were asked to take up the Small campaign in those wards if the former governor runs.

Two other men already have declared their candidacies for the governorship. State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield announced himself last fall with no public reservations. John G. Oglesby of Elkhart, former lieutenant-governor, said on Nov. 8 he would run "barring" an agreed ticket satisfactory to all."

It has been believed generally for several weeks that Otis F. Glenn of Murphysboro and Chicago, former United States senator, will run for governor.

Other Likely Aspirants.

Others who have been considering running in the April primary are C. Wayland Brooks, H. Wallace Caldwell and Elmer J. Schnackenberg, all of Chicago; J. Paul Kuhn of Batavia, Jesse R. Brown of Edwardsville, Leroy M. Green of Rockford, Cornelius J. Doyle of Springfield, Walter J. Provine of Taylorville and George A. Barr of Joliet.

Carlstrom is not considered of any greater personal strength than some of these possibilities.

"Mexico Sees No Threat from Calles," Cardenas Declares

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 22.—(AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas told 80,000 wildly cheering workers today that Mexico's government, supported by its army and solid masses of workers and peasants, sees no threat to its program or to the nation in the presence of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles.

In unprecedented numbers the workers massed in front of the National palace to demand Calles' expulsion from Mexico, but Cardenas told them that was unnecessary.

"Calles No Problem."

"Gen. Calles presents no problem to the government," the president said. "He attempted, through a statement in the American press, to gain the sympathy of that people and the intervention of that government.

"But the American government will not intervene in Mexico. It knows that Calles came back and is attempting to form a political party solely to protect him and his own interests."

While Calles played golf at the Mexican country club, Cardenas revealed the government would confiscate one of the former president's haciendas and divide the proceeds among farmers. Mexico, he said, has "put an end to the exploitation of the nation's wealth by Calles' friends."

Before Cardenas spoke, the workers had paraded through heavily guarded streets, carrying derisive banners and cartoons of the one-time dictator.

400 Troops Guard Home.

Four hundred soldiers guarded Calles' home and police armed with bayonets and rifles patroled the main streets.

Cardenas addressed a warning to the people "not to believe what Calles said in announcing the formation of a political party which is designed only for the protection of created interests." He declared Calles and his group "have completed their historical mission and have given the Mexican people what they wanted to give."

Two Boys Come Long Way to Rob 21 Taverns Here

William O'Brien, 21 years old, who says his home is in Seattle, and Rudolph Navaro, 23 years old, who hails from Texas, were identified at the police showup yesterday as the two bandits who got $107 in the holdup of a tavern at 2700 Archer avenue a week ago. After this identification the two confessed robbing 21 taverns in various parts of the city in the last month. They took police to the viaduct at Roosevelt road and Canal street, where their pistols were hidden.

BORAH PARTISANS PICK DELEGATES FOR CONVENTION

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Following up their recent statement in behalf of United States Senator William E. Borah, State Senator Philip Nelson of Superior and former State Senator Ben Gettelman, Milwaukee, tonight announced a full slate of Borah for president delegates will be completed shortly. Publication of the slate, Mr. Gettelman added, will be accompanied by Senator Borah's endorsement.

Entrance of Senator Borah as a candidate for Wisconsin delegates to the Republican convention in Cleveland was announced after Mr. Gettelman and Senator Nelson had gone to Washington last week to interview the Idaho senator.

"Since our first Borah statement inquiries as to what is going to happen next have come to us from all parts of the state," said Mr. Gettelman. "All we can say now is that there will be a full slate of Borah delegates."

SENATOR BORAH AS A CANDIDATE.

Senator Borah is a candidate, in a way, for the Republican nomination for President. That has been more or less indicated for some time, but it lacked the senator's forthright statement. He is a candidate of a sort because he says that he is more committed to an idea than to any person, even himself. Mr. Borah is a liberal. He will lend his support to whatever will make the Republican national convention an assemblage of liberal delegates, insure that their nominee is a liberal, and give him a liberal platform.

In spite of various things which are not regarded as particularly advantageous for a candidate, such as citizenship in a small western state, and age, which in the senator's case has brought much ripened experience without physical limitations, Mr. Borah has been leading in preliminary polls of sentiment and preference. He is the most distinguished figure in the United States senate, its most eloquent public speaker, most respected by an opponent in debate, and his long career of service contains many exceptionally valuable contributions to the welfare of the country.

If one cannot agree with Senator Borah in all positions he has taken, that is only saying what may be said of most men in public life. Men who commit themselves to what the senator calls the liberal tendencies of political action infrequently bring to their advocacy of public measures as much respect for the fundamental law of the land as Senator Borah does. He has remained in the turmoil of New Deal revolutionizing one of the chief defenders of the American form of government as it has so usefully served its purpose.

Although the senator has not been a diehard opponent of everything the New Deal proposed, he is, and probably because he seems to discriminate, one of its most effective critics. He was opposed to the NRA because of its monopolistic features. He was opposed to the breach of faith in the repudiation of the gold clause and to the seizure of the gold itself. On occasions when the rights and privileges of the country needed a defender he has been at the front with the formidable weapon of his eloquence.

In such times as these Mr. Borah has been a great and in many respects useful influence in the affairs of his country and his party. This has been true also in times past as, for instance, when Mr. Wilson was seeking to put the United States in the league of nations and Borah was one of the minority in the senate willing to risk the manifest dangers of thwarting that powerful and determined President.

Some time soon the term liberal must be subjected to careful analysis. It is a facile, catchy phrase, the meaning of which is vague and open to careless use. There is too much assumption of worth in the attribute of political liberalism unless a bill of particulars goes along with it. If Mr. Borah is a candidate more must be known along certain lines in which he has revealed, shall we say, eccentric ideas. For instance, is any part of Townsendism a test of liberality? Mr. Borah is a silver man. The persistence of the silver senators and their success in their partisan cause has put the American treasury in an absurd position and the currency systems of many countries in peril. He was a prohibitionist in an episode now closed.

No Republican can ignore Mr. Borah's long period of service in the party. Unlike Norris, another so-called liberal, he has not used the party name to fight the party principles. Unlike other men who could be named he has not used the party organization to advance his own selfish interests. His candidacy, in which he puts considerations of public good above his personal ambition, is a model for others.

WHERE KIDNAPING FLOURISHES.

The kidnaping of Caleb Milne IV. from an apartment in New York must be regarded as a commentary on the desire and capacity of the government of New York City to protect its citizens.

The kidnaper is a criminal by choice. Generally he is professional. He therefore chooses as his scene of operation a community where the police are incompetent or in league with criminals. A city in which a kidnaping takes place is itself suspect. In the absence of evidence to the contrary it may be assumed to be a place where professional criminals feel that they have nothing to fear because they have powerful friends in the agencies of law enforcement.

Recent exposures of the freedom with which racketeers levy tribute in New York suggest all too plainly that the police are in league with them. Racketeers who flourish on extortion and regard murder as part of the day's work are the material from which kidnapers are recruited. If they are protected in extortion and murder they will not hesitate to venture into kidnaping, for the risk is no greater and the expected profits are very large.

CONGRATULATING THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

Probably the commonest cause of the 6,124 bank failures which occurred between 1929 and 1933 was frozen loans. These were advances which did not thaw out and become liquid at maturity. In a very large number of cases the presidents of the banks which succumbed knew that such loans were full of hazards, but they were unable to say no to the borrowers because the latter were large stockholders or directors. The borrowers controled the lenders and were able virtually to help themselves to the funds. When the depositors in large numbers asked for their money banks first liquidated what they could and then closed their doors with large quantities of frozen paper in their vaults.

Under the New Deal the largest stockholder in 7,000 banks is the government. During the last two and one-half years it has persuaded a large number of banks to sell it preferred stock which has given the government practical control. The government has used its power in exactly the same way as unscrupulous large stockholders in the past used theirs—namely, to borrow the banks' money with no intention of paying it off when it became due. The scale of the government's borrowing makes a piker out of any previous raider of the people's savings. To take a concrete example: In December, 1933, the First National Bank of Chicago announced that it was selling 25 million dollars of preferred stock to the government. In its statement published at the end of 1933 the First National bank reported that the government was indebted to it to the extent of $82,688,500. That was in itself a sum many times larger than the government permits the bank to loan to any other single customer. But to that sound rule the government has exempted itself. In the two years that the government has been a stockholder of the First National bank, drawing dividends regularly, it has not used them and other funds to repay its heavy obligations. On the contrary, a recent report of the bank showed that in the period in which the government was a controling stockholder the government had not paid off a cent of its already excessive borrowings but had increased them by the astounding sum of $191,257,273. And the government gives no evidence of either intention or capacity to retire any part of these loans or of ceasing to increase them. Under the circumstances the step which the First National bank has just taken is of the greatest importance. Within the next few days the stock interest of the bank's largest stockholder and most rapacious borrower is to be reduced from 25 million to 15 million. The bank is to accomplish this by buying back 10 million dollars of stock previously sold to the government. This will bring the government's voting power down to 37½ per cent of the total. The First National bank is to be congratulated for taking this first step toward buying back its freedom from control by its biggest debtor. Other banks whose funds are being swallowed up in frozen government loans cannot too soon follow the lead of this great Chicago bank.

OUT OF THE DARK AND INTO THE LIGHT.

The winter solstice, the farthest south, has been passed. The shortest day has punched the time clock and the year again begins to crawl out of the depression. Driving south you have been driving into the full face of the sun. It's on its way north again. The year has been going down into the valley. It starts uphill to put 1936 on the upward stretch. You can't keep a good man down.

Many people respond spiritually to the ups and downs of the year. When they have passed the last downward marker they throw up their heads. They have been seeing the loose stones under foot roll ahead of them, evidence of a declining stride. Now the hill's ahead and up. At the top is another spring, tra-la and O boy. Out of the fog and into the sunlight.

Editorial of the Day

UNFAIR AND UNTRUE.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

One of the departures of the New Deal which has received widespread support has been the Federal Housing administration. It was created to serve a very definite and worthy purpose, and by and large it has done a good job.

However, in a recent booklet issued by the FHA a certain statement stands out vividly as both unfair and untrue. It is a comment pertaining to the new single mortgage system made available by the FHA as a substitute for the "old method [which was, in effect, a device for taking homes away from the people] . . ."

Such a view is born of complete ignorance or vicious bias. It implies that mortgage holders, banks, building and loan corporations, and private creditors have used the mortgage system to bilk the people. No greater misconception of fact is imaginable. Evictions during the recent distressing years have been the exception rather than the rule. Unusual leniency has been demonstrated by mortgage holders. And homeowners, in most instances, have been given more than a fair deal. There have been instances, true enough, when greed was foremost, but these have not been common. And in many cases when pressure was applied by certain commercial interests, such as banks, it was done at the insistence of the agencies of the same government which created the FHA. The purpose of mortgage loans has been to earn interest, just as in other types of loaning. The hope and efforts have always been toward obtaining payment, not foreclosure.

The FHA statement casting aspersions upon the very agencies which have coöperated in seeking to make its program a success—and even the FHA agrees that these agencies have coöperated—is an ugly gesture. It may well be that the statement is traceable to some FHA publicity agent overanxious to sell the new plan, but whatever its source it must be retracted if the present conception of the FHA as a worthy recovery medium is to continue. Such misstatements of fact and evidences of unfairness are not conducive to coöperation, a necessary prerequisite of FHA success.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

I Get a Spud for Christmas

(But only after much travail and sorrow.)

I have received a large potato, all packed in a beautiful box in cotton and tied with gay Christmas ribbons, and a picture of dear old Santa Claus himself pasted on the lid. Potatoes have soared so in price and the government says they have to be stamped and taxed so much and so restricted in output that I despaired of dining on a potato at Christmas time. The only chance I could see of getting one was to hunt up some potatoleggер and buy a spud the same way I used to buy a bottle of hootch during the late dry spell. But I mentioned my woes aloud and in print and I will cheerfully testify that it pays to advertise. I got the potato.

But oh, the woe that fell upon Honest John the Gogetter who sent me this beautiful and costly present. In a hurriedly scribbled note he left with the potato down in the hall he briefly sketched what he had undergone in order to get me the Christmas gift I craved. It seems he has been saving for weeks to buy that potato. Every day he would walk out of his way to pass the grocery shop window where the potato was displayed. He wasn't so afraid that somebody might buy it; it was too expensive for most people to purchase lightly. But Honest John feared that robbers would crash the glass at night and steal the potato and carry it away. The groceryman thought so, too, so every night he put the big, beautiful potato in his safe and on Saturday sent it down to the bank to be kept in his storage box. Finally Honest John saved up enough money and bought the potato. He said he tried to be very secret in the transaction, but he saw evil faces watching him from the sidewalk. Anyhow, after the potato was nicely packed and wrapped up Honest John put it in his pocket and sauntered carelessly away so as not to betray the fact that he had the precious treasure on his person.

But inside of two blocks two men wearing black masks over their wicked faces jumped out at him and leveled a shotgun and a pistol at his head.

"Your potato or your life!" shouted one of the men as he took a vicious poke at Honest John's nose. But Honest John had saved and scrimped too long to give up the priceless potato so easily. Kicking one of the bandits in the shin and deftly butting the other over with his head, he sped down the alley. He ran a block and was congratulating himself on his lucky escape when four men in an automobile drove up beside him on the pavement and roared, "Hand over that potato or you're a dead man."

They opened fire on him with machine guns, but he dodged away in a storm of bullets and, reaching Michigan avenue, found a policeman. He begged the policeman to escort him on the rest of his journey.

"Lissen, brother," said the policeman; "I gotta wife and three kids. I hain't a going to throw away my life that way." But he kindly went to the police box and called the patrol wagon, which arrived with six policemen aboard, all armed with rifles, shotguns, automatics, and tear gas bombs. With this escort Honest John and the potato arrived safely at my door and left the Christmas potato.

But a policeman still stands watch at both my front and back door night and day. A desperate gang of potatonappers may attempt a raid at any time. I do wish Christmas would hurry so that I could eat my Christmas present and end all the anxiety and worry.

FABLE.

I found him on a sunny hill,
Asleep, and smiling in his dream.
My footstep was much softer than
The quarreling birds or singing stream.

I called to him, he did not hear,
I touched him, and he did not wake;
I laid my heart beside him but
So cautiously it did not break.

He did not stir, he did not guess;
I took back what I did not dare
To leave, and when at last he woke,
He never knew I had been there.

RELIEF FROM MIGRAINE.

ENOUGH has been written about migraine [sick headache] to fill a thirty volume encyclopedia. The very mass of the material is a clear indication of the unsatisfactory state of our knowledge.

Victims of severe migraine are certainly to be pitied. They suffer indescribable torture with headache that is prostrating in character. With some it lasts but a day; with others three or four days. It may appear at irregular intervals, although it is usually fairly regular in its occurrence. Attacks have a habit of coming just when the patient wants to be at his best. Between the paroxysms the patient may be perfectly normal, without a sign of disease, yet when the symptoms appear they overwhelm him regardless of his physical strength.

As a rule intense pain is felt on one side of the head. Nausea and vomiting occur in a large majority of cases. Complete emptying of the gastrointestinal tract, however, does not cure the condition. There are many nervous symptoms, such as collapse, marked pallor, sweating, a cold skin, and even dizziness. Many patients complain of disturbances of vision, such as blurring of the eyesight, or balls of light, sometimes brilliantly colored. Numbness of the tongue, face, and hands is not uncommon. Occasionally cramps or spasms of the muscles of the affected side are experienced and in a few instances there may be confusion or great mental depression. More often than not the symptoms will appear on rising in the morning, and the battle is on. In many cases if a sound sleep can be wooed the trouble is over. In but few sufferers will the attack last beyond an eight hour period of restful, natural sleep.

The question is often asked, "Are the symptoms of migraine really understood?" There is a modern battleground of medical thought on the subject, and the consensus appears to be that we have not as yet identified the responsible factors.

How much does migraine depend upon some food to which the patient is sensitive, or an allergic protein which he is absorbing? Vaughan reports that 70 per cent of cases of paroxysmal headaches are associated with allergy, and relief was reported, when an offending substance could be eliminated, in about half of his cases. It would seem, however, that while food may be an exciting agent; that is, it may press the trigger after the gun is loaded and aimed, it is not the fundamental cause. Though this or that food has been blamed, nothing of value has come out of the food investigation except the recommendation that sugars and starches be reduced.

Eye strain has been blamed, but again this cause, while no doubt influencing a few cases, has been shown to have no effect in others.

Is migraine a brain disease? Certainly not, as we understand brain tumors or destruction of brain tissue, but it may be that a certain stimulus within the nervous system sets off the train of symptoms.

Within recent years the use of ergotamine tartrate has been followed in many cases by dramatic results. It cannot be relied upon to remedy the cause, but it is helpful in bringing about relief of symptoms. Physicians administer the drug either directly into the circulation or by injection under the skin. Apparently the effect is to decrease the activity of the sympathetic nervous system and, strangely enough, it has no effect on headaches that are not migrainous in character.

A year or more ago some clinical reports on the use of chondroitin [prepared from cartilage] showed that from 40 to 60 per cent of those taking this substance regularly were free from attacks during the period of its continuous administration. A few of these patients have been observed for nearly two years. The significant fact, however, is that unless chondroitin is used regularly the illness recurs.

We may look upon migraine as a disease of nervous origin with a strong hereditary background. While relief may be secured as noted above, yet good hygiene and the avoidance of nervous strain, overwork, and fatigue [the simple life] are indicated.

ITCHING EARS.

E. D. T. writes: For some time my ears have been itching. One doctor said I had weeping eczema and gave me a salve, but the itch continues. Another doctor said not to use any water in the ears, but to use iodine or alcohol. What do you think causes the condition and can it be cured?

REPLY.

The condition may be due to an infection of the external ear canal by a plant fungus [ringworm] lodged there by dust or by soiled fingers. Whenever the irritation caused by the growing plants becomes great enough, pus producing bacteria usually follow. Both iodine and alcohol retard the growth of all molds. The ear should be first cleansed with a cotton swab that has been saturated with some mild antiseptic, such as hydrogen peroxide. A weak iodine solution may be allowed to remain for 24 hours and re-applied as often as may be necessary.

ACNE.

J. G. G. writes:

1. Is acne a skin or a blood disease?
2. What kind of treatment would you suggest?

REPLY.

1. Acne is a chronic inflammatory disease of the skin.

2. Fats should be reduced and starches and sweets eliminated so far as possible. Fried and highly seasoned foods, alcohol, and tobacco should also be excluded. If constipation is present it should be corrected. Proper bathing is also an important factor, but extremely hot baths are to be avoided. Outdoor exercise and fresh air are beneficial. If ordinary hygienic measures do not suffice it may be necessary to consult a dermatologist.

We have a little booklet on acne that you can get by sending 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Father left 320 acres of land to two sons for life. After their death the land was bequeathed to their children and then to their children. 2. In accordance with English law A claims the land can be sold after 21 years and that the English law has been repealed. B claims the law is still in force and land can be held in the family for a number of years. This is a question of law which the average man cannot answer. Kindly answer in your paper.

C. R. D.

1. The will may violate the rule against perpetuities. We would not undertake to advise without having the wording before us.
2. We do not understand what you mean by this expression.

PROBATE NECESSARY.

Maywood, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A brother was found dead, leaving three sisters and two brothers. He had two pieces of real estate in two different Illinois counties and a small amount of personal property. In order to settle this estate [1] would it have to be probated? 2. Could it be handled from Cook county, the expense involved to be taken from the final settlement? Or would they have to put a judgment against the property? 3. If the family all agree could they sign it all over to one of them and then sell and settle with the rest of them? There was no will. Most of the expense was for funeral, traveling and small miscellaneous items.

L. H.

1. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a merchantable title to the real estate.
2. If he resided here at the time of his death, yes.
3. Yes, subject to the foregoing answers.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

OUTDOOR LOUD SPEAKER.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a café located on Western avenue near our home which has a loud speaker on the outside of the building to attract patrons. The management turns this on about 11 o'clock and has it going until 4 and 5 o'clock in the morning, making it almost impossible for the people of the neighborhood to get any sleep. Is there anything we can do to put a stop to this?

H. G.

Police assigned to investigate this complaint report that they interviewed the owner of the café in question and he disconnected the loud speaker on the outside of the café and promised that it will not be used in the future. There will be no further cause for complaint.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia.—Many successes have marked the activities of the agents of the Moscow Communist International in America during the last year, according to a member of the Comintern executive committee [IKKI]. He has written a report published in the Trud, official soviet trade union newspaper, discussing Red activities during the recent congress of the American Federation of Labor in Atlantic City.

Following instructions issued by the IKKI, American communists have concentrated their revolutionary activities in the southern states among the Negroes and white workers, especially tenant farmers and farm hands. In the middle west and east the Reds are making strong efforts to organize communist "cells" among workers employed in industrial plants manufacturing munitions and supplying the war and navy departments.

The IKKI still considers that insufficient attention is being paid to distribution of propaganda among farmers and has instructed its American branch to make greater efforts to help organize the farmers into a class conscious group during the coming year.

"During the federation congress many speeches were made by our agents who succeeded in obtaining the attention and support of the other delegates," reports the Trud. "The cry of 'He is a Red' no longer proved sufficient to deny a speaker the floor. This year the congress was more radical minded than before. The delegates even applauded communists knowing their daily efforts in promoting class warfare and their leadership of the workers proved them worthy of trust.

"The communists attained a signal victory, since this year, for the first time, many protests were heard from noncommunist delegates against the burocratic leadership of the A. F. of L. The congress further revealed that the federation has developed a fighting spirit among its 3,000,000 members, and this is of largest importance to us, since it gives us an opportunity to sharpen the class conflict and strengthen the communist party in America.

"Even the federation leaders were obliged to be more radical in their speeches and used some of our left slogans to strengthen their control.

"At present the economic situation of the United States may be characterized by the phrase: 'Twelve million unemployed with no possibility of earning their living in the richest country in the world.' The fact that almost one-third of American workers are without work makes the formation of a political workers' party easy and promises many successes, at the same time giving the communists a special opportunity to obtain the leadership of the working class."

The Communist International is bitter against the A. F. of L. leader, William Green, for opposing the formation of a workers' party. The Moscow organization claims that 75 per cent of the members of the federation favor the organization of such a party and it orders its American agents to develop even stronger opposition against Green and his supporters in campaigning for the entry of the trade unions and workers into the political field. The Trud continued:

"For the first time in the history of the A. F. of L. youthful Red delegates were permitted to make speeches about the touchy question of the future of American youth, which is one of the strongest talking points of the communists. They urged the federation to make plans to quickly organize the youth, especially the unemployed, into a class conscious proletarian organization before they fall under the influence of patriotic and Fascist ideas and join organizations and societies opposed to a revolutionary program. These speeches were warmly applauded."

IMPOSSIBLE.

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 20.—The attempts at ridicule of the Townsend pension plan are so raw they are childish.

"It can't be done," they say. "Impossible."

If you are a true American you will not admit that there is anything that "can't be done."

Every great improvement in the last hundred years has met the same objections.

Twenty million voters are going to force a trial of the Townsend pension plan.

If improvements in labor saving machinery are a good thing, this is the way to get the benefits for all. G. L. GRAY.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN ANALYZED.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—The amazing amount of misinformation relative to the Townsend plan prevalent today is well reflected in Mr. Robert Lawson's letter which appeared in your paper of the 17th.

Mr. Lawson gives the hypothetical case of a man earning $5,000 per year for a forty year term, from his 20th to his 60th year. He then states that such a person would have contributed $100 per year, or $4,000 in all, on the basis of a 2 per cent Townsend tax, assuming that all income was used. He falls into the common error of so many opponents of this plan of confusing a sales tax and a transaction tax, upon which latter type of tax the Townsend plan is based. A 2 per cent sales tax would never give enough revenue to pay a pension of $200 to all citizens of the United States who are over 60 years of age and who apply for this aid, a number totaling about eight million according to Townsend backers.

The fact of the matter is that such a transaction tax would give sufficient income to take care of this pension, but each and every one of us would contribute not 2 per cent of our incomes but anywhere from 15 to 50 per cent, depending on type of purchases made. Taking as an example an automobile, we find that the raw materials and finished parts move through scores of different hands until united into a single completed unit. Each of these separate transactions would bear this 2 per cent tax, making a car in the thousand dollar class cost as much as fifteen hundred dollars. Therefore it can be clearly seen that the purchaser of such an item as well as most other items pays no 2 per cent sales tax, such as Mr. Lawson believes, but a transaction tax added by every hand through which it moves, totaling as much as 50 per cent.

Our complex economic system is not based on a single transaction of goods between producer and consumer: Each item moves through many hands and many 2 per cent taxes would add to a staggering sum before the ultimate consumer was reached. In these days of $55 per month WPA workers, underpaid mill hands, factory workers, common laborers and others on a small income, this tremendous tax added to our already huge burden would drive all down to the level of Chinese coolie living conditions. This Townsend plan proposes that the rank and file, the great mass of the American people, be deprived of even the decent necessities of life so that a comparatively small group may better their living standard. No more visionary, misleading and vicious plan has ever been brought before an already befuddled public.

THEODORE D. EHRLICH.

THE OLD AGE PENSION.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—My, what a joke this old age pension bill has turned out to be. Why do they take advantage of a bad situation if they really want to help the old people? I have a friend who has lived in Illinois over fifteen years. Last spring she was obliged, through lack of funds, to go to a distant state to make her home with relatives who are very poor themselves, and now this friend can't get her pension because she has been absent during this last year. What was she to do? Go on relief instead of going to these relatives? Why give the pension at all if it has to be given so begrudgingly? LOIS WADE.

REPLY TO SIR LEO.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Fifty-one nations have decided that the spirit of the Ethiopians is worthy of respect, and yet Sir Leo Chiozza Money would have us believe that they are all wrong—even the fifty million Frenchmen! The truth of the matter is this: Sanctions or no sanctions, Italy cannot subdue Ethiopia; but if Uncle Sam can be dragged into the imbroglio, in opposition to fifty-one nations, think of the prospective pickings for the war profiteers! J. M.

MILK.

Crown Point, Ind., Dec. 18.—While some farm papers and spokesmen for agriculture are telling farmers that there is an enormous surplus of milk and a price increase to them is out of the question mill dealers are scurrying around the country looking for milk and voluntarily raising the price to farmers.

The milk business is sometimes called a racket and it has capable publicity agents to spread a smoke screen. Chicago papers have recently stated that the farmers will get $2.06 for December milk and that that is the highest price since 1931. They haven't got the $2.06 yet; perhaps they will get it, maybe they won't. As to the highest price, that's hooey. For seven months this year the price was $2.20 for fluid milk.

The papers also stated that the farmer is getting a greater percentage of the retail price than he got at any time since 1931. They seem to forget that during April and May, 1934, the retail price to the farmer was $1.75 for fluid milk. Since then the retail price has increased 3 cents per quart or $1.395 per hundred pounds, and the increase to the farmer, if he gets $2.06, would be 31 cents.

We are not selling milk on the Chicago market but, during the last few years, I have often asked neighbors how much they were getting per hundred pounds for their milk; I never got a straight answer. They said they would have to do a lot of figuring, as the price was blended. I know that the price to the consumer is not blended. The blended price game is played in many of our larger cities; they dazzle both the consumer and the producer and those in between are not the losers.

Our noisiest farm organizations are most efficient when there is nothing for them to do, but when farmers need spokesmen most there is nobody home. They have gone to town to play ball with the other boys.

GEORGE J. SAUERMAN.

THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—The Chicago stockyards, with its empty pens, was certainly an appropriate setting for Mr. Roosevelt's defense of the administration's policy of scarcity. I haven't the figures on the live stock receipts at the Chicago yards, but they are probably on a level with those of National Stock Yards at East St. Louis, which showed a decrease of 16,835 cars for eleven months of 1935 as compared with a like period for 1934, a decrease of more than fifty cars per day, or about 15 per cent.

Mr. Roosevelt insisted that the administration's policy should be and is a boon not to the producer alone but to the consumer and the general public as well. He didn't explain just how the decrease of more than fifty cars per day at just one stockyard would benefit the railroads and their employés, the stockyards companies and their employés, and so on down the line.

The annual report of Swift & Co. just released does show how the public benefited. This report shows an increase in business for the year in dollars and cents of 22 per cent, while at the same time it shows a decrease in volume on a pound basis of 4 per cent.

Thus it appears that the public, with a decrease of 15 per cent in income from the handling of live stock and its products, bought 4 per cent less meat but paid 22 per cent more for it.

THE RATE FOR WATER.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—A letter dated Dec. 17, 1935, signed "Taxpayer," which appeared in today's issue of THE TRIBUNE, erroneously states that the people of Chicago pay 60 cents per thousand gallons for water.

The charge for water delivered through meter by the city of Chicago is 60 cents per thousand cubic feet [7,500 gallons]. A discount of 15 per cent is allowed if bill is paid within the discount period, which is 20 days after date of bill.

The rate per thousand gallons is 8 cents gross or 6.8 cents net.

The bureau of water does not have a wholesale or retail rate. All consumers of water under the meter plan pay the above rate.

H. L. MEITES, Superintendent of Water.

HIT AND RUN.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—May the letter of Fred E. Langhoff also apply to the hit-run driver who killed an 18 year old girl, also injured two others, crippling them for life, as they were waiting for a street car on Indianapolis boulevard Thursday night, Dec. 12. May God punish him. [Miss] ANNE M. BANDLA.

FRANKFURTER VOICES DEFENSE OF 'HOT DOG' BOYS

Urges 'Good Old American Theory' Be Scrapped.

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—If democracy is to work, the "good old American theory" that any man is good enough for public office must be scrapped, says Felix Frankfurter, writing in a periodical.

The Harvard university professor and "advisor" to the administration wrote:

"The complicated problems of modern administration require the best brains the country can produce.

"Since there had to be an RFC to come to the rescue of business it obviously is advantageous to the complicated and often desperate circumstances that confront business men that the personnel of the RFC be competent, resourceful and energetic."

Calls It "Better Economy."

Charged recently with the responsibility of placing "bright" young law school graduates in key positions in the present administration, Frankfurter wrote in reply:

"A first rate, well trained, lively mind of 25 is better economy for the government than the service of those who, in the language of civil service commissioner, Leonard D. White, 'have failed to achieve success in the competitive world, and who, in middle life, seek refuge in the official world.'

"How young men of first rate caliber can, year by year, be won fo. government service in periods of calm no less than days of excitement, and how an adequate proportion of them can be retained permanently are problems that do not divide parties."

Defends "Complicated" Tasks.

In one sentence, Prof. Frankfurter defended the younger members of the "brain trust," whom Gen. Johnson characterized as "happy hot dogs."

"The tasks of these younger men," he said, "have been vastly more complicated and diverse than even those that faced the winners of the war and they have been subjected, as the price of our democracy, to bitter partisan criticism."

Prof. Frankfurter's article is accompanied by a biography, in which it is recalled that he was an assistant to Henry L. Stimson when the latter was United States attorney, and later had recommended young lawyers for federal appointments during the Taft, Wilson and Hoover administrations.

The magazine concludes that Frankfurter has done for the present administration little more than he did for preceding administrations.

By Frank Ridgway

Zero on Farm.

December 22, 1935.

MIDWINTER signs were definitly in the air at the Tribune Wheaton farm yesterday morning. The thermometer dropped to zero Friday for the first time this winter. "Steam" poured from the horses' nostrils. Thick ice had to be melted or broken in the water tanks and troughs. A thin blanket of snow covered the ground. Wagon wheels fairly screamed as they slid into ruts. Sheep snuggled up a little closer in the fold. Smoke poured from the feed cooker. Engines of automobiles and tractors had to be coaxed when first started. Birds breakfasted on weed seeds scratched from beneath the snow. Squirrels tapped their winter pantries in hollow trees filled with nuts and grain. Spangled curtains of snowflakes dropped from trees.

But the surest sign of all was the song of the buzz saw that came ringing out of the lower timbered pasture yesterday morning. Men bundled in heavy clothing slapped their hands together to keep their fingers warm as they hustled about yanking away at poles dragged out of dead tree tops that are being sawed into firewood.

Men at the farm are following an established practice of making use of all parts of dead trees at the Wheaton farm. The tops are all cut up with the buzz saw and used in fireplaces. Some of the wood is used by men at the farm in their kitchen stoves and in animal feed cookers.

The old custom of trimming up the tree tops and hauling the poles to a central spot on the farm for sawing into the proper length for fireplaces and stoves has been done away with. Now the buzz saw is moved from tree top to tree top. The farm manager has made this possible by mounting a 30 inch buzz saw on the front end of a tractor, where in the spring the cultivator is attached. Under this labor saving plan the men avoid handling and hauling the wood at least once. The pile of wood sawed from each tree top is picked up and distributed directly to the various places on the farm where it is to be used.

The trunks of the dead trees are made into fence building materials. Most of the dead trees are black oaks, which do not seem to do well in this region. Red oaks and a few white oaks and ash are among the dead trees. Some of the trunks are 30 inches in diameter.

In former years rails of the Abraham Lincoln type have been split from the trunks and used in making old fashioned fences on the farm. This winter the logs will be sawed into boards; most of them will be used in building fences. The logs will be sawed on the farm, where a sawmill already has been set up. The sawmill, owned by the farm, will be put into operation shortly after the Christmas holidays.

Aged Florist Killed by Fall on Icy Pavement

Louis James Griffith, 76 years old, 6026 South Peoria street, the owner of a florist shop at 5959 South Halsted street, and a pioneer resident of the neighborhood, was fatally injured last night when he fell while walking across Halsted at 60th street. He died in Englewood hospital a short time later.

Mrs. Mary Logue, 28 years old, 4023 North Monticello avenue, was taken to the Belmont hospital early yesterday after being beaten by a robber in her apartment. The robber fled without finding any money.

GOVERNOR TO SEE PRESIDENT TODAY ON RELIEF CRISIS

Gov. Horner will be in Washington today to make a direct appeal to President Roosevelt for more money or more Works Progress administration jobs in Illinois to meet relief needs in January. The January budget for relief calls for $5,600,000, but only $2,800,000 is in sight, according to officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Before he left Chicago yesterday the governor was asked if he expected to discuss any subject other than relief, and specifically whether he expected to talk about Illinois' internal politics, including the governorship, with the President. Mr. Horner asserted he had no other purpose than relief in going to Washington.

Officials anticipated a state relief load of 65,000 families after the WPA got under way, but last week the governor learned 130,000 families still were on the relief roll.

GIRL, 18, WITHOUT SORROW AFTER KILLING FATHER

Anadarko, Okla., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The prospect of spending Christmas in jail was faced today by Emma Willis, 18, who killed her father because he would not let her have a date with neighbor boy.

"I'm sorry if I am a murderer, but I'm not sorry that he's dead," the brunette High school sophomore told visitors. She drew comfort from support given to her by her mother, two brothers and two sisters.

"I don't see how any man could have been as mean as he was," Emma told Haskell Pugh, assistant Caddo county attorney.

Pugh filed a murder charge against the girl after she confessed she took a shotgun yesterday at the Willis farm home near Eakley and killed her father, I. H. Willis, 52, while he was asleep. Pugh said the family substantiated her charges of Willis' abuse.

Mrs. T. E. Cunningham Loses $1,235 Jewelry

Mrs. Harriet Cunningham, 65 years old, 1853 Asbury avenue, Evanston, reported to the Evanston police yesterday she had lost jewelry valued at $1,235 Saturday while driving from the loop to her daughter's home in Winnetka. Mrs. Cunningham, wife of Thomas E. Cunningham, former vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade, said the jewelry, consisting of three diamond brooches, two rings, a clasp, a pair of diamond earrings and a watch, were in a black bag.

Good Fellow Doings

TODAY.

12:15 p. m.—Phi Kappa Psi memorial luncheon for Edward C. Fitch, University club.

1:30 p. m.—Chicago Rotary club's sunshine committee packs Good Fellow baskets at 168 West Monroe street.

4 to 4:30 p. m.—W-G-N outdoor Good Fellow broadcast of Christmas carols by church choir singers.

TOMORROW.

BY PHIL MAXWELL.

Today and tomorrow will be a busy time for Chicago Good Fellows. The first of a series of Good Fellow meetings will be held at 12:15 o'clock at the University club by members of the Phi Kappa Psi college fraternity. It will be a memorial luncheon for the original Good Fellow, Edward C. Fitch, who joined the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Indiana university in 1882. Judge George Fred Rush of the Circuit court, also a member of the fraternity and a friend of the late Mr. Fitch, will be the principal speaker. Roy J. Maddigan, president of the University of Chicago Alumni club and Phi Psi Good Fellow chairman, will preside. Other speakers will be Harold Moore, the alumni association president; Dan Kaufman and Bill Walling, Ben Handwork and Norman Masterson of Northwestern university and the University of Chicago will lead in fraternity and Christmas songs. Following the luncheon 40 Good Fellow baskets will be delivered from the fraternity homes on these campuses.

Rotary Club Ready.

B. O. Jones, chairman of the Sunshine committee of the Chicago Rotary club, will supervise the packing of 25 Good Fellow baskets this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at 168 West Monroe street.

From 4 to 4:30 o'clock nearly 100 church choir singers of Chicago will present a Good Fellow carols program while grouped about a 40 foot Christmas tree erected between the Tribune Tower and the new W-G-N radio building. The first 15 minutes of this program will be broadcast over W-G-N. Tom Builts will be the announcer and the Good Fellow editor will make a final radio appeal to those who have not as yet joined this Christmas movement. The choral directors will be Frank Bennett, Carl Craven, David Nyvall Jr., George Carlson, and Samuel Burkholder. The public is invited to the ceremony and all singers, whether members of church groups or not, will be welcomed. A brief rehersal will be held at 3:30 o'clock in the conference room just off the Tribune Tower lobby. All participants are asked to be there at that time.

Trucks to Deliver Baskets.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock dozens of Tribune circulation trucks will leave the Tower laden with baskets of food, toys and candy for unfortunate families. These baskets have been purchased with the money sent to the Good Fellow fund.

At 11 a. m. tomorrow the annual Aviation Good Fellow program, under the direction of John Casey, Aviation Good Fellow chairman and manager of the Chicago Airport, will be held at the airport. Assisting Mr. Casey will be the general manager of the group, Capt. Ben Lipsner, and Dr. Irene Behnke, who heads the transportation committee.

Miss Beverly Kirk, youthful concert soprano, will sing "Silent Night, Holy Night," and airline stewardesses and members of the Chicago Girls' Flying club will form a Christmas caroling group. Immediately after the program, Dr. Behnke's committee will distribute more than 175 Good Fellow baskets.

Among the larger cash donations to the Good Fellow fund were $100 from the Monarch Beer Bowling team [Leo M. Faety, captain], and $200 from the Central Products company, are acknowledged.

Soon the curtain of the 1935 Good Fellow campaign will be down. But there's still time to join and take a Christmas basket to a poor family. The name of a family where need has been investigated may be had by calling Superior 0100 or visiting the Good Fellow department in person at the Tribune Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street.

SINGS AT AIRPORT

Miss Beverly Kirk, soprano, will sing "Silent Night, Holy Night" tomorrow morning on the Aviation Good Fellow program to be held at the Chicago airport.

KIN OF MILNE SURE KIDNAPERS WILL BE CAUGHT

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Department of justice investigators refused to make a public appraisal today of a Chester hotel clerk's published story that a young man he believed was Caleb Milne IV. registered at the hotel Tuesday night at a time when he was sought as a kidnap victim.

Young Milne's grandfather, a retired manufacturer of whom $20,000 ransom had been asked, termed the hotel clerk's story "farcical." "I am convinced the federal agents will get the culprits," he declared.

Agents stood by at Woodstock, N. Y., where young Milne was taken after his discharge from the Doylestown hospital. They said he is not in custody.

Aubrey Milne, 16, confirmed the statement that his brother was much improved and was up and around.

"I am quite disillusioned about the whole affair," the youngest of the three Milne brothers said. "All this constant questioning has brought me to the point where I don't believe anything any one says any more."

He added that federal agents would not permit him to converse with his brother.

SANTA CLAUS 'ON THE SPOT' DURING NEXT TWO DAYS

Calls on Time of Merry Gentlemen Pile Up.

BY KAY HALL.

With every one knowing that it is only two days until Christmas, Santa Claus will be on the spot, many spots, from now until then. He will ride down State street at 10:15 a. m. tomorrow on the high driver's seat of a bright colored wagon drawn by the champion Wilson & Co. six horse hitch. Behind this will be two tally-hos drawn by four-in-hand teams, and a truck, all bearing groups of singers whose carols will fall on the ears of the shopping thousands.

The parade is a Christmas greeting from the State Street council to the shoppers. It will move from Wacker drive to Congress street on State street and return, stopping at State and Madison streets for a brief program.

Santa to Visit Neighborhoods.

Today Santa Claus will give some of his time to Chicago neighborhood theaters to aid their collection of food for Christmas baskets for needy families. Parties will be held in all neighborhood houses at 11 a. m. with special shows. Admission will be granted for a donation of nonperishable foodstuffs.

Children of needy world war veterans will have luncheon, gifts and entertainment as the guests of the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion at the Hotel Sherman today.

Members of the Central Y. M. C. A. will be Santa Claus to 100 small boys and girls tomorrow.

This evening the four Girl Scout troops and two Brownie packs of Goodwill center will be guests of Troop 216 for a Christmas dinner.

100 at School Party.

The Blue Devils, an organization of persons of French extraction in Chicago, yesterday gave their fourth annual Christmas party for 100 needy children of the city in the club headquarters at 40 East Oak street. Henri Hiltz, president and founder of the organization, presided.

Christmas carols from Lapland will be sung by the Emmanuel church choir at La Grange, Ill., this evening on the fourth program of the annual twilight series of Christmas music broadcast from loud speakers on the Tribune tower by W-G-N from 5 to 6. The first 15 minutes of the program will be broadcast through the regular channels of W-G-N.

POWELL HAS HIS UPS AND DOWNS BEFORE HE'S OUT

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Edward J. Powell Jr., is going to Cleveland for his Christmas vacation, but he doesn't want any welcoming celebration—he wants to rest.

Powell worked late last night, cleaning up his work in preparation for the holiday.

The elevators had stopped so he walked down six flights of stairs to the street. The door was locked.

Back down he went to try the door again. No luck. Up again to telephone police. Back down to meet them. Their skeleton keys didn't fit. Up again to call for more police. Down again. No luck. Up again for a third call to police. Down again and still no luck.

Then up to call the fire department.

"There's a fire escape that goes down five floors," he said. "Please send a wagon to give me a lift down that last flight."

Then he heard the footsteps of a fellow tenant who had come back to do some work. The other tenant had a key.

Powell went home.

GERMANY IS HOST TO POOR YOUTHS AT YULE PARTIES

5,200,000 Eat and Sing at 30,000 Gatherings.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—"The German nation asks you to be its guests today," Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, said over the radio today in an address to 5,200,000 children of poor families gathered in 30,000 Christmas parties throughout the reich.

With dignity and discipline the youngsters listened to the Nazi speakers, joined in the Christmas singing, and accepted the toys and edibles bestowed on them.

The Nazi Holiday.

"These Christmas celebrations, which were organized by Nazi women's and girls' associations, Hitler Youth and the Nazi Welfare associations, are not an expression of old fashioned charity," Goebbels said.

"They symbolize the new feeling of unity and kinship of all Germans. By giving soulful meaning to the celebration of the Christian holiday we make it into a Nazi holiday. It is a display of the practical Christianity of action."

All cities celebrated "Golden Sunday" in which stores were allowed to remain open to reap the gold of the Christmas trade. In Berlin extra traffic officers were summoned to police the crowded streets. Every factory and business house had its own Christmas party over the week end.

Steel Helmets on Angels.

The most original party was that of soldiers in Berlin. They celebrated "motorized Christmas." The traditional Christmas angels, wearing nightgowns and steel helmets, roared into the party on motorcycles, while the German version of Santa Claus arrived in a tank flanked by decorated guns.

Engineer Is Found Dead in Garage; Ignition On

Paul Metz, 46 years old, 8632 Justine street, a construction engineer, was found dead yesterday in the garage at his home. He died apparently from carbon monoxide gas poisoning. His widow, Helen, found his body slumped beneath the steering wheel of his automobile, the ignition key of which was turned on. Mrs. Metz said she last saw her husband Saturday night when he left home for an unannounced destination. He is survived by a daughter, Mary Ann, 8 years old.

BLAME EXPOSURE IN DEATH.

Exposure and heart disease are believed to have caused the death yesterday of John Sharz, 55 years old, who was found in the yard of a Lemont dance hall where he was employed as a handy man.

JEWS BOYCOTT NEW ASSEMBLY FOR PALESTINE

Claim Arabs Intend to Exploit Council.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, told Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, the British high commissioner, today that Jews will neither participate in a proposed Palestine legislative council nor take any part in its establishment.

He said "to intrust legislative power in whatever measure to those openly rejecting and defying the mandate of the league of nations and the establishment of the Jewish national home must undermine the mandatory régime."

The Jewish Agency for Palestine is recognized by Great Britain, the mandatory power, and the league of nations as the supreme body in the administration of Jewish affairs relating to Palestine.

Dr. Weizmann declared the Arabs, who have repeatedly rejected offers of peace by the Jews, are certain to exploit the legislative council for the purpose of hindering Jewish progress.

Arabs Greater in Number.

According to the plans for the legislative council, Arabs would have fourteen representatives and the Jews seven in the new assembly.

Dr. Weizmann read the resolution adopted in September at Lucerne, Switzerland, by the 19th biennial world Zionist congress, voicing apprehension over plans for such a council.

This resolution declared a legislative council was contrary to the underlying spirit of the league of nations mandate and said it would interfere with the development of Palestine at a critical stage in Jewish life in Germany and other countries, when tens of thousands of refugees could be settled in the area.

Go Ahead with Plans.

The government issued an official communique tonight proclaiming the establishment of the legislative council and entrusting Wauchope with wide veto powers over the new assembly.

The communique states that if any section of the Palestinian population refuses to participate in the elections of members of the council the high commissioner is empowered to nominate British officials or other representatives to sit on the council.

The division of Jews and Arabs on the council, the government points out, was based upon the population ratio of the various elements in the country. There are approximately 350,000 Jews and 750,000 Arabs in Palestine.

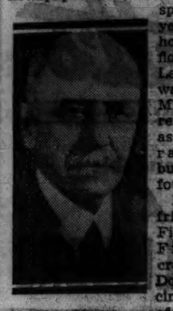
ILLNESS PROVES FATAL TO SLASON THOMPSON AT 87

Recall Colorful Life of Rail Spokesman.

Slason Thompson, veteran Chicago newspaper man, author, and railroad spokesman, died yesterday at his home on Mayflower avenue, Lake Forest. He was 87 years old. Mr. Thompson retired last May as head of the railway news bureau, which he founded in 1903.



SLASON THOMPSON

He was a close friend of Eugene Field and Peter Finley Dunn, creator of "Mr. Dooley." Reminiscing at the time of his retirement, Mr. Thompson said he and Field were inseparable companions and that Field was known as his "bad habit." In 1902 he wrote a biography of Field, and followed it with a later version in 1927.

Mr. Thompson went from San Francisco in 1880 to New York, where he worked briefly on the New York Tribune and the New York Associated Press. In the same year he became western manager of that forerunner of the modern news service, and came to Chicago.

A "Bully Experience."

He referred to his arrival in Chicago, when it was a town of 500,000 and when reconstruction work after the great fire had scarcely been completed, as "a bully experience."

He worked for the Chicago Herald, Daily News, Times-Herald and Record-Herald in the early eighties before taking a position as spokesman for the railroads at a salary of $10,000 a year and expenses.

The Railway News bureau, which he later founded, became recognized as an authoritative source of information relative to railroad progress and problems. He was author of "Cost, Capitalization and Estimated Value of American Railways," [1907], and "A Short History of American Railways," [1925].

Author of Two Plays.

Mr. Thompson wrote two plays, "M'liss," [1878], and "Sharps and Flats," [1880]. He compiled two volumes of poetry.

He was born in Fredericton, New Brunswick, and was educated at the University of New Brunswick. He was admitted to the bar in New Brunswick in 1870 and in California in 1874.

In 1887 he married Julia D. Watson of Evanston, who survives him. Three daughters also survive: Margaret, of the home; Mrs. Le Baron Turner, Geneva, Ill., and Mrs. Barbara Mechem, wife of John C. Mechem, a vice president of the First National bank.

Mr. Thompson had been ill since his retirement. Funeral services will be held from the home Tuesday at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Lake Forest cemetery.

RITES TODAY FOR GRANDDAUGHTER OF GEN. ATKINSON

Funeral services for Mother Mary Houston Atkinson, who died Saturday at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, 6250 Sheridan road, will be held at 9 a. m. today. A solemn requiem mass at the convent will be followed by interment at Lake Forest. Mother Atkinson was born Jan. 8, 1857, at the United States army post, Fort Pierre, near Omaha, Neb.

She was a granddaughter of Brig. Gen. Henry Atkinson, who had a distinguished army career in the early days of the central and far west and who achieved note in the Black Hawk war. Seven forts were named after him. Gen. Atkinson planned and executed the Atkinson-O'Fallon expedition in 1825 up the Missouri river to the mouth of the Yellowstone. Mother Atkinson also was a first cousin of Maj. Gen. Philip Kearney of civil war fame.

Mother Atkinson, who became a religeuse of the Sacred Heart at Manhattanville, New York, made her profession at Paris in 1892. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Hollis White, Washington, D. PROF. W. C. LATTA OF PURDUE DIES AT 85; ILL WEEK

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Prof. William Carroll Latta, 85, the "grand old man of agriculture" at Purdue university and in Indiana, died today at his home in West Lafayette after a week's illness from a severe cold.

Prof. Latta organized the school of agriculture at the university, began the first experimental work when he came here in August, 1882, and started the first extension work in Indiana in 1889 when he organized the first farmers' institute.

He was born in La Porte county, Indiana, and was graduated from Michigan State college in 1877. After teaching school several years in northern Indiana he returned to his alma mater for an advanced degree and came to Purdue two months later.

He remained in charge of farmers' institutes in Indiana until 1923, when he became professor emeritus of agriculture. Since then he devoted his time to writing a history of Indiana agriculture, including a report of the Indiana board of agriculture and the American Shropshire Breeders' association, of which he was an organizer.

A widow, three sons, and a daughter survive. Services will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at Trinity Methodist church here.

Prof. Latta, who had been on the church board for 37 years, originated the laymen's council idea started here about 15 years ago to break down strife among church denominations. The plan since has been adopted nationally.

SOPHIE BRASLAU, NOTED AMERICAN CONTRALTO, DIES

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Sophie Braslau, American contralto who had a distinguished career on both the concert and the operatic stage, died today at her home here. She was 43 years old.

Miss Braslau had been ill of a progressive ailment for almost two years and had been bedridden since June, but nevertheless displayed remarkable fortitude and cheerfulness to the end.

The fingers of her right hand began to trouble her three years ago, and despite surgical intervention the malady progressed until the arm was rendered useless. The spine became involved and subsequent treatment failed to halt the progress of the disease.

Miss Braslau was born in New York, and it was another New Yorker, Alma Gluck, who gave her her first inspiration.

The singer's first rôle with the Metropolitan opera was a minor one in "Parsifal." Her real debut came on Nov. 28, 1914, when she sang the part of the Tsarevitch in Mussorgsky's "Boris Godunoff."

RALPH M. LABARTHE DIES; NOTED AS WHEAT TRADER IN WAR DAYS

Ralph M. Labarthe, member of the Board of Trade and known as one of the large wheat traders of the country, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gladys Walker, 7321 South Shore drive, after a long illness. He was 53 years old.

Mr. Labarthe was born in Bourdeaux, France, and was brought to this country at the age of 3 years. The family settled first near New Orleans and a few years later moved to Chicago.

In 1906 Mr. Labarthe started work as a messenger boy on the Board of Trade. He bought a seat in 1913, when he went into the employ of the firm of Logan & Bryan. He was known as a fearless floor trader, and during the war was involved in many of the largest deals when wheat was being bought for the allies.

As top trader for Logan & Bryan he was engaged in the same capacity when that firm was absorbed by E. A. Pierce & Co. three years ago. On Sept. 6, 1934, he was shot in the neck by a robber who stopped him outside his offices in the Utilities building, 327 South La Salle street.

Mr. Labarthe was a member of the South Shore Country and Illinois Athletic clubs. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Genieveve Hoober Labarthe, member of a pioneer Mendota, Ill., family, and their daughter, who is the wife of Irwin Walker, a school board trustee. Funeral services will be held from Mrs. Walker's home to St. Bride church, 78th street and Coles avenue, at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be private.

DR. J. A. BOOTH, NOTED NEW YORK PHYSICIAN, DIES

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Dr. J. Arthur Booth, 79, neurologist and formerly one of the leaders of the medical profession in New York, died in St. Luke's hospital today after a long illness.

Dr. Booth was president of the New York Medico-Surgical society in 1890; president of the neurological section of the Academy of Medicine in 1900; president of the Columbia D. K. E. association from 1910 to 1912, and for ten years was treasurer of the Medico-Surgical society. He was a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine.

Charles K. Herts, Former Police Lieutenant, Dies

Former Police Lieutenant Charles K. Herts, 73 years old, died at his home at 5918 Normal boulevard yesterday following a long illness. Lieut. Herts, who had been a member of the police department 42 years, retired three years ago while assigned to the Grand Crossing station. He is survived by his widow, Mary F., two sons, Charles K. Jr., a city fireman, and Lee, and a daughter, Mrs. Rodney H. Marks. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the Masonic temple at 6735 Yale avenue. Burial will be at Mount Hope cemetery.

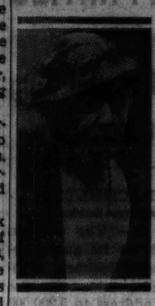
WIDOW OF MOSES J. WENTWORTH DIES AT AGE OF 73

Mrs. Lizzie Shaw Hunt Wentworth, 73 years old, widow of Moses J. Wentworth, died last night at her home, 1240 Lake Shore drive, from coronary thrombosis.



MRS. MOSES J. WENTWORTH.

She was married Dec. 7, 1891, to Wentworth, who was a nephew of John "Long John" Wentworth, pioneer Chicagoan whose life figured prominently in the early history of the city. When her husband died in 1922 he left an estate valued at $1,500,000.

Mrs. Wentworth was the daughter of Charles H. and Eleanora Shaw Hunt. She is survived by a son, John, who, as an aviator in the world war, was the discoverer of the grave of Quentin Roosevelt. Another son, Hunt Wentworth, also an aviator in the war, was found dead in his mother's home Dec. 17, 1929, a bullet wound in his forehead. A coroner's jury pronounced his death suicide.

Funeral services, which will be private, will be held from the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church, 126 East Chestnut street, Tuesday at 2 p. m.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Diversions like "Anything Goes"—a fine, full-fledged musical comedy of Broadway renown, as lively as a basketful of kittens and as worldly as a sorority of night club hostesses—have been rare events on the Chicago stage during the past year or two. Last night's première at the Grand Opera House was, therefore, a joyous occasion, attended by the old guard and its modern reënforcements, all chortling with glee. It was a festive opening for a show that should contribute strongly to a revival of the playgoing habit in this region.

The production represents a frolic on shipboard—a famous environment for song-and-dance jubilees since the birth of "H. M. S. Pinafore"—hitched to a farcical story of mixed identities and fantastic disguises, and brightly decorated with all the jolly, snooty and questionable characters who make up the passenger lists of de luxe ocean liners.

Tender young tap dancers garbed in pajamas or less—often much less—scamper across the deck every few minutes. Singing ladies chant of love in its more cynical aspects in expensive stage settings that were probably designed by naval architects. Comic fellows play hide and seek in cabins, deck chairs, and gangways. The spirited tunes and smart lyrics of Cole Porter, popularized during the past year by the radio and cabaret performers, supply brisk, urbane accompaniment to the merry tale. "Anything Goes," in short, is modern musical comedy in its best vein.

Leading the revels are two comedians who have been absent from the Chicago scene for a number of years—William Gaxton and Victor Moore, known in recent theatrical history as the "Of Thee I Sing" team, but each with many more feathers than that in his cap. They make a perfect pair without suggesting a brother act or a question-and-answer duo. Their styles of waggishness are far apart, but they blend like gin and bitters, forming a stimulating mixture with a flavor all its own.

Gaxton is one of the most human of the musical comedy wags. There is nothing freakish in his personality or his way of clowning; he keeps his characters in the "regular fellow" vein—blustering, virile Babbitts—but he has a sure hand at nursing a light line into a loud laugh, or at humoring an old situation into something new and breezy. In this piece he appears as a loud young business man who becomes a protean stowaway on a voyage to England in order to woo his lady love, promised to another. His course follows the formulas of standard farce, but he brings them to life gallantly.

Victor Moore, sly, droll veteran with a hesitant method that sows two laughs where the author intended only one, or none at all, appears as Public Enemy Number 13, fleeing from justice in clergyman's attire, but with his machine gun handy. He befriends the entangled Gaxton with crooked wiles, causing the latter to remark:

"I don't know what church you belong to, but, brother, you're a Christian."

One hurried compliment is all that the attractive and jovial Miss Benay Venuta can get in this midnight survey: she is the most winning of the night club queens that have been characters in the musical shows of the decade. Irene Delroy is enjoyable as the pretty girl of the proceedings. The many others are completely in the tradition of "Anything Goes" for general competence and entertaining qualities.

Federation of Commercial Teachers Meets Thursday

The National Commercial Teachers federation will open a three day convention in Chicago next Thursday at the Hotel Sherman. Paul Moser, chairman of the local committee, said advance registrations for the 38th annual session indicated the federation this year would exceed its previous record of 1,000 delegates. William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, will deliver an address of welcome to the assembly Thursday night.

Wedding of Dr. J. F. Pick and Mme. Farre Reported

Chicago friends of Mme. Marguerite Grassino Farre, Michigan avenue modiste and importer, and Dr. John F. Pick, Chicago physician, received reports yesterday that they were married in St. Louis Saturday. At St. Louis it was learned a marriage license was issued Saturday to Dr. Pick and "Marie Farre." Dr. Dick and his wife left St. Louis last night.

Wed in Winnetka

MR. AND MRS. EGGERT MEYER.

For her wedding yesterday to Eggert Meyer, Miss Beatrice Washburne wore a short veil which has been in her mother's family for 100 years. The veil was clasped about her head with a wreath of marguerites grown especially for the wedding and woven by Miss Washburne's sister, Mrs. Donald Marshall, in accordance with an old custom in Germany, Mr. Meyer's homeland.

The marriage ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock in the drawing room of the home of Miss Washburne's parents, the Carlton Washburnes of Winnetka, with Dr. Samuel Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church officiating. The bride and groom stood before the mantel on which stood tall candelabra, and a giant candle shone from a niche above the fireplace. White chrysanthemums, red berries, and pine sprays decorated the room.

Miss Washburne's gown of old ivory satin, with a rolled collar, tight bodice, a full skirt, and a short train, was designed by her mother. With it she wore an old fashioned ruby and pearl brooch given to Mrs. Washburne on her wedding day.

After the ceremony, at which only members of the family were present, some 65 friends came in to drink a toast to the bride and groom in mulled wine and eggnog. Mrs. Washburne wore a black velvet gown, the silver metal blouse trimmed with green and rhinestone buttons.

Mr. Eggert and his bride have taken an apartment near the University of Chicago, where she plans to continue her studies in the sophomore class. They will take their wedding trip during her vacation next summer, when Mr. Meyer also will be vacationing from the Francis Parker school, where he teaches.

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

Announcements of several engagements of interest were made over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. James Fentress of Hubbard Woods gave a tea yesterday at their home to tell their relatives and good friends that their daughter, Louise Addeman Fentress, is engaged to Dr. Fravel Scammon Barry, son of Dr. and Mrs. George F. Barry of Evanston; Dr. Carl B. Davis entertained at tea yesterday in his Evanston home to make known the news that his daughter, Dorothy Davis, is to be married to William McKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick W. McKinnon, also of Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. E. Chandler Beach gave a dinner party at their home in Riverside Saturday night to announce their daughter, Marguerite's, engagement to Philip Walter Hellyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hellyer, also of Riverside; and announcement was made by Judge and Mrs. Theodore J. Richter of Detroit, of the engagement of their daughter, Ernestine, to William Gardner Onderdonk, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Onderdonk of Winnetka.

Miss Davis arrived at home on Saturday from Vassar and her fiancé is at home from the Harvard law school for the holidays. She prepared for college at the Roycemore school in Evanston and Mr. McKinnon went to Williams before studying law.

Miss Beach, whose parents formerly lived in Little Rock, Ark., was educated at the Santa Barbara School for Girls, Mount Vernon seminary and the School of Political Science of American university at Washington, D. C. Mr. Hellyer attended the Westminster and Roxbury schools. The wedding will be a quiet one on the evening of Jan. 4 at the Beach residence. Mr. Hellyer and his bride will be at home in Riverside after a brief honeymoon.

Miss Richter was graduated from the Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., in 1932 and made her debut in Detroit during the Christmas holidays of the same year. Mr. Onderdonk prepared at the Berkshire school and will be graduated from the University of Michigan this June.

Triangle Show to Climax Gay Whirl Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

There is no such thing as a blue Monday on a debutante's calendar, especially near Christmas time, when every one is as gay as possible. Today four young women will make their debuts at a variety of parties, including a luncheon, a tea dance, and a supper dance, and in addition to these there is the Princeton Triangle club's performance at the Auditorium and the many dinner parties preceding it.

Miss Nancy Ryerson, Miss Patricia Forsyth Kelly, Miss Madalon Search, and Miss Ann Lynch are today's debutantes. Miss Ryerson, daughter of the junior Edward L. Ryersons, will be presented at a ball at the Blackstone which her parents are giving jointly with Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling for their daughter, Miss Harriet Welling, who was introduced to society last month at a tea, and for Miss Joan Ryerson, Nancy's cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur Kelly are giving a tea dance at the Arts club for their daughter; and Miss Lynch and Miss Search will greet their friends more informally at a luncheon at the Racquet club, which is to serve more as Miss Lynch's debut than Miss Search's, for Mrs. Victor Beaufort is giving a ball at the Casino on Christmas night, which is to be Miss Search's more formal presentation. Mrs. Beaufort is giving her party for Miss Caterina Bolognesi also.

Ryerson-Welling Party One of Season's Highlights.

The Ryerson-Welling party will be a highlight of the winter season, for not only are the three debutantes among the most popular and prominent of those who are coming out this year, but each year the ball which has the Princeton Triangle club members added to its stag line always is remembered by every one. Usually the Trianglers are permitted to wear carnations in their buttonholes as a distinguishing mark which permits them to "cut in" and, without an introduction, claim an attractive young lady as a dancing partner; but in any case there are so many Princeton men at most parties that they never have any difficulty in meeting the young ladies who strike their fancies.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Welling, the Misses Ryerson and Miss Welling will form a receiving line at 11 o'clock tonight at the Blackstone.

The Trianglers have been invited to the Kelly tea dance this afternoon and the usually quiet Arts club will be a whirl of music and laughter from 4 o'clock on. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly are keeping the music until 8 o'clock, quite a late hour for a tea dance, but no one ever wants to leave this type of party early unless to rush away to attend a dinner party, so there will be dozens dancing until that hour.

Classmates and Young Bachelors to Assist.

Miss Kelly has invited twenty-four young women to assist, some of whom were classmates at the Girls' Latin school where she was graduated last year, and some of whom are debutantes this season, and she also has asked several of her friends among the young bachelors to usher, a custom more prevalent in the east than it is here. Among the ushers will be Nelson Thomasson Jr., who was graduated from Princeton last year and who will know many of the Trianglers; F. John Bersbach Jr., Walter Faithorn, Robert Wolff, LeRoy Kramer Jr., Hugh McWilliams Jr., Peter Jaeger, John L. Irving, Bradford Brown, Scott Thomas, James Snitzler, Joseph Munroe McNulty, and Bradford Ripley.

The young women assisting include the Misses Kathleen Kelly, Bertha Erminger, Barbara Fortune, Frances Jeffery, Betty Babson, Betty von Colditz, Geraldine Foster, Marion Newcomet, Frances Lasker, Valeria Harris, Marjorie Truesdale, Katherine Armstrong, Jean McWilliams, Louise Parsons, Jane Cummings, Rozanne Patton, Eleanore Thompson, Madalon Search, Mary Lou Laird, Joan Ford, Ellen Allen, Helen Bersbach, Josephine Fleming, and Mary Alice Bacon.

Miss Search and Miss Lynch will receive with the former's mother, Mrs. J. Gist Search, at 1 o'clock. The season's debutantes and some younger and some older girls have been invited. Miss Lynch, who was graduated from the Girls' Latin school last year with Miss Search, is the daughter of V. Reges Lynch.

Debs to Attend Triangle Performance in Party.

Miss Welling and the Misses Ryerson will attend the performance of "What a Relief," given by the Princeton Triangle in a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams for Miss Welling. Miss Search will rush away from the party at the Arts club to dine in Winnetka as a guest of Mrs. George L. Shuman and her son and daughter-in-law, the John R. Shumans, at a party for Miss Evelyn Shuman, and the group will motor back to town to attend the show. Miss Kelly is not going to Orchestra hall tonight, for after her tea dance she will return home to dine quietly with her family and a few close friends and to rest a little before going on to the ball.

Quite a few of the debutantes and their escorts will dine in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Wetten at 209 Lake Shore drive at a party Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kelly are giving for his debutante nieces,

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

Last year, on the afternoon before Christmas, it happened that a number of the distinguished ladies of the town were gathered in Santa Claus' family, a North State Parkway drawing room, sipping mulled wine in the firelight and listening to Dr. Horace Bridges read Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." He got to the part where Scrooge, waking from his visions after the third Spirit had departed, repeats, "I will honor Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year" . . . and dashing to the window calls down to a boy in the street, "What's today?" "Today?" the boy answers in astonishment, you will remember, "Why, Christmas day." And Scrooge says joyfully, "It's Christmas day! I haven't missed it!" . . . When Dr. Bridges read about Scrooge's joy at having time enough to buy the turkey at the poulterers and provide a Christmas for the Cratchits, one of the women present realized that she, too, had just time to bring joy to a Christmasless home. Her routine holiday charities had been attended to some days before. She could, if she hurried, find a deeper and greater joy in Christmas day by bringing holiday cheer to one more home.

* *

It was dark by the time she had collected a turkey and toys, groceries and candy and reached a little cottage on the far north side. It was an address given her by the Visiting Nurse association, and there was no light in the windows when she knocked. While she waited at the door a lamp was lighted and in its rays, when the door was opened, she saw the neat, pretty little woman, with two children at her side, and beyond her, in a bare, clean, little room, a baby buggy. There was a stove and a table and several kitchen chairs in the room, and when she entered to put her basket on the table she saw there was a baby in the buggy, as scrubbed and clean as the children by the woman's side. Then Mrs. Thorne—for the visitor was Mrs. James Ward Thorne, and her name is given as proof that this is no fanciful tale, observed that although the room was bare of any sign of Christmas, there were two balloons bobbing against the ceiling. The woman saw the visitor's eyes wander to the balloons.

"My husband brought them home," she said. "He wasn't able to get work for months, but now he has a temporary job in a downtown store, and they're giving the balloons away there. He brought them home for our children's Christmas presents." There was no trace of irony in her voice as she added, "He's Santa Claus in the B—— store."

Party Clothes Set a Record for Smartness

Collections Boast Variety of Alluring Colors.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With almost an invading army of gay gadabouts dashing to town for new party clothes for the holidays, it's reassuring news to know that there are all kinds and colors from which to choose. Having wangled ready money from your Christmas mellowed parents, don't loose a minute, trot to the shops and join the ranks of appreciative buyers.

You'll find record breaking collections of dresses with plaited skirts, the best dance dresses any knowing designer ever cut and fitted. You'll find slinky satins in sophisticated blacks, and eye blinding colors. You'll find stunning all white affairs that will make your dancing partners swarm around you in proper appreciation, you'll find exotic new prints, direct from the southern wear collections that will do grand things for a stay-at-home.

Velvet bows, huge affairs that almost cover a good half the chest and match the shoulder straps, have appeared. Sashes seem to have vanished, so the velvet and ribbons perch on shoulders and make the smartest of shoulder straps.

Taffeta, so noisy it whistles when you dance makes some grand black dance and dinner dresses.

And what is the best news of all, all these Christmas party clothes are tagged with low price marks. A clever shopper can acquire two or even three without painful twinges of old conscience.

Fashion photograph...lovely black lace slightly stiffened is used to fashion this unusual dinner or dance dress. The full skirt is sunburst plaited and attached to a fitted bodice top that simulates a peplumed jacket. Twinkling rhinestone buttons trim the front closing of the blouse and a tie belt of the black lace accents the slim waistline. It is worn over a rustling black taffeta slip shaped in a deep V in the back. Available in a Chicago shop.

The Briar Pipe

By Stuart Palmer

SYNOPSIS.

Violet Feverel is killed, apparently by having been thrown from her horse Siwash. She was taking an early morning's ride in New York's Central park. Miss Hildegarde Withers, teacher and student of criminology, helps her friend, Inspector Piper, investigate. They suspect murder. Miss Withers finds a briar pipe on the spot where the dead girl had lain. Mrs. Maude Thwaite and her husband, Rufus, are owners of the stable where Siwash is kept, and Latigo Wells, manager. Maude Thwaite desired to own Siwash. At Violet Feverel's apartment Miss Withers and Piper overtake Violet's half-sister, Barbara Foley, about to elope with Eddie Fry, Violet's boy friend and a race track gambler. Violet was divorced from Don Gregg, and had had him put in alimony jail. Thomas, who with his wife, Mattie, are old retainers of Don's father, Pat Gregg, comes in search of Violet. Old Mr. Gregg thinks he is going to die. Thomas hints at foul play. Don Gregg had been released from alimony jail on a fake writ before his wife's death, though he has an alibi and is not held. The autopsy of Dr. Bloom, medical examiner, reveals Violet Feverel was killed by a BB bullet which hit her throat. An expert tells Miss Withers that the "murder" pipe's owner has false teeth. She buys apples with which she hopes to find who among the suspects has false teeth. Piper and Miss Withers call at the Gregg home. Pat Gregg hints there may be a second murder after the big race on Saturday at Beaulah Park. Abe Thomas admits it was he who got Don out of jail. Latigo Wells is fired from Thwaites.' The day of the race arrives. Miss Withers and Piper and all the suspects attend.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

THE SHORT END.

"I wish I had the money in a poker game," Latigo Wells said after a moment. "You can't always tell about horses. . . ."

The quartet was finally thrust against a breast-high railing and held there by the pressure of the gaping crowd behind them. Beyond the railing was a small circle of trodden sand, with a plot of green grass in the center.

"Here they come!" cried Barbara excitedly. On the far side of the paddock appeared a stocky young man in a red jacket, astride a fat horse. They plodded into the paddock, leading a procession which consisted of a long line of prancing blanketed thoroughbreds, each with a stableboy at his bit. They paraded once around the ring.

Suddenly the green center of the ring was filled with jockys—hard, tiny men in brilliant silks. Here and there officials, large and soft, moved pompously and serenely among them.

Off came the blankets. "Jockys up!"

Miss Withers was a little disappointed. "They look just like other horses to me," she complained. "Only the legs are longer. . . ."

Another signal, and the nine thoroughbreds moved obediently out of the paddock and along the sandy lane which led to the gate between grand stand and clubhouse. "They're numbered according to rail positions," Piper explained. "Easter Bunny has the choice spot, two is Verminator, then Toy Wagon, Santa Claus, Tom-Tom, Good News, Prince Penguin, Wallaby, and Head Wind."

The horses were prancing sideways as they neared the entrance to the track, and in the distance a bugle rang out sweet and clear. There was something in the sound which made the schoolteacher's blood pound with a strange excitement.

"They all look like winners!" she cried. "I'm going to bet again!"

Miss Withers saw Babs Foley put a large roll of bills into the hand of Mr. Latigo Wells. "You make the bet—for luck!" the girl was saying. "We'll sink or swim."

The line moved forward, stopped again. Then the voice of the bookmaker drowned out the other sounds. "Listen, brother, once your money is down on the line you can't change your bet! You've got two hundred bucks on Verminator. . . ."

He was talking to Thwaite, the veterinary, whose habitually waxed mustache drooped sadly. Thwaite plunged one hand into his pocket and brought out a fistful of silver. "One fifty, one sixty-five . . . two dollars, then!" he cried. "On Tom-Tom!"

"Okay, two bucks on Tom-Tom." The bookie wrote the ticket, and the veterinary put it deeply away in the folds of his wallet. He departed, avoiding Miss Withers' eye.

On an impulse, she told the inspector to hold her place and drew Latigo Wells aside. "Look!" she said. "Ever see him before—that man in the doorway?"

"Nonsense!" Miss Withers snapped, as the distant figure of Abe Thomas vanished. "Didn't he come to the stable after Violet Feverel left last Sunday morning, and try to rent a saddle horse?"

Latigo grinned widely. "Not on your life, ma'am. You see, I know who the guy was—the one who wanted to ride horseback without the usual outfit of boots and breeches."

"Well, for heaven's sake, who?"

"In the papers?"

Latigo shook his head. "In the bottom of the bird cage in Miss Barbara's apartment," he concluded. Then he got back into the line. Miss Withers watched as he exchanged seven hundred dollars for a tiny slip of paper, and shook her head as the girl led him away toward the track, still singing of how Santa Claus couldn't fail them.

Mr. Don Gregg, making his lonely way from the paddock to the front of the grandstand, was somewhat surprised to be seized upon from the rear by an excited schoolteacher.

"Young man!" she demanded as soon as she got her breath. "Why were you following Violet Feverel last Sunday morning?"

Don Gregg didn't change expression. "Abe Thomas told you that," he said softly. "I wouldn't believe everything he says, if I were you."

Miss Withers stared at him, not unkindly. "You're tearing up your ticket," she informed him.

Hastily, a little ruefully, he rejoined the torn halves. It was a scrap of paper which represented a bet of fifty dollars on Good News to show.

"I'm going to need that when Good News comes home four lengths ahead of those other goats," he said. "It's about time I had some good news from somewhere. . . ."

Miss Withers stared after him, shaking her head. Then she hurried to the nearest bookie, and put down two dollars—two more——

The frog-faced bookmaker gaped at her. "Listen, lady, is this a system?" But he took her money. Then he leaned closer, pointing at his slate. "What's the matter with this one?" he wanted to know. "I'll give you nice long odds on him, because nobody around here knows the horse, and they're not betting him. Give you fifty to one. . . ."

"Like Babs Foley, I'll sink or swim," she said softly. "Eight dollars—on the er—nose of the poor little horse nobody has bet on."

She took the ticket and hid it hastily in her purse as the inspector beckoned to her.

Unfortunately they had come too late to get grandstand seats. "Nothing for it but a shove to the fence," the inspector decided. They finally worked their way to a vantage point exactly at the finish line, in the very shadow of the judges' stand.

Far to the left Miss Withers could see a line of slowly moving horses, with here and there the bright flash of a jocky's colors. Then a stentorian voice roared from a dozen loud speakers: "The horses are nearing the starting gate!"

Beside her a man with a cap over his eyes was praying devoutly. Miss Withers was not at all surprised to find that it was Highpockets, the colored boy from the Thwaite stable. She was no longer surprised at anything.

Doris Blake Answers

Attentions Show Affection.

"Dear Miss Blake: A friend said a certain fellow loves me. He takes me out to the movies but never does he show me any affection. How am I to know that he does love me?"

"MIMI."

You know he likes you because of the attention he shows you. He may need a little encouragement before he declares himself, Mimi.

According to CULBERTSON

THE THREE NO TRUMP RESPONSE.

Over an opening suit bid of one by partner, a take-out of three no trump begins where two no trump leaves off, but, as is the case in determining between one and two no trump, it must be noted that there is more than a shade of difference between these bids. In other words, where the two no trump take-out showed a minimum of 2½ honor tricks, a three no trump response must, as a minimum, contain at least one full additional trick, or 3½. Moreover, the three no trump take-out should be used for only one distribution, namely, 4-3-3-3, and must contain a stopper in the three unbid suits [other than partner's].

Examples of three no trump bids over partner's one diamond:

♠A 8 3	♠A Q 6	♠K Q 10
♥K Q 8	♥A Q 8	♥A Q 5
♦A 10 8	♦4 3 2	♦K 7 4
♣Q J 9 5	♣K J 10 8	♣K 10 9 6

While a three no trump take-out is not a demand that partner bid again, obviously it shows slam possibilities by simple high card placing. The first bidder should rebid when he holds substantially more, in either honor tricks or distribution, than his opening bid advertised.

An Even Guess Plus.

The hand shown today is of the type that contains a sheer guess as to the proper play. But there usually is a psychological angle to such guesses, and the declarer fell back on this as his deciding factor.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no tr'p	Pass	2 no tr'p	Pass
3 no tr'p [final bid]

West opened the four of diamonds and, when East put up the king, the declarer was faced with a serious problem. In sight were five heart tricks, two spades, and one diamond, but a club trick, for his ninth trick, depended on which opponent held the ace, and on how many diamond tricks could be won by the defenders. If the club ace were in the East hand, South had merely to hold up his diamond ace until the third round to insure that West, if he held a five card or longer suit, never could regain the lead. But if he were blindly to hold up the diamond ace, later to discover that it was West who had the ace of clubs, he would have sacrificed an extra diamond stopper needlessly.

Between this Scylla and Charybdis was one ray of hope. If he guessed wrong—that is, played West for the club ace when East actually had it—there was a good chance to sneak through a club trick before the situation should have been fully disclosed. So he won the first diamond lead, played a small heart to dummy's queen, and carefully led the club ten, simulating a finesse. East fell into the trap, playing low, and, of course, South went up with the queen and rattled off his nine tricks.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: While I was dealing, a card turned over. Do I lose my deal?

Answer: No. You deal over again with the same pack of cards, reshuffled and re-cut, of course.

Two Showgirls Get Contracts for Other Roles

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Two of M-G-M's socially prominent showgirls, Patricia Havens-Monteagle of San Francisco and Hester Dean, who recently married wealthy James F. Lewis, have been signed to term contracts involving their tryouts for futures as dramatic players.

Both have been given small parts in "Wife vs. Security," the new Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Myrna Loy film. Patricia and Hester are brunettes. Both were among the 24 "glorified" girls recently in "The Great Ziegfeld."

While the dark haired girls are progressing in contrast to the flair for blonde girls in the past, it is notable that two blond young men, Nelson Eddie and Leslie Howard, are the current tops at the same film plant.

Dick Arlen became so elated when he and Jobyna Ralston [Mrs. Arlen] won the annual sweepstakes golf match at Lakeside Country club that he issued a sweeping challenge to all husband and wife golf couples belonging to southern California clubs. Joby is afraid some couple will take him up.

Swedish Choral Club Presents 'The Messiah'

Handel's Masterly Music Enjoyed by 2,400.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Twenty-four hundred people came downtown through the light Christmaslike snow yesterday afternoon to hear the ageless music of "The Messiah" sung in Orchestra hall by the Swedish Choral club. Assisting were four soloists and a portion of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Harry T. Carlson directed and Stanley Martin filled in the organ backgrounds wherever the oratorio called for the additional emphasis of the big instrument.

Carlson is a careful and reverent musician, who is satisfied with moderate tempos and not too frequent climaxes. He does not try to make of Handel's masterly work an exhibition of the virtuosity of his forces. The exquisite Jewish and Christian poetry of the Old and New Testaments plus the devout and scholarly settings of the composer make up a work which asks of its performers only a faithful reproduction of its text and music. Given such a performance, it is as impressive and moving today as it was nearly two centuries ago when a dingy Dublin theater heard its music for the first time.

If you can forgive slight imperfections of diction [and you can, easily, under the spell of such music], Edna Thompson did a thoroughly good job of the difficult soprano assignment. Her voice is pure and easy; her style dignified. She never becomes flashy and operatic, even with such a temptation before her as the florid setting of the "Rejoice Greatly."

Edna Swanson Ver Haar did not quite succeed in getting her light voice completely into the foreground in that terrific air that Handel gives his contralto for her first bow. In the more sustained music which comes a little later she sang with confidence and roundness of tone.

Charles Sears counts a good oratorio style among his endowments. His work is reverent and restrained. The composer entrusts to the bass the more dramatic passages of the work. Versatile Raymond Koch handled the pregnant music of the prophecies and the agitated interlude of the "Who May Abide" air with authority and finish. He is a very satisfactory singer.

Carlson heard the result yesterday of all his work on the choral club toward the goals of purity and precision, and he should have been satisfied. The diapasonlike tone of his men and the other worldly beauty of his soprano section are garlands enough for any director. In addition he can boast of a contralto division whose timbre is startlingly rich. You can understand the words of the choruses and follow the benign counterpoint. I hope Handel's ghost was about.

Chamber music devotees assemble once a month in the little recital hall on the eighth floor of the Fine Arts building to hear the Joseffer String quartet. Lillian Poenisch was added to the ensemble for the last portion of yesterday's program to play the clarinet part in the Mozart A Major quintet. The work is similar to the composer's more familiar things, with the same formulas for the development of themes and the same delicate balance of phrase against phrase. The quintet is rich melodically and worth a great deal of rehearing.

In the late afternoon David Nyvall brought the Lindblom A Capella choir to the Chicago Woman's club theater for a Christmas concert. He has done interesting things to what was no doubt a collection of youthful voices with nothing except a certain dewy freshness to recommend them.

Rosa Raisa and Mischa Mischakoff appeared in a successful joint recital last night under the auspices of the Jewish Labor committee. A sold out Auditorium testified to the sound judgment of the sponsor, whose primary purpose was to raise money to combat the oppression under the Nazi régime.

The artistry of both Raisa and Mischakoff is a known quantity here and hardly requires comment. The beloved diva sang a program that ranged from ancient Jewish folk music to works of the present day. She did two Brahms lieder in the course of the second group.

Mischa Mischakoff, concert meister of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and titular head of the Mischakoff String quartet, played the Tschaikowski D Major concerto and some smaller things, as well as an obbligato for Raisa. Otto Vandsburger and Dorris Wittich provided the accompaniments for Raisa and Mischakoff, respectively.

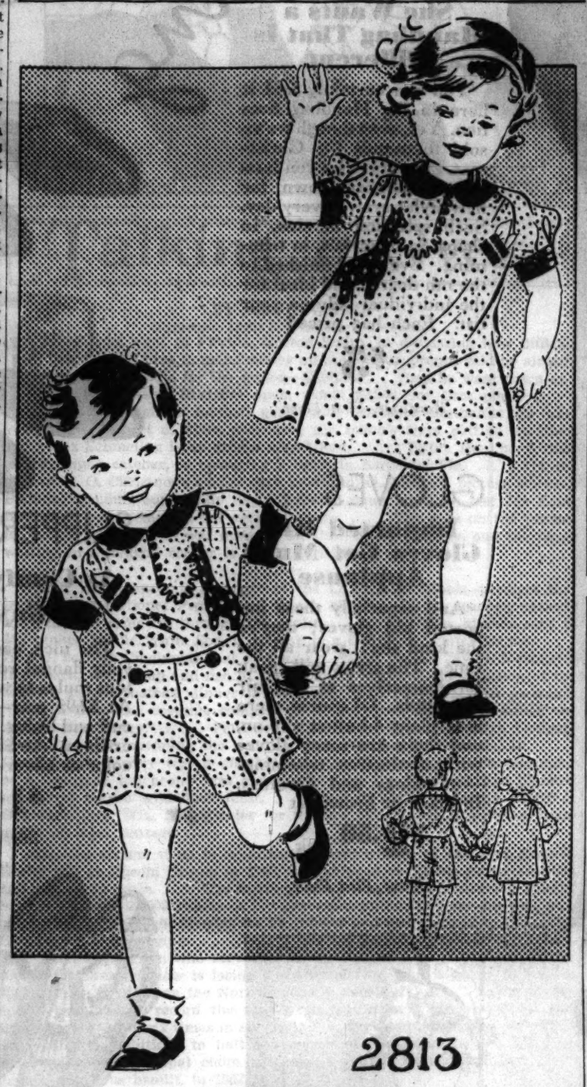
Twin Models for Boy and Girl



CHILDREN'S CLOTHES.

Dressing brother and sister alike is said to be a British custom, and it surely is a nice one. Wool jersey, wool challis, and cotton broadcloth are good materials, and if you choose the wool jersey, make the collars and cuffs of white organdy or pique and, of course, they should be made detachable.

The pattern, No. 2813, includes both models in the same size. If different sizes are wanted, two patterns will have to be ordered, and the second costing 10 cents extra. The sizes are 2, 4, and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1⅝ yards of 35 inch material, with ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting, with a 9 inch square of material for the amusing appliqued trimming for both costumes.

Facial Characteristics Tell Story of 2 Salesman Types

BY HUGO WESTERBERG

There is one occupation which, more than others, requires a man to be alert in the use of all his senses, and that is selling. The business often is based on two opposite principles and it depends upon which school the manager favors whether the beginner is to make his first mistakes one way or the other.

AL SIMMONS.

In one school the stress is laid on aggressive, go-getting methods of forcing the prospect to listen and to admit that the salesman is right. The other idea is that service should be the seller's motto and that by giving the best satisfaction to the customer, he himself will benefit most.

One time I studied two experienced waiters, practical psychologists whose opportunity to study human nature was excellent. One of them had dark, heavy eyebrows, high-ridged nose, and a strong mouth. His regard for people was based on how much he could get out of them in tips, and he acted accordingly.

He had a smooth, speedy way of working and provided an agreeable feeling of efficiency during the meal. The next time the customer found the same service rendered if his tip had been adequate, otherwise not.

The second waiter had only medium eyebrows, an inward curved nose with a pointed tip hanging down over the upper lip, and his upper lip was rather short. His manner of serving was inobtrusively friendly. If the tip was below par he seemed to feel reimbursed by a smile and a few words of praise and showed the same appreciation of his patrons' wants at the next meeting.

Comparing their incomes, it was a surprise to find them about the same.

The inquiry did not settle the relative merits of the two methods.

Al Simmons, one of the leading hitters in the American league, has the protruding chin in side view, very broad in front view, which signifies a persevering and untiring capacity for following a line of action according to a set plan. His nose is slightly fleshy in the lower part, indicating an ability to guess correctly an opponent's motives and intentions.

Triangle Show to Climax Gay Whirl Tonight

Miss Nancy Bastien, Miss Marjorie and Miss Patricia Kelly, daughters of the Alvin E. Bastiens and the Carl Kellys. Mrs. Lloyd Kelly is a daughter of the Wettens. She and Mr. Kelly will take their guests—about forty of them—on to the Triangle show.

Other Debutantes Are Party Guests

Other debutantes will be guests at the Casino, before attending the show, at a dinner Mr. and Mrs. H. Foster Straw are giving for Miss Adele Proxmire, debutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Proxmire. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wills are entertaining at dinner at the Urban room in the Congress hotel, and the Triangle show for Miss Dorelle Moulton, debutante daughter of the William A. Moultons. She will see "What a Relief" again on Friday night in Columbus, O., where she is going on a flying visit to attend the Junior league ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey J. Hutchins are giving a dinner for their second daughter, Margaret, a student at St. Timothy's, and sixteen of her friends before the show. Another debutante dinner before the show is one at which the Robert McKennas will be host and hostess for Miss Babbs Burton.

The junior Jabez D. Hammonds are going with a group of young marrieds in a Dutch treat party, and will go on afterward to dance at the Palmer house. Among those who have taken boxes for the show are Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, Mrs. William O. Goodman, Miss Gwethalyn Jones, the George H. Malcolms, Cyrus H. McCormick, Eugene M. Stevens, Peter Theurer, Arthur M. Barnhardt Jr., Mrs. James Buck, Charles M. Dering, Edwin M. Ashcraft III, Frank Pagenkopf, Mrs. A. Harris Whiting, and Mrs. L. B. DeWitt.

Theater Openings Attract Fashionables.

In spite of all the other activities that are keeping members of society busy every moment, theater devotees are taking time to attend the several openings to which Chicagoans are being treated during the holiday season. Last Friday night at the opening of "Personal Appearance" at the Harris there were many familiar faces in the audience, including those of several debutantes and their escorts who were the guests of the Edward Warren Everetts at a party they were giving for Patricia Forsyth Kelly. A number of older people enjoyed the play before going to the Clow ball at the Blackstone. These included the James L. Houghtelings, the Donald McPhersons, the Henry Ishams, the John T. McCutcheons, Mrs. William J. Chalmers, the Fletcher Durbins, Miss Ann Small, Miss Eleanor Jerrems, and the Douglas Stuarts.

Last night "Anything Goes" at the Grand attracted a number of fashionables and tonight at the Erlanger there will be a smart audience for the première of "The Old Maid." Among those who plan to be in tonight's audience at the Erlanger are Mrs. Stewart Johnson, Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanley Rickcords, the Godfrey H. Atkinses, the Graham Aldises, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, and Edward I. Cudahy. Judith Anderson and Helen Menken, who play the stellar rôles in the Theater Guild play, have many friends in Chicago and will be entertained widely while they are here.

Horace Gray Jr., who is a sophomore at Harvard, arrived on Saturday to spend the holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Horace Gray, live in San Francisco.

Another of the Meekers' grandsons, who lives in California and goes east to school, flew home for the holidays. He is Ambrose Cramer, a freshman at Yale. He joined his mother and sister, Mrs. Francis V. Lloyd and Nancy Lloyd, in Santa Barbara, for his vacation.

Miss Florence Bartlett left yesterday for Guatemala and will return home about the middle of January.

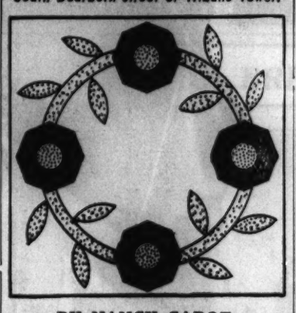
The Faulkner school will hold its annual junior "prom" tonight, and next Monday the school alumnæ and Miss Elizabeth Faulkner are giving a tea at 4 o'clock.

Lyle Harper Jr., at home for the holidays from the Berkshire school, was host to ten boys and girls at luncheon and the matinée Saturday, and this evening Miss Betty Hubbard, daughter of the William S. Hubbards, will have a dozen of her friends for dinner before the Faulkner school prom.

"Petunia Wreath" Quilt Makes Use of Scrapbag Bits

Petunia Wreath.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Petunia Wreath" might properly be called the economy pattern, because it affords ample opportunity to utilize attractive patches from the scrapbag. Making the wreath in solid colors, one may select a single shade for all the blooms, or vary them according to the flowers in the wreath. "Petunia Wreath" is a small block, measuring 10 inches square when completed. Forty plain and 40 applique blocks, finished with a four inch border, complete the coverlet.

Here Are Final Hints for the Holiday Roast

Turkey Has Rivals as the Christmas Mainstay.

BY MARY MEADE.

Two days, sister cooks! In between package wrapping and tree trimming [and inevitable last minute shopping] today and tomorrow have to hold enough minutes to take care of that final planning of the Christmas dinner and as much of the beforehand preparation as possible. So, in a final effort to offer as much help as we can in this column, this is our schedule: Today, a consideration of the Christmas roast; and tomorrow, suggestions for simple touches that make holiday fare look as gala as it tastes.

If your choice is colored by tradition, either roast goose or a roast young suckling pig may be vieing for favor with the more usual holiday turkey. A hearty, juicy roast of beef is another possibility.

If tradition's glories pale a bit under the stern, uncompromising eye of the budget, the choice may well be the family's favorite among the less costly roasts.

For the small family, a roast chicken fills the bill more neatly than does a turkey or goose. Likewise, a thick slice of baked ham may be scored and decorated quite as impressively as the less convenient whole, while the roast young pig may be transformed into a tender pork loin roast, or into stuffed baked pork chops.

Since two of tradition's favorites, the roast goose and suckling pig, don't come to the tables of most of us frequently, a little review of the how's of cooking them usually is in order at this time of year.

Goose first is prepared by the usual singeing, removing of pinfeathers, thorough scrubbing, and drawing. After a final rinsing in cold water, inside and out, it is wiped dry and as much as possible of the heavy fat is cut away. Allowing about two cups of stuffing for a four pound goose, it then is lightly filled with an apple stuffing, or perhaps one using prunes and onion, and trussed together neatly, using either string or skewers or both.

The bird then is placed on a rack in a covered roasting pan, breast down, and roasted at 375 degrees F. for 30 minutes. At the end of that time, turn the goose breast side up and prick the skin around the legs and wings to allow the melting fat to escape. Again cover and continue roasting at 300 degrees F. until the bird is done, for two hours or longer, depending upon its size and age.

Good Morning!

"Ship Café" has considerable to offer in the way of novelty. It's a romantic comedy with unexpected plot twists; presents some new and different specialty numbers by Eddie Davis, who makes his first screen appearance—and makes you like it; has odd and captivating music that's the contribution [C. O. D., without a doubt] of Ray Noble, AND it brings back to our notice that extremely handsome Swedish singer Carl Brisson who made a hit in "Murder at the Vanities," and after that, just sort of folded his tents or had them folded for him. He did reappear in "All the King's Horses" but the film wasn't shown in the big time theaters. Anyhow, here he is—and I tank you like him—I did.

The story relates the adventures of a stoker with a V-O-I-C-E, the eyes, smile, and heart of a 6 year old child and the brain of one about six years older. . . . A lion hunting countess with a penchant for nice, big, muscular lions, wants Chris as a protégé. Her attentions result in a fight which gets him fired from his stoking job and lands him in jail. When he's released, the ship he worked on has sailed awa'.

However, the fellow who'd had the cell next door, is part owner in a ship café—[a night club aboard an anchored boat]—and he offers Chris a job—which he takes. He falls hard for the pretty hard-boiled girl who's the joint's star entertainer—and if you think she doesn't do likewise for him, you're crazy.

He and Ruby are getting along all right 'till up pops the countess again—and did I or did I not infer that Chris wasn't quite bright? Anyhow, the countess has her way—for awhile until—but suppose you learn the rest from the movie?

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

HERE is an excellent tip for you last minute marchers toward solution of the Christmas gift problem: A bottle of exquisite honeysuckle perfume. You'll find it in one or two shops around town and you will undoubtedly rejoice to know that it isn't expensive. When you buy it you won't be shelling out your hard earned money for a fancy package; it's presented in a trim, tailored fashion.

With the woman who makes it it's the perfume not the package that counts. It's a triumphant achievement, too—the luscious sweetness and the warm undertone of honeysuckle itself, miraculously caught.

Feminine women of all ages like it, which makes it the safest sort of a gift choice. It's as good for wear in winter as it is in summer; as a matter of fact it seems to us to be among the few perfumes that is truly beautiful with fur.

This perfume lasts and its scent does not change.

This is rather a versatile perfume; used sparingly it's entirely suitable for day wear. In the evening, applied a bit more freely, it has everything a woman asks of her most romantic, elegant perfumes. It has the freshness that simple frocks demand, but there's great sweetness there, too.

Don't overlook it if you want an ideal stocking gift [there are small sizes that would be perfect for this] or if you're wondering what to buy for some completely feminine woman who would like an amazingly beautiful and quite unusual perfume.

AMERICANS DEFEAT HAWKS IN OVERTIME, 3-2

MALLORY'S 271 TAKES NASSAU $5,000 OPEN

Revolta Is Second, Stroke Behind.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Leo Mallory, 24 year old Noroton, Conn., golf professional, won the $1,000 top prize in the annual $5,000 Nassau British colonial open today with a score of 271 for the 72 holes.

Breezing through the fourth and final round in 67, one under par, as Willie Macfarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., veteran who led at the 54 hole mark, injured his hand and lost his touch, Mallory finished one stroke better than the 272 posted previously by John Revolta, Milwaukee, P. G. A. champion.

Macfarlane Cuts Hand.

Macfarlane, whose 202 at 54 holes topped Mallory's score by two strokes, had the tournament apparently won as he reached the seventh tee under par.

A piece of scrap metal attracted his attention, as he waited to drive. Idly, he picked it up and tossed it away. The jagged metal gashed his right hand deeply, so numbing it that his short game deserted him and he needed three putts from the edge of the green at the next three holes.

His score for the round was 72, four over par. The 72 hole total of 274, however, sewed up third money for him.

Revolta, four strokes back at the end of play yesterday, shot himself into second place by blazing through today's 18 holes in 66, two under par.

Dodson Wins Job as Pro.

Another casualty was Tommy Armour, Boca Raton, Fla., who withdrew after nine holes because of a pulled ligament in his wrist. His fifty-four hole total was 213.

To Leonard Dodson, young Pembine, Wis., professional, went the special Miami Biltmore hotel professional job posted for the "unknown golfer" with the lowest total score in four December Gulf Stream tournaments—the $2,000 Orlando and Sarasota opens, the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open, and the Nassau tourney.

Dodson shot 71 to make his 72 hole total of 282 and his score for the four tournaments 1,147.

Eberhardt Takes Governor's Cup.

Charles Eberhardt, New York, won the governor's cup posted in the amateur flight, shooting 78 today to make his 72 hole total 315. Nearest to him was John W. Bailey, Battle Creek, Mich., with 77 today and a 326 total.

Far back, at 288, was Bobby Cruickshank, 1934 winner of the top prize.

For finishing second Revolta received $600. Macfarlane earned $400, while Shute, Runyan and Eaton, who shared the next three places, collected $250 each. Contestants with scores of 292 or better were in the money.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BEFORE he went to Florida, Horton Smith, in discussing how difficult it is for golf pros to make money on the winter circuit, said he already had set his quota for the season—$2,000. . . . Then he went down and won the Miami Biltmore open, worth $2,500, for first place. . . . Northwestern sought a football game with Southern Methodist for next year, but a conflict of dates prevented the schools from getting together. . . . Max Schmeling is an ardent trapshooter. . . . Butch Henline, former major league catcher, is operating a hotel in Sarasota, Fla. . . . On the wall of K. O. Christner's smoke shop in Akron, O., hangs a picture showing Paulino Uzcudun, supposedly never knocked down until he met Joe Louis last week, being counted out by the referee. . . . The date on the picture is Feb. 22, 1929. . . . It was taken in Madison Square Garden and the boxer waiting in a neutral corner is K. O. Christner.

Arch Wolff, business manager of the Chicago Cardinals, predicts that in ten years National Professional league elevens will be coached entirely by men who came up through the ranks. . . . Lee Stine, pitcher sent to Milwaukee by the White Sox, is playing in a California winter league. . . . He will be with Cincinnati next season. . . . When Tarzan Taylor, Marquette line coach, wore soup and fish at the speakers' table on the occasion of the school's recent football dinner a newspaper man sent him this message: "A man from the costume company is at the door and wants either the suit or the money." . . . Paul Schissler, coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers football club, is spending the holidays with relatives in Danville, Ill. . . . Game wardens were tipped off that Lou Comiskey's recent announcement of a "sausage luncheon" was a ruse and that the Sox boss had planned an out of season wild duck feast. . . . But J. Louis, a deputy sherif of Oneida county, Wis., is a stickler for the law and proved it with an abundance of legal sausage.

The old argument as to whether Diomed, winner of the first English Derby run at Epsom Downs in 1780, was shipped to Russia or to America has popped up again. . . . The Russians claim that Count Mouravieff bought him in 1799 for 25,000 rubles. . . . American authorities say he was purchased by an American breeder for 50 guineas and was shipped to Col. John Holmes' place in Virginia. . . . Quick, Watson. . . . Clear up this mystery. . . . Burt Ingwersen, who served as Lynn Waldorf's No. 1 worrier during the football season, now is losing sleep wondering who is going to handle the catching position on the Northwestern baseball club. . . . Yale's winter sports teams set a record the first week this season, the basketball and hocky teams losing six times in six days. . . . Included among the numerous heavyweights ambitious to halt the march of Joe Louis is Bob Ford of Arizona, whose principal claim to fame is that a namesake killed Jesse James, notorious bandit, in 1882.

Ten Years Ago Today—Four members of the Englewood High school football team were found guilty of participating in a football game with professional players and were barred from athletics in the public schools. . . . Mike McTigue won an unpopular ten round decision from Tiger Flowers in New York. . . . Fidel La Barba won a ten round decision over Lew Perfetti on the same card. . . . The Western Skating association carded 18 ice Derbies in the Chicago district.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

THE WAKE has received an unusual letter. It may have been written in good faith. It may be a hoax or trap. It comes from a chap purporting to be a prep school athlete willing to exchange his football ability for help to a college course in civil engineering. If sincere, it no doubt is confidential. Even so, we see no breach of faith in publishing it, preserving the anonymity of the author, as showing the prevalent trend of thought. Here is the letter with several names omitted:

Dear sir: I am a daily reader of your article "In the Wake of the News." I read your article on the subject of whether or not football players' ability should be considered in helping students through college. I think in your position you could give me the information I desire.

Here's my problem: I graduated from high school last June and was an outstanding football player on the high school team. I won four letters and a star and played every position but center. I made the "all-conference" team three years.

My high school reputation brought me offers of all expenses paid to attend two teachers' colleges and one junior college. My ambition being to be a civil engineer I did not accept any of them but took a job at this hotel [hotel mentioned] and am saving my money to go to college [and work for the balance of my expenses] with a course in engineering as my distinction. I was an honor student in high school and will have no trouble in keeping my grades up.

I think you can send me a list of the colleges offering aid in return for work and football—will you be so kind as to do this? I've inclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your convenience.

I am a graduate of —— high school at ——, and am 19 years old, 6 feet tall, and weigh 180 pounds. For reference you may write to either of my coaches [—— of —— or former Coach —— of ——]. I also play basketball, but don't think I could make a "college" team in that sport. I might have a chance of making hocky team, having played that game all my life. Awaiting your reply.

This letter was written on stationery of the hotel at which the boy says he works. The stamped envelope for reply is returnable to that hotel. On the other hand, it seems strange a young man of such athletic talent has not been approached by zealous alumni in behalf of many colleges. The letter comes from a locality where one would hardly expect daily Wake readers. "Playing every position but center" also covers a lot of territory.

What would you do, helpers, if you had received such a letter?

If circumstances warant, we'll report further progress in this correspondence. Any suggestions for the young man from college sources, if he proves genuine, will be treated in confidence.

The world's applause is ringing in his ears,
To youth again has come resounding fame—
To one who strives and fights and wins his game
Against compelling odds who has no fears.
Today surpassing statesmen, poets, peers,
On every tongue is heard youth's magic name.
And then tomorrow—will it be the same?
Or will some fickle fortune bring out jeers?
His deeds have built an asset that his will
Can turn to gold, or stagnate, as his course
Is chosen over life's e'er mounting hill.
The ready brain, the buoyant pulsing force
That wins for him today with boyish smile—

NOTRE DAME AND PURDUE FIVES MEET TONIGHT

Wisconsin Plays De Paul at Stadium.

Games Tonight

Notre Dame at Purdue.
Wisconsin and De Paul at Chicago Stadium.
Indiana at Evansville.

Quality, rather than quantity, will mark tonight's basketball games in which Big Ten quintets will participate. Only three contests are scheduled, but in two of them Notre Dame's fast stepping team will engage Purdue at Lafayette, and Wisconsin's powerful squad will be De Paul's guests at the Chicago Stadium. Indiana, on the way home from a southern trip, will stop off at Evansville [Ind.] college in the other game.

The contest at Lafayette has all Indiana stirred, for the Irish and Boilermakers again have high scoring, speedy teams. Notre Dame has won seven straight games without defeat, although several of its opponents were hardly big league timber. The Irish, however, handed Northwestern its only defeat of the year, 40 to 29, and also beat a strong Washington university aggregation, in addition to routing Millikin, which conquered Iowa.

Irish Rely on Sophomores.

Notre Dame has several sensational sophomores to throw against the Boilermakers. In fact, Co-Captains Johnny Ford and Marty Peters, stars last season, now are members of the second team. John Moir and Ray Meyer, first year forwards, have rolled up a tremendous point total to date. A new center, Paul Nowak, also has fitted in well in the Irish scheme of offense and defense. Frank Wade and George Ireland, veterans, hold down the guard berths.

To match this lineup, Purdue will start Capt. Bob Kessler, an exceptional basket shooter and floor man—last season he finished second in individual scoring in the Big Ten, leading in baskets scored—and Jewell Young, a sophomore who has connected frequently, at forward. Big Jim Seward, a 6 foot 7 inch center, who is a clever defensive player and who also can be counted on for a few baskets, will face Nowak. Glenn Downey and Red Lambert, forwards last year, have been moved back to the guard positions for the Boilermakers.

Badgers Are Strong.

At the Chicago Stadium, Wisconsin will send a powerful quintet against De Paul's fast team. The Badgers, who with Purdue and Illinois, tied for the Big Ten championship, will be out to beat the scores of the Illini and Boilermakers against the Demons. Purdue stopped a long De Paul winning streak, 28 to 24, and Illinois then came along last Friday and scored a 26 to 24 victory. These two games, along with a defeat at the hands of Purdue last season, are the only contests De Paul has dropped in its last thirty-nine engagements.

Wisconsin, usually a team with a great defense and an ordinary offense, apparently has blossomed out into a high scoring outfit, meanwhile retaining the air tight defense. In its recent victories the Badgers have bobbed up with a different high scorer in every game. First it was Powell, a reserve forward; then Fuller, a veteran; then DeMark, another veteran, and lastly Center Stege. To combat this excellent marksmanship, De Paul again will rely on Capt. Adams and Knez, forwards; Yost, center, and Wendt and Campion, guards. Phillips, a little speedster who almost upset Purdue, is the sixth member of De Paul's "big five."

Purdue String Broken.

Indiana, which along with Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, and Ohio State, still is undefeated, again has flashed a great offensive team. The game with Evansville should not provide much competition, as Ohio State's team of midget sharp shooters ran over the Evansville boys. Indiana has uncovered a star guard in

Caras Whips Rudolph, Wins Billiard Title

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Jimmy Caras, 25 year old player from Wilmington, Del., won the world's pocket billiards championship tonight by defeating Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland in a playoff match. The score was 125 to 53, in 16 innings.

It was Caras' second successive victory over Rudolph, who won last year's tournament. He beat the Cleveland ace, 125 to 21, in the concluding match of the regularly scheduled play last night to go into a tie for first place, necessitating tonight's playoff. Each won seven matches and lost two in the 13 day round robin tourney.

Upsets Tourney Favorite.

Caras became the youngest player to win the world title since Ralph Greenleaf, then only 19, won his first championship in 1919. Rudolph, older and more experienced at defensive play, was the favorite until Caras defeated him in 12 innings last night. The Wilmington youngster, however, played more consistently than any of the other contenders throughout the schedule.

Consistency enabled him to win the playoff struggle. After a slow start with six straight scoreless innings, Caras began clicking off one good run after another, hitting the high mark of 53 in the eleventh. He ran 12, 25, and 26 in the seventh, eighth, and ninth frames to take a 61 to 47 lead. Rudolph had pocketed 30 in his eighth turn for his high run of the match.

Caras' long run was finally ended when he scratched on a difficult half masse shot into a corner pocket, giving him a lead of 112 to 47.

Rudolph Scratches.

Rudolph came back with a run of 17, but was playing shakily and finally scratched. He again scratched on his next two turns, forfeiting 16 points when he failed to hit the bunch in the 13th inning. Both resorted to safety play for three innings. Rudolph broke this streak by sinking eight balls his 15th time up, but Caras calmly stepped up and ran out the match with a cluster of 15. Score:

Caras — 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 12 25 26 0 53 0 0 0 0 0 15—131; scratches, 6; total, 125. [16 innings.]

Staten Island Neighbors Give Shakespeare Car

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Bill Shakespeare, Notre Dame football star, was given an automobile today by his Staten Island neighbors in recognition of his football feats. The presentation was made by Joseph A. Palma, borough president. Shakespeare received an official welcome after the Army-Notre Dame game here and at that time it was decided to give him the car.

Silver Skates Trial Winners Get Gold Medals for 1st Time

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The design for the gold medals, which will be awarded to all winners of preliminary races in THE TRIBUNE'S nineteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park on Jan. 11 and 12, has been accepted by the committee in charge of the races. The medal will show a skater in full flight. The engraving on the face indicates the medal is awarded for Silver Skates and on the back is engraved "Preliminary Winner."

This is the first year in the history of the Silver Skates Derbies that preliminary winners have been awarded prizes. The number of medals that will be presented at Garfield park will be determined entirely by the number of contestants. One hundred and fifty medals have been ordered, and more can be secured with a few days' notice.

Get Those Entries In Early.

All entries for the seven Derbies must be mailed by midnight Jan. 5, and after that date the exact number of medals can be determined. There is no limit to the number of contestants, and all, regardless of victory in the preliminaries and subsequent races, will receive a souvenir bronze Silver Skates button. Several thousand of these are distributed annually.

The Girls' senior Derby was the third of the present list of seven races to be established. Silver Skates was inaugurated in 1917 with one race, a two mile event for boys. Two years later two classes for boys were on the program, and in 1921 the first race for girls was held. The next year the girls were divided into two groups and this arrangement has existed ever since. Girls 16 years of age and over compete in the senior class; those under 16 years of age are eligible for the junior class.

They'll Be Greatest Ever.

If interest warants, a third age class may be established for girls, just as the list of Derbies for boys has grown to include five age classifications.

This year's Derbies promise to be

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night were within 30 seconds of winning their first hocky victory since Dec. 8. They were leading the New York Americans, 2 to 1, with that half minute to go when Manager Red Dutton of the Americans tied the score. Then, in 7:45 of the overtime, Nels Stewart slapped the puck into a wide open cage for a 3 to 2 New York victory.

It is doubtful if any of the 10,000 patrons ever will figure out just how Dutton got that tying marker home. Everybody but Goalie Worters had moved into the Hawk defense zone. It appeared that Maj. McLaughlin had all his athletes in the area. And Manager Dutton was farthest from the cage in the congestion of athletes. Apparently, just to keep the puck moving, Dutton fired at the mass of humanity. And the shot somehow wound up in the nets. It was more mysterious than a magician sawing a lady in two.

Hawks Are Upset.

This sad happening was very upsetting to the Hawks, of course. They still had hopes of a tie, however. They hoped to tie, that is, until the seventh minute of overtime had been passed. At this juncture, 7:45 to be exact, Joe Jerwa skated down the left boards and was beaten by Goalie Karakas on a close in shot. Karakas was out of position as the rubber bounced to the open side on his left and Stewart simply skated up and flicked in the winning goal.

The first period produced no scoring and few threats, even though each of the goalies registered ten stops. It took less than a minute of the second period for the boys to get off the non-production schedule.

Peewee Starts Scoring.

Wiseman rang up the first goal of the game in 48 seconds of this second period. And in the process he made the faces of Hawk Defense Men Burke and Coulter a bit red. The rubber, looking quite harmless, was spinning around in neutral ice when Wiseman pounced upon it and picked it up six or eight feet from the Hawk blue line. Burke skated up to cover him, but Peewee evaded him and started toward the Hawk cage. He extended a pleasant saluation to Coulter as he glided gracefully past toward the point of Karakas' boots. Then, unmolested, Wiseman rammed home the puck to Karakas' left.

In the fifth minute of the second period Morenz, Gottselig, and March staged two hot onslaughts and the second one caused the red light, signifying a goal, to be turned on. Referee Stewart ruled that the goal had not been made, however, and play was resumed with the Hawks still behind.

Hawks Go to Work.

Nels Stewart was sent crashing headlong into the boards in the middle of the second period and for a few seconds it was feared he had been seriously injured. Nels got up, though, and, a bit cross, skated out into the middle of the rink to trip

MEHRINGER AND BROWN PAIRED ON O'MAHONEY CARD

Browning Meets Richards in Semi-Final.

Two more ranking heavyweight wrestlers will be seen in action on the card featuring the match between Dan O'Mahoney, division champion, and Man Mountain Dean, at Chicago Stadium Friday. They are Orville Brown, Detroit, and Pete Mehringer, Chicago, who have been matched to meet in one of five supporting encounters. The semi-final, set for thirty minutes, involves Jim Browning, an ex-title holder, and Ray Richards, Chicago Bears football player.

Brown is reported to be one of the best wrestlers developed in recent years. He gave Jim Londos, who was dethroned by O'Mahoney at Boston last June, considerable opposition in two bouts last year. Orville favors orthodox holds. Arm pulls, flying tackles, and drop kicks are taboo with him. He possesses powerful arms and legs which he uses to clamp pet holds.

Mehringer, member of the Chicago Cardinals, wrestles along the same lines as Brown, content to let the Deans, the McMillens, and the others command the more artistic part of the program. In his last two matches here the 1932 Olympic games wrestling champion extended Richards and McMillen.

However, the Mehringer-Brown and Browning-Richards bouts are overshadowed by the windup between O'Mahoney and Dean. The Man Mountain won three previous Chicago matches in approximately one-half hour, his last victim here, Hans Steinke, being thrown in less than sixteen minutes. It was this victory which earned him the bout with O'Mahoney.

Funeral services for Virgil Bemi, west side junior welterweight boxer, who died last Friday after a short illness, will be held this morning at St. Francis of Rome church in Cicero. . . . Burial will be at Mount Carmel cemetery. . . . Oscar Rankin, Los Angeles middleweight, expects to box George Black on the program topped by Tait Littman and Gorilla Jones at Milwaukee, New Year's afternoon. . . . Bobby Pacho, his 140 pound stablemate, is training in anticipation of boxing Lou Lombardi at New York Jan. 3. Tracey Cox at Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 10 and Joey Costa at Marigold Gardens Jan. 20. . . . Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun, co-promoters at Marigold, have canceled their show date tonight. . . . They will offer their next card a week from tonight, the ten round headliner involving a featherweight elimination between Winfrid Mullins and Everett Rightmire.

Frank Talaber, 23 years old, 4444 North Maplewood avenue, former Lane Tech football player, holder of several amateur wrestling championships, over the week end announced his engagement to Miss Rita Baer, 21, of 852 West Diversey parkway. At the same time Talaber, a student at Waller High school before he was graduated from Lane in 1931, revealed his intention to wrestle professionally as a light heavyweight after Jan. 1. Frank, who was graduated from Northwestern university last year, is a son of Lou Talber, former world middleweight wrestling champion. F. M.

Holy Mount and St. Leo Set Pace in C. Y. O. League

Holy Mount's heavyweights, with a 58 to 19 victory, and St. Leo's, with a 47 to 13 triumph, topped yesterday's winning teams in the C. Y. O. basketball league.

Holy Mount, which last year had one of the most effective scoring machines in the league, had little trouble with St. Mary of Celle, and rolled up an overwhelming margin at the end of the half. St. Leo's 47 to 15 victory over St. Sabina placed the far south side five in the front ranks of title contenders.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—LONG TANK

DICK TRACY—As Christmas Eve Draws Near

Turf Champs Reach Coast Track Today

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Two great horses — one 1935's four year old handicap champion and the other Kentucky Derby winner of 1934—neared California today to race for the world's richest turf prize, the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

But A. G. Vanderbilt's Discovery and the Brookmeade stable's Cavalcade, both due to arrive tomorrow to open training, will face a formidable field in the Feb. 22 stake.

Among them will be Azucar, that sprang a surprise by winning last year. More than 1,000 of the finest thoroughbreds in the country will be here for the richest race meeting of the 1935-'36 season.

A $25,000 Derby, two at $10,000, and one at $7,500 and five worth $5,000 also are listed. Fifty-eight days of racing get underway Christmas day for prizes totaling more than half a million dollars.

ROY MIKKELSON OFF FOR WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES

Auburn, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Roy Mikkelson, 28, national ski champion, left this foothill mountain town today for the Olympic winter games in Germany just as he wanted to—"without any fuss or feathers."

"Last time I went to the national tournament they had the band out and all that," he said, as he boarded a train. "It's too much and puts a lot of people to a lot of bother, and I don't like that."

He said he thought Reidar Andersen of Norway "is the one I sure have got to look out for." "Reidar is sure tough," he said. "I think he is the best jumper the Norsemen have today."

The ski contests will be held at Garmich Parten Kirchen, in the Bavarian Alps, on Feb. 14. Mikkelson has twice captured the American championship, first at Salisbury, Conn., in 1933, and at Canton, S. D., in 1935.

St. Bede Awarded State Catholic Football Title

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 22.—(AP)—St. Bede High school of La Salle-Peru was formally awarded the 1935 Illinois Catholic conference football championship today. Member schools voted to admit St. Paul's of Odell to the conference.

WATCHMAN KILLS ASSAILANT, FINDS RIGLER'S EFFECTS

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The death of John Hudgens, 35 year old Negro, from a bullet fired by a private watchman started a police investigation today into the disposal of the private effects of Charles Rigler, veteran National league baseball umpire.

The watchman, Solomon Brown, told police he fired the shot after he had been attacked by Hudgens and a companion last night. Brown said he came upon three packages concealed near a store where he is employed, and was attacked when he attempted to open them.

One package also contained Rigler's contract for the 1936 season, police said. The investigation will determine whether the clothing was stolen.

Aronson Enters Roller Skate Derby at Coliseum

Wes Aronson has entered the roller skating Derby which opens Christmas day in the Coliseum. Aronson will team with Lillian Hoover, a Kansas City girl. Arline Jordan, a Kansas City youngster, and Curly Nanna of Chicago have been paired in the race. The list of twenty-five teams will be completed today by Leo A. Seltzer, director of the Transcontinental Roller Derby association, under whose auspices the race is being staged.

Skate Trial Victors to Get Gold Medals

the greatest in the history of Silver Skates. The prediction is based on the present weather, for there always has been great interest manifested in the events. But when the Derbies were postponed the last several years, or held under unfavorable conditions, the races had to be affected. For the first time since 1931 Chicago has had good skating weather in December. The lagoons are frozen and, unless a protracted warm spell follows, two days of freezing temperatures will prepare the Garfield park lagoon for the races.

The boys' midget, juvenile, and junior Derby trials are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, Jan. 11. All other preliminaries and the seven championship races will be held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 12.

Here Is Schedule of Distances.

For the benefit of all contestants, the schedule of qualifying and championship distances in the seven Derbies is printed. Practice at these distances will enhance the chance of winning a gold preliminary medal and the right to compete for one of the 35 major prizes. Twenty-one of the awards are pairs of skates.

The list of distances follows:

	Qualifying Distance.	Championship Distance.
Men's Senior	1 mile	2 miles
Boys' Interm'd.	Half mile	1 mile
Boys' Junior	Quarter mile	Half mile
Boys' Juvenile	220 yards	Quarter mile
Boys' Midget	110 yards	220 yards
Girls' Senior	Half mile	1 mile
Girls' Junior	Quarter mile	Half mile

Prizes also are given in three championship races, men's senior, boys' intermediate, and girls' senior, for the greatest number of laps.

St. Luke's Beats Jehovah in Walther League, 24-18

St. Luke's scored a 24 to 18 victory over Jehovah yesterday in a north zone Walther league basketball game at the new Lane Technical High school gymnasium. In other games, Bethany defeated Christ church, 18 to 15; Bethlehem [Evanston] won from Mount Olive, 53 to 13, and Pilgrim beat Bethlehem [Chicago], 25 to 24.

St.Cyr, Hughes Hold Lead in K. of C. Race

St. Cyr and Hughes, battling for the first half championship, maintained their lead yesterday by winning close games before a capacity crowd at St. Philip's gymnasium in the west section of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league.

St. Cyr was forced into overtime to down Cardinal, 22 to 17, Guagliardo and Desiderato accounting for five points in the extra period after a great rally by Cardinal had almost won the game.

Barry, reinforced by Red Hayes, kept Hughes on even terms for most of the contest, but long shots by Bill Shay and Rabe gave the latter club a 26 to 14 margin at the windup.

St. Cyr and Hughes will meet next Sunday, with the game probably deciding the divisional title for the first round. Damen and Carroll clung to their slim chance of tying one or the other by winning another pair of close ones. Lineups:

IOWA WILL FACE 50 BIG TEN FOES BEFORE JUNE

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—University of Iowa athletic teams will play fifty Western conference contests before next June, with every Big Ten school, except Indiana, to be met at least once.

As usual, Minnesota will be the most frequent opponent. The Gophers will be met twelve times during the next five months. Iowa will meet Minnesota four times in baseball, twice in gymnastics and track, and once in swimming, wrestling, tennis, and golf.

DE LA SALLE AND ST. PATRICK'S TO CLASH FOR TITLE

Tourney Facts

TONIGHT'S GAMES.

8 p. m.—St. Rita vs. Fenwick, Oak Park, for third place.
9 p. m.—St. Patrick's vs. De La Salle, for championship.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

De La Salle, 19; St. Rita, 15.
St. Patrick's, 37; Fenwick, Oak Park, 18.

St. Patrick's and De La Salle will meet tonight at nine o'clock to decide the championship of St. George Catholic High school's annual pre-season basketball tournament at the St. George gymnasium, 350 Sherman street, Evanston. De La Salle last night defeated its south side rival, St. Rita, 19 to 15 in a semi-final battle, while St. Patrick's earned its place in the final by running over Fenwick of Oak Park, 37 to 18.

Fenwick and St. Rita also will see action again tonight, being scheduled to clash at eight o'clock for third place in the tournament.

Gresik, Riska Lead Winner.

Center Gresik and Forward Riska paced De La Salle to victory, the former connecting for two baskets and four free throws, while Riska slipped in three field goals. St. Rita took a 15 to 13 lead in the last period, but Gresik dropped in a free throw, Riska sank two baskets, and Wanago also added a free throw to overcome the losers' advantage.

St. Patrick's didn't have much opposition in the second semi-final last night, and, led by Center Ted Skrodzski, who scored twelve points on four free throws, coasted to an easy victory.

Rizzo and Walsh also helped pile up the total score by dropping in three field goals each.

Kruger and Ryan Get Going.

Kruger and L. Ryan finally broke through the winners' defense to score three and two baskets, respectively, after St. Patrick's had the game safely stowed away.

Ettore and Smith Clash Christmas in 10 Round Battle

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The boxing industry in most sections of the country will celebrate Christmas week with inactivity. The national program is purely an eastern affair, with Philadelphia and New York offering mediocre attractions. Ten four round bouts featuring little known colored fighters are scheduled for Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The most attractive pairing for the week finds Al Ettore, Philadelphia heavyweight, meeting Ford Smith, Montana, in a ten rounder at Philadelphia Christmas afternoon.

The program:

MONDAY—At New York—Indian Hurtado vs. Mickey Page, lightweights, 8. At Newark, N. J.—Willie Lewis vs. Tony Fisher, middleweights, 10; Aldo Spoldi vs. Frankie Warno, lightweights, 10. At Charlotte, N. C.—Al Massey vs. Salvatore Ruggirello, heavyweights, 10. At Buffalo, N. Y.—Big Boy Brackey vs. Joh

MONTREAL TIES DETROIT, 2-2, ON CONACHER'S GOAL

Scores in Final Minute of Third Period.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 22.—(AP)—A third period goal with 22 seconds left to play by Lionel Conacher, veteran defense man, gave the Montreal Maroons a 2 to 2 tie with the Detroit Red Wings tonight in a National Hockey league game before 9,000.

The tying goal climaxed a furious five man drive and ended when Conacher slapped the puck past Goalie Smith in a wild scramble around the Detroit net.

Barry gave the Wings the lead early in the first period. Hooley Smith tied the game up in the third period on another unassisted effort. Late in the period Bucko McDonald, Wing defense man, scored on Wally Kilrea's pass, and then Conacher sent the game into a fast extra period with his counter.

Lineup:

MONTREAL (2).		DETROIT (2).

RANGERS, 3; BRUINS, 1

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The New York Rangers, paced by the bald patriarch of hocky, Ching Johnson, downed the Boston Bruins, 3-1, in a National league game at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Less than three and a half minutes of the first period had gone by when the burly Johnson, showing amazing agility, skated up the side of the rink, passed to Frank Boucher and then guided Boucher's return into the net for the first goal of the night and his first score of the season.

For the rest of the night Johnson kept up his torrid pace, spilling racing forwards and speeding away with the puck when things looked bad near the Ranger goal.

Lineup:

NEW YORK (3).		BOSTON (1).
Kerr	G.	Thompson
E. Seibert	R.D.	Jenkins
Johnson	L.D.	Shore
Boucher	C.	Weiland

SECOND PERIOD.

Scoring—Dillon (Patrick, Murdoch), 9:38.
Penalties—Brydson, Ayres, Johnson.

THIRD PERIOD.

Penalties—None.

STANFORD SQUAD RECEIVES JACKETS FOR BOWL GAME

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Lether Rose Bowl jackets, bearing the red Indian insignia, were passed out today to Stanford's football squad as the players rested before resuming their hard drill for the New Year's day game at Pasadena against Southern Methodist.

Coach C. E. (Tiny) Thornhill said the squad would turn out tomorrow afternoon for a stiff workout. The thirty-eight jackets were provided by the university board of athletic control as souvenirs of the game.

Monk Moscrip, whose field goal kicking has won three games for Stanford, is recovering from a knee operation and a fractured jaw bone, but Dr. Fritz Roth, team physician, said he might be able to play only one quarter.

Mustangs Taper Off.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Southern Methodist will end its heavy work in preparation for the Rose Bowl meeting with Stanford in a scrimmage tomorrow.

Coach Matty Bell said today he expects after that to taper the squad off for the start of the trip Thursday.

Bell said barring accidents the Mustangs will be in the best physical condition of the year, but their morale was an entirely different matter. He saw distinct symptoms of protruding chests.

ANNOUNCE CARD FOR SOUTH BEND C. Y. O. FIGHTS

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The card for the intercity amateur boxing show between the St. Joseph county Catholic Youth organization and the Chicago C. Y. O. was announced today by the Rev. Vincent Mooney, director of the local C. Y. O.

The bouts will be held Tuesday night, Jan. 7, at the Studebaker Athletic association club rooms. A total of ten bouts will be held. The complete card:

Notre Dame and Purdue Play Tonight

Platt, who, with Stout, Gunning, Fechtman, Walker, and Huffman, gives the Hoosiers six dependable scorers.

Last Saturday night's games produced at least one upset and several surprises. Purdue, previously undefeated, went down to a 41 to 39 defeat at the hands of Butler, which had been beaten by Pittsburgh. Although Capt. Kessler again had a big night, making eight baskets and four free throws, the Boilermakers could not fight off a late Butler rally, which carried the Bulldogs from a 32 to 39 disadvantage to the final score. A basket by Batts in the final seconds decided the game. With time remaining for one play, Sines of Purdue was fouled in the act of shooting and was awarded two free throws. He missed on both chances.

Badgers Rout Marquette.

Wisconsin routed Marquette, its ancient rival, 46 to 21, for the second time in a week. The Badgers had too much class for the Hilltoppers, who this year aren't what they have been. Ed Stege led the Badgers with five baskets and five free throws.

Northwestern built up a big lead on Michigan State, but had to withstand a furious Spartan rally to emerge with a 29 to 25 victory. The Wildcats again changed their lineup, with the newscomers showing to advantage. Chicago's Maroons pulled a 51 to 49 victory away from Armour Tech in the last two minutes.

Iowa Loses Again.

Western State, which had been routed by Purdue, defeated Iowa, 48 to 35. The Hawkeyes have been up and down all year, losing to Millikin and Pittsburgh in other games. Michigan's tall team had some difficulty beating Western Reserve, 28 to 23, although the losers clamped down on the Wolverines' newest stars, Earl and John Townsend, and held them to one basket by John.

Indiana completely outclassed Vanderbilt at Nashville, rolling up a 56 to 18 margin. Platt led the Hoosiers with eight baskets and a free throw, while the other Indiana stand-bys also were connecting from the field. Stout had four baskets, Gunning made five, and Fechtman added four field goals and two free throws.

MILLS WINS FORTY LAP MIDGET AUTO RACING FEATURE

Curly Mills, of California, won the 40 lap midget automobile racing feature event last night, defeating Pat Warren by a lap at the 124th Field Artillery armory before 5,000.

Fourteen cars started with Warren taking the lead. Mills and Willman followed his closely for ten laps, then Mills drew up even terms and Leland Warren raced as a team for 20 laps. Mills finally pulled away to a slight lead. Willman made up ground to finish third.

The coast team of Mills, Warren and Householder won the coast-midwest intersection championship, capturing five of seven one lap heats. Summaries:

FIRST RACE [12 laps]—Won by Pat Warren; Curly Mills, second; Barry McQuinn, third. Time—2:43.

SECOND RACE [12 laps]—Won by Tony Willman; Romney Householder, second; Johnny Baldwin, third. Time—2:45.

THIRD RACE [12 laps]—Won by Jimmy Snyder; Ray Hartsfield, second; Wally Zale, third. Time—2:15.

FOURTH RACE [12 laps]—Won by Ray Richards; Ted Tetterton, second; Carl Peterson, third. Time—2:54.

FIFTH RACE [ten fastest cars, 12 laps]—Won by Pat Warren; Harry McQuinn, second; Tony Willman, third. Time—2:44.

SIXTH RACE [12 laps]—Won by Chuck Niesel; Jimmy Rogers, second; Pete Romcevich, third. Time—2:50.

Canzoneri's Little Brother Enters Syracuse Tourney

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Jasper [Cab] Canzoneri, younger brother of Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight boxing champion, is entered in the Syracuse university novice boxing tournament, competing in the 135 pound class. Jasper has no professional ambitions, however, planning a musical career. He is a freshman, enrolled in the college of fine arts.

Gordon Wins Glen View Trapshoot Tournament

L. S. Gordon won the weekly trapshoot tournament at the Glen View club yesterday afternoon with a score of 99. J. J. Louis and S. N. Roberts tied for second place with 98 each. More than 40 shooters participated in the shoot.

FORT WAYNE WINS.

Olympias Pile Up 3 to 0 Score on Maccabees

The Olympia soccer team yesterday handed the Maccabees a 3 to 0 defeat in a Chicago league game at Kuppenheimer stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue. The Maccabees, however, were handicapped by the absence of several regulars.

Joe Kratochavel had the range of the Maccabees net in the first period, and slammed in two goals. Keberle, who has scored in every game in which he has played this season, connected for the other goal also in the first half. In the second half the Maccabees used only ten men, but managed to threaten the Olympia goal on several occasions.

The work of Schlesenger, at goal for the Maccabees, held down the score, as Olympia kept up a rapid fire offensive throughout the game. Lineups:

MACCABEES.		OLYMPIA.
Schlesenger	G.	A. Krotochavel
Henney	R.B.	Pasejel
Art Waldron	L.B.	Pelez
Von Drasek	R.H.	Krobel
Pearlman	C.H.	Petrik
Campbell	L.H.	Hamous
Penman	O.R.	Janazie
Purden	I.R.	Joe Krotochavel
Al Waldron	C.	Keberle
Cuthburt	I.L.	Wierer
Mulvie	O.L.	Willig

In another important match decided yesterday the Sparta Garden City eleven came from behind to beat the Norwegians, 6 to 1. Stavenman counted for the losers in the first half, but Tomik tied the score near the close of the period. In the second half Vleck, Wolf, Robb, and Kutner, the latter with two goals, made the game a rout.

Ravenswood and the Wilsons battled to a 1 to 1 deadlock, and Moravska beat the Oddfellows, 3 to 1, in the national amateur cup games. The Lawndale Rangers whipped the Rangers, 5 to 0, in the only other game played.

Americans Beat Hawks in Overtime

Cook. This caused Stewart to be locked up in the penalty box and Manager Loughlin promptly sent out Thompson, McFadyen, Romnes, and Morenz.

Morenz launched the tying effort when he got the puck in middle ice and shoved it to McFadyen. McFadyen carried the rubber across, then shot straight at the cage. Thompson came in from McFadyen's left, one of those mile a minute efforts which have been helping him lead the league's scorers this season. He and Goalie Worters went down in a heap in front of the cage, but before they came down Thompson's stick had poked home the tying counter. The time was 10:50 and McFadyen, Romnes, and Morenz were awarded assists.

Dutton Gets Sassy.

Shortly after the Hawks had tied the score Manager Dutton found occasion to sass Referee Dye for sending Stewart off. His language became too peppery even for a hocky rink and he was given a ten minute misconduct penalty.

Cook scored the goal which put the Hawks ahead in 11:25 of the third period on assists by Trudel and La Rochelle. Trudel took the puck in, dropped it for La Rochelle, who passed to Cook for the tabulating shot.

DOCTOR LISTS 5 RULES TO CURB FOOTBALL INJURY

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Serious injuries resulting from football in high school can be reduced to a minimum if five rules are observed, Dr. Arthur F. Fish told the members of the Osteopathic Society today at a meeting.

Dr. Fish, who has been attending physician to the football team of Flushing, New York, High school for the last three years, made the following recommendations:

2—Rigid adherence to the age limits of 16 to 20 for all players.

4—Compulsory wearing of protective material and supports for ankles, wrists and weakened joints and muscles.

5—Limited number of games and severe discipline for those who indulge in unapproved games.

Dr. Fish said football is a character building sport because it teaches boys to take injuries without whining, and because—if properly regulated and with reasonable safeguards—it also is a builder of the human body.

All-Eastern Polo Team to Defend Cup

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—An all-eastern polo squad, headed by Tommy Hitchcock, the world's only ten goal player, will defend the Westchester cup when international competition is renewed against England next summer in London.

Hitchcock will be supported by a youthful quartet of eight goal players—Winston Guest, Elbridge T. [Ebby] Gerry, Michael G. Phipps, and Stewart B. Iglehart—in the first American invasion of Britain for cup competition since the famous international trophy was brought back to the United States in 1921.

The matches are scheduled at the Hurlingham club, London, for June 10, 13, and 20. They will be on a best two out of three basis. The series marks resumption of cup competition between the two countries after a lapse of six years.

To Alternate Matches.

Under the revised arrangements the matches will be held henceforth alternately at Hurlingham and the Meadow Brook club, Long Island, regardless of which nation holds the trophy.

Selection of the American team and details of the forthcoming invasion were announced today by Louis E. Stoddard, chairman of the United States Polo association, and the selection committee.

The make-up of the squad caused little surprise. Stoddard disclosed that William Post II., eight goal player and one of the best backs in polo, had declined an invitation to go abroad for business reasons. No replacement has been made, but Robert E. Strawbridge Jr., who has accepted the rôle of team manager, is a seven goal player with international experience. Thus there will be at least two spares for any emergency.

34 Goal Side.

With either Gerry or Phipps at No. 1, Hitchock probably playing No. 2, Iglehart at No. 3, and Guest at back, the Americans will be represented by a 34 goal side that appears the strongest available. Of the western players who gained prominence in recent years only the big Texan, Cecil Smith, played through the major tournaments last season, and he was cut from nine to eight goals on the official handicap list.

Hitchock's sensational return to ten goal form, considered the outstanding individual development this year in American polo, enhances the prospect that the United States will be well fortified to defend the cup. The 35 year old ace has never been on a losing side in international cup competition. He starred on the victorious American teams of 1921, 1924, 1927, and 1930 against England. Guest played in the 1930 series.

The British, on the basis of their performances in American tournaments last season, will need reënforcements. They likely will recall Gerald Balding, the Irish star, now rated at nine goals and second only to Hitchcock on the American ranking list. Balding played with Hitchcock on the Greentree team that won the United States open championship this year. He competed for England in the 1930 cup series. The Roark brothers, Pat and Aidan, also may be available.

The Americans will have a string of 42 ponies for the matches. Guest and Phipps already have shipped 14 mounts to England. The balance will go over in February, be quartered at Norton, and handled by Col. Austin H. Williams of the British army. The players plan to go abroad in April.

Carnera Arrives Home; Gives Medal to Fascist Cause

NAPLES, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Primo Carnera arrived today on the liner Rex to be greeted by a crowd of fans. He proceeded to Fascist headquarters, presumably to make a donation.

"My mother has given Fascism all the cups and trophies of my sports career," said Carnera. "I also am giving a big gold medal which Italians gave me when I left New York."

Seavall Leads So. California Open with 139

Glendale, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Eric Seavall shot a 68, two strokes under par, to take the lead at the halfway mark in the Southern California $3,000 open golf tournament today.

With his 71 of yesterday, the young resident professional posted a total of 139 strokes for the Oakmont club course. Tied for second were Pat Abbott, stage actor and amateur from Altadena, and Ralph Guldahl, Dallas, Tex., pro, with totals of 140.

Three Tie for Fourth.

Fourth place, with the final 36 holes coming up tomorrow, was held by Harold McSpadden, last year's leading money winner, formerly of Kansas City, Kas.; Levi Lynch of Gladewater, Tex., and Jimmy McHale, San Gabriel, Cal., amateur. They had totals of 141.

Three strokes back of the leaders in a tie for seventh place were five professionals and Lawson Little Jr., British and American amateur champion of the last two years.

66 Qualify to Continue Play.

Forty-five professionals and 21 amateurs qualified to continue in the play tomorrow. Walter Hagen of Detroit was among those who fell by the wayside.

Seavall alone of the large field showed consistent mastery of the par 70 course. He had six birdies for his 68 today and four of them were the result of putts ranging from 15 to 20 feet.

Abbott, after shooting a 68 yesterday, found the course four strokes harder today and took a 72 while Guldahl put together two par rounds of 70.

Riley Smith Only Sure Starter in All-East Lineup

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Football stars who will meet in the annual East-West charity game here New Year's day opened training today on widely separated fields.

The twenty-two eastern players worked out here under Coaches Dick Hanley and Andy Kerr before moving to quarters in Berkeley, where practice will continue until the day of the game.

The hour's session was devoted to running, passing, and kicking with no effort to team organization. Coach Hanley said, however, it had been definitly decided to put Riley Smith, University of Alabama ace, in as starting quarter back.

Smith's all around ability convinced the eastern coaches they already have the nucleus of the starting back field.

The western team, under Coaches Percy Locey and Orin Hollingbery, moved to the Palo Alto training camp this morning. Two brief practices were held and a number of plays being outlined. Dummy blocking was part of the opening program, but no effort was made to pick a starting eleven.

Speed will be the watchword of the western squad, with such swift ball carriers as Bill Wallace of Rice institute, Kayo Lam of Colorado, and Chuck Cheshire of the University of California at Los Angeles behind the line.

Each team will hold two workouts tomorrow.

Michelobs Take Lead in Aurora Bowling Tourney

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The Michelobs of Chicago took first place in the nineteenth annual interstate bowling tournament with 2,932 today. The Chic Extended Metals of Cicero landed second position with 2,922. The tournament will resume next week-end with another battery of strong Chicago fives competing.

PROGRESS MADE IN CONSERVATION OF WILD DUCKS

Darling Report Reveals Many Arrests.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Strange tales of the activities of the government agents assigned to curb wholesale slaughter of ducks and other game came today from the pen of J. N. [Ding] Darling, cartoonist.

As chief of the bureau of biological survey, from which he resigned recently, Darling told in his report for the fiscal year ended last June 30 how one undercover agent and a minister "converted" a community to game law observance.

"Because of known violations on an island in eastern waters," Darling wrote, "an agent performed under cover work with the aid of a special agent from the department of justice. As no stranger could approach the island unobserved except after midnight, the agent made his visit in another rôle."

Large Guns Removed.

"To obtain respect for the federal law," Darling continued, "the agent decided to undertake an educational campaign with the aid of the local minister. He lived with the islanders for several weeks and attended their church. As a result he was able to have removed from the island three large bore guns 8 to 10 feet long and weighing as much as 175 pounds."

Another agent posed as a duck buyer for night clubs in Chicago, and Darling said he bought ducks killed illegally from "44 well known duck bootleggers."

Other agents posed as salmon packers and were served wild duck in "western night clubs and cafés." More than 100 arrests and convictions were obtained.

5 Men Kill 112 Ducks.

In a southern state, two agents saw five hunters shoot simultaneously at ducks and "assisted them in picking up 112 birds, which they then seized."

One of these same agents arrested seven persons for killing plovers. Four of those arrested were officers on a city police force, one was assigned to the city prison farm, and two were "prominent citizens."

"Incidentally," Darling said, "they had been transported to the shooting grounds, 40 miles from town, in police radio cars."

Adams-Millis Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me information on Adams-Millis? I am considering buying some of the stock.—Mrs. A. E.

Answer: Adams-Millis corporation manufactures about 40 per cent of this country's low priced hosiery requirements. About three-fourths of its business is with chain stores and the remainder is with jobbers. Distributional costs, consequently, are low.

The concern was established in 1905. Its plants, in High Point and Kernersville, N. C., have an annual capacity of 5,000,000 dozen pairs of hosiery. About 90 per cent of output consists of cotton or cotton and rayon combination hosiery, the remainder being silk full fashioned products.

Net income in the first half of 1935 fell off to $283,000, or $1.46 per common share, against $367,000, or $1.98 per common share, in the first half of 1934.

In 1934 the company earned $650,000, or $3.41 per common share, against $527,000, or $2.83 per common share, for 1933. Net income in 1929 was $283,000, against $859,000 in 1931.

Current position on June 30, 1935, was strong. Capitalization consists of 15,959 shares of $100 par 7 per cent preferred and 156,000 shares of no par common.

The common pays dividends of 80 cents a quarter, an amount that has been more than earned in every year since 1928 except 1931. The preferred is rather high grade. It is callable at 110. The common is medium grade.

Montana-Dakota Power.

Investors' Guide: Can you give me any information about Montana-Dakota Power 5½s? Your advice in the past has been valuable to me.—M. L. C.

Answer: Montana-Dakota Power company is a subsidiary of Minnesota Northern Power company. It supplies electricity to 91 communities and natural gas to 16 in eastern Montana and western North Dakota. Its bonds matured on Jan. 1, 1934, and the company succeeded in having bondholders extend them for ten years. The extended bonds pay 5½ per cent to Jan. 1, 1939, and 6 per cent from then to maturity.

In 1934 fixed charges were earned 1.23 times, against a bare coverage in 1933. Earnings in previous years are not strictly comparable, because prior to 1933 depreciation charges were not made public. On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $477,000 and current liabilities were $289,000.

The extended bonds are more a speculation than an investment.

RFC RENEWS DRIVE TO CUT RAIL INTEREST

Offers to Lend I. C. $7,444,667.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation renewed its drive for lower interest rates today with an offer to loan the Illinois Central system $7,444,667 at 4 per cent.

L. A. DOWNS.

Last week Chairman Jesse H. Jones informed the Great Northern railway that RFC directors felt that road would be paying "too much" if its proposed $100,000,000 bond issue carried 5 per cent interest.

Although private bankers had offered, to underwrite the Great Northern funding at 5 per cent plus underwriting fees, Jones said the RFC would accept all bonds unsold to the public if the interest rate were made 4 per cent.

Has Borrowed $17,555,333.

The Illinois Central already has borrowed $17,555,333 from the government agency and sought an additional loan to aid in meeting a maturity of $8,000,000 in 6½ per cent secured notes next July 1.

Offering to advance an additional $7,444,667 under designated conditions, Jones said the RFC would "consider making the entire $25,000,000 due July 1, 1941, at an interest rate of 4 per cent."

"Should you be able to arrange private financing on approximately as good a basis," he added in a letter to L. A. Downs, president of the road, "it will be satisfactory to this corporation."

Jones' letter listed additional collateral to be required for the new loan, which, with that already pledged, would bring to more than $50,000,000 the aggregate security for the $25,000,000 in loans.

Ample Cash Balance.

"Your statement that you have ample cash working balances and reserves to meet your interest payments the first part of next year," Jones wrote Downs, "is noted with interest, as also the fact that while you will not quite earn your charges for 1935, your cash will be increased.

"We are also glad to have the information from you that you have reduced your debts, as of Nov. 30, 1935, more than $2,500,000 since 1920, and your annual interest charges approximately $500,000."

Jones' announcement on the Great Northern financing followed repeated assertions by President Roosevelt that he favored lower interest charges.

Steel Demand Indicates Big Orders in '36

Steel consumers already are stepping up demand, seemingly in anticipation of heavier orders in 1936, and this improvement is expected to hold holiday reductions in production to a minimum, says the magazine Steel.

Except for suspension on Christmas and New Year's day, raw steel output and finishing mill capacity will maintain last week's operating rates, which will be a much higher average than in the corresponding weeks of last year, the journal says.

Steel ingot production dipped 2½ points nationally to 52 per cent of capacity last week, but several districts, including Chicago, Buffalo, and New England, experienced contra-seasonal increases in mill activity.

Chicago Production Up.

The Chicago rate advanced 1½ points to 60½ per cent and Buffalo gained 3 points to 50 per cent, while New England improved 1 point to 83 per cent.

Declines included 2 points to 40 per cent at Pittsburgh, 2 to 82 at Cleveland, 1½ to 35½ in eastern Pennsylvania, 6 to 88 at Detroit, and 6 to 56 in Youngstown. The last named district, however, is scheduled to start operations this week at 59 per cent, up 3 points, according to trade observers.

Prepare for 1936 Peak.

"Year-end influences have been tempered to an unusual degree by sustained requirements from manufacturers of automobiles, tractors, farm implements, household equipment, containers, and railroad and structural work," the journal says.

"Another active week in construction resulted in awards of 26,000 tons of shapes and 20,000 tons of reinforcing bars. This outlet is among the most promising for early 1936.

"After experiencing their best market in five years manufacturers of farm equipment are preparing for a new all-time peak in 1936. Their steel specifications show a continuity equal to that of the automobile industry."

Iron Shipments Highest.

Pig iron shipments for December will be the highest of any month this year, the review says. This is not entirely due to speculative purchases, it is said, as there is a corresponding movement in foundry coke. The scrap demand is strong, but heavy melting steel is down 25 cents a ton at Chicago and Pittsburgh.

The magazine's scrap composite dipped 17 cents last week to $13.12 a ton in response to these reductions, and the iron and steel price composite eased 1 cent to $33.31 a ton, but the finished steel index remained at $33.70.

Three Advertising Officials Join Batten, Barton Office

Addition of John Toigo, R. B. Barton, and Edward Scriven to the Chicago staf of the advertising firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn was announced yesterday by A. E. Aveyard, recently appointed vice president in charge of the Chicago office.

The three new men will begin active work on the company's midwestern accounts Dec. 26. All were executives of Lord & Thomas, with whom Aveyard formerly was associated.

WARNS NATION MUST NOT PERMIT RETURN OF TOO MANY BANKS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP) Robert V. Fleming, president of the American Banking association, today declared any return to "over banked" conditions in the United States should be prevented.

In a foreword to a report by the association's economic policy commission on bank chartering policies, prepared under the direction of Chairman Leonard P. Ayres of Cleveland, Fleming said that over production of banks "literally by the thousands, constituted as a whole one of the greatest single economic errors in the history of the nation."

It is the purpose of the banking association, he said, to aid in marshaling public opinion in support of both national and state supervisory authorities to strengthen and protect the banking structure.

"Under prevailing abnormal conditions, with the federal government extensively exercising loaning powers in competition with the banks," the report continued, "and with industry itself so largely supplied with funds as to render it to a great degree independent of normal bank borrowing, the bankink structure, even with its present reduced numbers, finds it difficult to support its existing capital investment and operating personnel."

$350,000 San Antonio Bond Issue Offered Today

A syndicate headed by Lazard, Freres & Co. Inc., will offer today $350,000 San Antonio, Tex. bonds, consisting of a $197,500 3 per cent issue, due 1937-48, at prices to yield 2.85 to 3 per cent, and $152,500 3¼ per cent bonds, due 1949-56, at prices to yield from 3.10 to 3.25 per cent.

Rise in Wheat Planting May Avoid Imports

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The department of agriculture's first appraisal of the winter wheat crop suggests that the United States, after three years of lean production, may discard her rôle as an importer of wheat in 1936.

Acreage sown to winter wheat last fall is placed by the government at 47,529,000, a figure that has been exceeded only in two previous years. In 1928 the area seeded totaled 48,431,000 acres. Ten years earlier, in 1918, when farmers were getting high prices for their grain, some 51,391,000 acres were seeded to winter wheat.

The acreage estimate for the 1936 crop suggests that farmers themselves may have entertained some doubt as to the outcome of the legal test of the AAA in the Supreme court and increased their plantings accordingly.

See Less Support for AAA.

Exact figures on the number of farmers who have signed up for benefit payments under the production restriction program for 1936 are not available. After studying the acreage figures, however, crop statisticians were inclined to believe the number was smaller than a year ago, when farmers planted only 44,536,000 acres to winter wheat.

Government contracts this year called for a smaller reduction from the base acreage than last season but signers were obligated to commit themselves for a four year period. The acreage that the subscribing producers will be allowed to plant for the duration of the contract rests with the AAA administrators.

On the basis of the acreage planted the agricultural department advanced a tentative forecast that production of winter wheat in 1936 would be approximately 530 million bushels.

Crop Higher but Below Average.

While this estimate is below the average crop of about 618 million bushels, it is considerably in excess of the wheat harvests of the last two years, when the country has had to draw on foreign supplies. This year's winter crop was 434 million bushels and the 1934 harvest garnered a total of only 405 million bushels.

The tentative nature of the government's first production estimate can hardly be emphasized too strongly. The harvest will not begin until next June and between now and then the crop is subject to all the unpredictable vagaries of nature. The 530 million bushel figure is arrived at simply by taking the average per acre yield over a period of years and taking into consideration the normal acreage abandonment. Moreover, the outcome of winter crop is only part of the story.

London banks and exchanges will be closed Wednesday and Thursday. Banks and exchanges in the United States will resume business Thursday morning.

3,460 SUITS FILED BY HOLC AGAINST OWNERS OF HOMES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Home Owners Loan corporation reported today that with 32.5 per cent of the principal and interest payments due it unpaid, it has instituted 3,460 foreclosure suits.

An improvement in the proportion of prompt payments for nine successive months, however, was cited by the corporation as reflecting "better general business conditions and further development of loan servicing operations."

The HOLC said that as of Dec. 12, loans totaling $2,908,517,828 had been advanced to 961,401 home owners. Of a total of 1,884,422 applications for loans, 75,193 were reported still pending. This indicated, the corporation said, that its lending operations "are now 96 per cent completed, and that its main task from now on is the collection of money due each month from its borrowers."

More than half of the foreclosure proceedings which the HOLC "had been obliged to institute" up to Nov. 30, it was said, "are represented by 1,877 borrowers who wilfully failed to make their monthly payments which were actually within their means to pay."

FEELING TOWARD N. Y. EXCHANGE SEEN IMPROVED

Hostility toward the New York Stock exchange is disappearing, Charles R. Gay, head of that body, writes in the current issue of the Financial World. Gay, discussing experiences on a recent trip across the country, outlines a new policy for the stock exchange, which, he acknowledges, has not been "as articulate in the past as it might have been in making its functions understood."

"We probably have been too self-sufficient, too proud to plead our own cause, and possibly we have not been frank enough in admitting our mistakes," he writes.

"It is unfortunate that there is public hostility toward New York as a city and Wall street as a financial center, but I believe this accounts for baseless prejudices which many people entertain for the stock exchange. We hope eventually to see our financial district held in affectionate esteem, as is the city of London, for I believe much of the distrust can be removed. Certainly there is bound to be a common recognition of the necessity for the existence of our capital markets."

FUR FARMING MAKES BIG GAIN DURING SLUMP

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Fur farming was shown today to have grown to a $50,000,000 industry in this country during the depression.

A biological survey report to Secretary Wallace said that fox farmers alone harvested 170,000 pelts in 1934-1935, with a total value of approximately $7,000,000.

"No branch of animal production has developed more rapidly during the depression or resulted in greater profits than silver fox farming, and this at a time when some farm commodities scarcely had a market," the report said.

CHRISTMAS RUSH GIVES IMPETUS TO CITY'S TRADE

Chicago's Christmas buying rush continued last week, with retail and mail order houses reaping the biggest harvest, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Wholesalers shared in the upturn as last minute orders for stock replacement exceeded expectations.

The number of temporary jobs provided by the increased activity also was above previous estimates. Postage shipments and railroad trafic bordered on 1929 proportions.

Industrially the city enjoyed a good week.

ROPER REPORTS BUSINESS SKIES MUCH BRIGHTER

Finds Trade Losses Almost Ended.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Roper sounded a cheerful Christmas note tonight with a report to congress that "available evidence" indicates the nation's net business losses were "almost completely eliminated" in 1935.

DANIEL C. ROPER.

His estimate for the current calendar year compared with net business losses of $10,000,000,000 in 1932 and about $2,500,000,000 in 1934, was included in his annual report for the 1935 fiscal year ending last June 30.

The commerce department head called the last fiscal year "the second of sustained recovery from the depression," and added that perhaps its outstanding feature "was the better balanced relationship established in our whole national economy, following the irregular improvements which characterized the preceding year."

Estimating the national income for the 1934 calendar year at $49,440,000,000, an increase of $5,000,000,000, or 11 per cent, over the preceding year, Roper said:

"At the present time sufficient data are available to estimate the current trend of national income with reasonable accuracy. On the basis of this data it is estimated the national income paid out during the first half of the calendar year 1935 was between 5 and 10 per cent higher than the corresponding period of 1934."

Gains Made During Year.

Outstanding "qualitative changes" in the 1935 fiscal year, which the cabinet member said were comparable with its "quantitative gains," were listed as:

1. Further improvement in the agricultural industry.

2. Signs of revival in capital goods industries, notably residential construction.

3. Widespread improvement in consumer purchasing.

4. A better balanced price structure, with farm products and raw materials advancing and prices of finished products remaining approximately unchanged.

5. An improved banking structure capable of meeting all credit demands.

6. A reopening of capital markets to the flow of funds, "although refunding issues have predominated."

7. A strong bond market.

8. Considerable improvement in the real estate field.

Summary of Report.

"To summarize," Roper continued, "the year brought a strengthening of many weak spots in the national economy and laid a basis for further progress toward satisfying the vast accumulation of needs which had been built up during the depression years."

Roper cited increased activities of the patent office, "which for a hundred years has been an accurate reflex of economic and industrial conditions" as "betokening a general improvement in business."

His report named railroads as the sole major industry failing to share in the general upturn. He said the passenger business made some improvement as a result of the efforts made by the carriers to stimulate this business through the use of improved equipment and fare reductions.

Gain by Auto Industry.

At the other end of the scale Roper placed the automobile industry, with production up one-fourth, leading a general rise in consumers' durable goods. In the same class vacuum cleaner sales were up 18 per cent; oil burners for household use 13 per cent, and electric refrigeration sales 5 per cent.

Legislation to permit direct merchant marine subsidies and to codify census laws enacted since 1902 was proposed in the report.

Roper recently disclosed the commerce department was working on a new bill. His recommendation called for "direct aids based on building and operating differentials" to enable the American shipping to meet foreign competition.

The cabinet member also suggested congress remove the present $185,000,000 limitation on the amount of shipping board construction loans and give the department authority to build up this fund to $250,000,000 through revenues from the board's sales and operations.

Nation's Debt Is 50 Billion; Year's Income

The gross public debt of the United States—federal, state, and local—has mounted from 39 billions in 1932 to 50 billions at present, according to a study made public yesterday by the national industrial conference board.

With respect to the federal debt burden, placed at 29½ billions, the study holds that the problem is made serious not primarily by the amount but rather by the continuing uncertainty as to when the rise will be stopped. Major concern also is expressed because the banking system has been and is the principal outlet for the huge government issues and the resultant inflationary tendency.

The nation's total public debt is approximately equal to a year's national income at present levels, the report states, and is equal to one-fifth of the national wealth.

Servicing Charge Heavy.

Servicing the debt requires $2,800,000,000 annually—or more than 20 per cent of all revenue resources of governmental units. For the last two years debt charges of the federal government have been 34 per cent of federal receipts. In 1934 they amounted to 2.3 per cent of national income. Although the British national debt charges averaged 43 per cent of exchequer receipts and 9 per cent of the country's income in the decade ended in 1933, the local government debt is smaller there than in this country, so that the United States' position is less favorable on the basis of total debt.

Banking institutions have absorbed 5 of every 6 dollars of the additions to the federal debt in the United States since June 30, 1930. At the end of last June they held 14½ billions, or 53 per cent, of the interest bearing debt outstanding.

Banks Finance Federal Deficit.

"The principal function of the banking system for some time has been the financing of the federal deficit," the board's report says. "The effect of this development is essentially inflationary, although many operations of the federal government in recent years have been purely financial.

"The purchase of federal obligations causes an expansion of deposits, and the funds thus created, when used, become a part of the flow of purchasing power. Within limits, the resulting tendency toward expansion of purchasing power is not undesirable, and may in fact be actually desirable. The inflationary tendency that is present, however, is just as definitly a species of inflation as through currency issue, only the mechanism involved is fundamentally different; the effect on purchasing power is more or less identical."

WARNS OF CITIES' DEBT.

New York, Dec. 22.—(Special.)—Declaring that the present debt burden of American cities is high enough and that any general increase would mean "gambling with an uncertain future," the municipal service department of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., as a result of a survey of the debts of cities of over 50,000 population, urges stringent control of municipal expenditures.

Included among the suggestions made as a result of the study were: State supervision and control of municipal debt; a locally self-imposed borrowing limit for the next decade or more by borrowing less each year than is paid off on the old debt; tightening of existing legal borrowing limits and requirement of two-thirds popular vote on all bond issues; more careful planning of debt structure; curtailment of financing of public improvements by special assessment bonds, and the balancing of budgets.

HOLIDAY CALM SETTLES OVER STOCK MARKET

Prices Firm; Trading Slows Down.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—For the time being the stock market appears content to dawdle along the holiday rut into which it slumped a week or so ago, with such activity as there is limited to a small professional group and with so-called outside developments cutting little ice in the picture one way or another.

Price averages hardly moved all last week. Daily transactions fell off to about half what they were the week before and averaged less than a third of the totals for the last week in November. The Tribune's index on fifty representative issues closed the short session yesterday at exactly where it was on the preceding week —110.24.

Usual Christmas Letdown.

It was all in the spirit of market tradition, however, and observers generally saw no significance whatever in the letdown of popular interest. The same familiar decrease in activity, it was pointed out, was to be seen, as in other recent Christmas seasons, in other lines of business endeavor, such as for instance in the steel industry and in the freight revenue figures which showed "car loadings" to be running only about 6 per cent above 1934 whereas they had been topping the preceding year's figures by as much as 15 to 17 per cent over a period of several weeks.

Retail trade continued to hold up, mercantile agencies throughout the country reporting the volume of Christmas business to be running ahead of anything since 1929 and to be in some cases near the levels of 1929, but it was realized that this rush was about over and that the dull days of inventory taking are just ahead in that field.

Auto Business Good.

Two really encouraging spots in the picture were the automobile industry, where production is currently reported to be the heaviest for December in history, and the electric power consumption figures, which set a new all-time high record. None of these developments had any visible effect on group price movements, however. Chrysler had one or two "good" days in the week, but the rest of the automobile shares wound up about where they started and the store stocks paid no attention to the rosy reports put out in their behalf.

Silvers continued to give way with the price declines of the white metal on London and other foreign markets. The gold stocks conversely strengthened. The oils did a little better, particularly in the latter part of the week, and airplane issues attracted some buying.

The big question in the speculative mind, of course, is whether the business and industrial recovery movement will carry into next spring or whether it has spent its force for the time being. Congress will get on the job with the close of the holidays and there is speculation as to the probable effect of some of the legislation now seen as likely to pass early in the session.

The new Johnston Murphy
FORWARD-STEP
a new super-flexible shoe that permits the change in inner soles

You get two pairs of innersoles with each pair of shoes. That means you can change your innersoles just like you change your sox. It's hygienic; it gives more comfort; it permits a new, correct, flexible construction—and on top of that you get all the cobbling skill, all the designing genius that have made J&M's peerless in the shoe world—8th floor

BURNHAM'S

EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS to STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.
Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.
